DEATH TAKES WIFE OF THE PRESIDENT

Mrs. Wilson Passes as Family Weeps at Bedside.

SLUMS SEND FLOWERS

Both Houses of Congress Adjourn Sessions in Silence.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president of the United States, died at the White House at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Death came after a brave struggle of months against Bright's disease with complications.

The president was almost unnerved by the shock and his grief was heartrending. He bore up well under the strain, however, and devoted himself to his daughters.

The end came while Mrs. Wilson was unconscious. Her illness took a turn for the worse shortly before 1 o'clock in the afternoon and from then on she grew gradually weaker.

Four Kneel at Bedside.

Kneeling at the bedside at the end were the president and their three daughters. Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., and a nurse were in the room and just outside a door were Secretary McAdoo and Francis B. Sayre, Mr. Wilson's sons-in-law, and Mr. Tumulty, his secretary.

Both houses of congress adjourned when Mrs. Wilson's death was announced and for a brief time the wheels of the government practically stopped, while every one paid respect to the loss of the president.

The beginning of the end came at 10 o'clock this morning when Dr. E. P. Davis of Philadelphia, who had been called in for consultation, realized that the time for hope had passed.

President Is Told.

He took the president into the red room of the White House and there, in a broken voice, told him the truth. Mr. Wilson's face blanched, but he bore the shock well. He was informed the end was only a question of hours.

Mr. Wilson then took his daughters, Mrs. W. G. McAdoo, Mrs. Sayre, and Miss Margaret Wilson aside and told them of their mother's condition. Until then they had thought there was a chance for her recovery.

From that time on the president and his daughters remained constantly at Mrs. Wilson's bedside. The president held his wife's hand and the three daughters were grouped nearby. Until she became unconscious Mrs. Wilson frequently nodded to one or the other and smiled cheerfully. During the day Mrs. Wilson spoke to Dr. Grayson about the president, whose health she thought more about than she did of her own.

Voices Old Devotion.

"Promise me," she whispered, faintly, "that if I go you will take care of my husband—"

It was the same touch of devotion which she had so many times repeated—her constant anxiety having been that the president might not worry about her or be disturbed in his official tasks.

By 1 o'clock Mrs. Wilson began to sink rapidly. She could still recognize those about her, however, and looked cheerfully toward them with the same sweet smile that will linger long in the memory of the many who knew her. It was a characteristic expression of sweetness which officials and their families, as well as people in the slums whom she had befriended, had learned to love.

At 2 o'clock Mrs. Wilson was still conscious, but her strength had almost departed, and a few minutes later she sank into the sleep of unconsciousness from which she never awoke.

Did Not Speak Again.

For three hours, the president and his three daughters gazed longingly into her eyes in the hope that she might speak to them again, but she could not. The sun

THE DAY'S WAR NEWS.

Summarized by HENRY M. HYDE.

Events in the European war up to 3 o'clock this morning (Chicago time) are summarized in this column.

Reports which filter in over a cable and telegraph service which is already more than half paralyzed make clear the desperate character of the war.

The British house of commons voted a second war credit of $500,000,000 and authorized Lord Kitchener to enroll 500,000 more soldiers.

Kaiser Wilhelm countered by issuing an order to the army and navy in which he calls upon all Germans capable of bearing arms to rally to the defense of the empire.

Austria-Hungary formally declared war on Russia.

Discounting wild rumors and unconfirmed reports, the developments of the day emphasize the world-wide scope of the naval war.

The North sea is filled with fighting and fleeing English, German, and French vessels.

The great fleets of Germany and England are reported to be engaged in a battle on the high seas off the coast of Holland.

The British cruiser Amphion has been sunk by a mine off the German coast with a loss of 130 sailors.

As the result of minor engagements between destroyers and scout ships thirty wounded sailors have been taken into Harwich on the east coast of England.

The English port of Hull has been ordered to prepare for the reception of 200 wounded and captured, both English and Germans.

From London comes the story that since war began the British fleets have captured seventy-five German merchantmen, with cargoes valued at $75,000,000.

The great liners Mauretania and Cedric, bound for New York and bringing 2,600 American passengers from Europe, have fled for safety from German warships into the harbor of Halifax, Nova Scotia, under convoy of the British cruiser Essex.

From Madrid comes an unconfirmed report that a British squadron has sunk one German cruiser and captured another off the Canary isles.

Half a dozen ports in various parts of the world send rumors of other naval engagements. Many of them are doubtless nothing but rumors.

A German fleet is reported as attacking the Russian fortress of Sveaborg at the eastern end of the Gulf of Finland, one of the chief defenses of the czar's capital.

On land the battle for the possession of the Belgian city of Liege, which bars the road to Paris, continues. Reports from Belgian sources are that the Germans were beaten back earlier in the day in a second attack, but that later the German artillery fire forced the Belgians to abandon two of the outer ring of forts defending the city.

There was no report from the French army, yesterday supposed to be within thirty-five miles of Liege.

Aeroplanes and dirigible balloons were brought into use by both sides, but so far as the reports go most of them were destroyed by shots fired from the ground.

The Bank of England reduced its discount rate from 10 to 6 per cent. London policemen visited the Deutsche bank and took possession of its stock of gold. Great Britain issued a proclamation defining what it would consider contraband of war.

The United States senate will pass today the bill admitting foreign built ships to American registry. A large number of ocean liners may at once take advantage of the law and henceforth sail under the United States flag.

The cable connecting Russia and England was cut by German warships.

A few cables were received from Berlin and one from Vienna. An effort is being made to communicate with Germany by means of the powerful wireless stations, owned by German companies, on Long Island. If successful a summary of the war developments from the German standpoint will be sent daily to the United States.

One of the Berlin cables stated that three divisions of Russian cavalry, which had crossed the German frontier, have been defeated and driven off by the German forces.

American ambassadors and consuls in all the hostile countries took charge of the German inter[illegible]

EDICT OF WAR STIRS LONDON AS WATERLOO

James O'Donnell Bennett Depicts Scenes of Tuesday Night.

SIX DELIRIOUS HOURS

By Cable from The Tribune's London Correspondent, James O'Donnell Bennett.

[Copyright: 1914: By The Tribune Company.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—I have been forced to hold back this dispatch for many hours because of the war demands on the cables. I aim here to tell the scenic story of the most thrilling night in London's history since the news of Waterloo—the story of that prodigious night of last Tuesday when the capital of Christendom was delirious with excitement for six nerve racking hours.

It is sunset on Tuesday. The evening air is soft; the streets, the palaces, the squares are tremulous with expectation. On every lip are the words: "It will be war at midnight." There is an unearthly sense of portent everywhere, in every heart, as night closes in.

SOLDIERS HURRY IN STREET.

Across every street soldiers in khaki are passing swiftly. Sometimes they are cheered, but they remain impassive, responding occasionally with salutes.

The squares begin to fill. The half mile of the Mall from Trafalgar square to Buckingham palace is packed with people moving slowly back and forth—some to the palace, some to Trafalgar. Lights are flashing in the windows where no Londoner is accustomed to seeing lights. It seems as if nobody had gone home.

At the close of business the air grows heavy with surges of cheering; then song hawkers appear with little wooden balls stuck full of tiny English flags like a pincushion. They cry "The winning colors!" and "Show your colors!" Their sales are brisk.

SMALL BOYS MARCH.

Small boys are passing in orderly marches and making a din with tin pans which serve them for drums. One of them is playing "Rule Britannia" on a penny whistle, while the rest sing "Britons Never, Never Shall Be Slaves" over and over again. The last and littlest boy gravely salutes a woman bystander who is waving a flag over his head. The throngs part good-naturedly to make way for these children.

In another hour it will not be easy to make way even for a child. For every bus is depositing fresh additions to the multitude. They come in thousands. It is a maelstrom of humanity, now in Trafalgar square and along the Mall and before the palace.

They surge in, filling one square after another and every inch of promenade, and all the time a whirlwind of confused, vehement unceasing song. Now "God Save the King." Now "Rule Britannia." Now the "Marseillaise." Now all three together. "Britannia Rules the Waves" mingled with "March On, March On, Citizens."

BANK NELSON COLUMN.

The plinth of the Nelson column in Trafalgar square is banked high with humanity. It is as if the column sprang from a living mass and was sustained by that mass.

As the hours wear on other hawkers appear with flags—not tiny pincushion flags now, but flags in great armfuls—flags, flags, flags. Everywhere they blossom on the flaming night like conjurors' flowers.

The word runs round that the royal family appeared on the balcony of the north wing of Buckingham palace at 7:30 in response to cheering. That statement draws thousands down the Mall toward

AUTO GUNMEN KILL TWO; POLICEMAN AND L AGENT

Three armed automobile robbers sped about on the west side last night holding up ticket agents in the elevated stations.

After robbing three stations on the Garfield Park branch of the Metropolitan West Side elevated road, the men drove up to the Robey street station of the Oak Park elevated at West Lake and North Robey streets. The agent resisted. He was shot dead in his tracks.

During a revolver battle with the police, a policeman was killed, one of the robbers was seriously wounded, and a bystander was shot through the hand.

These Were Slain.

The dead:

Policeman John Rowe, 35 years old, of 4043 Park avenue.

J. H. Stevens, 65 years old, of 1900 West Huron street, ticket agent for the Oak Park elevated.

The injured:

Michael Geary of 1240 Washington boulevard, one of the robbers; taken to bridewell hospital with three bullet wounds in body.

W. H. Graff of 149 North Robey street, shot through the right hand.

Gustave Mentzel, 1538 North Oakley avenue, shot in the right leg. He is the ticket agent at the Kedzie avenue station of the Metropolitan elevated.

Second Robber Taken.

Arthur McNally of 1351 West Adams street, another of the robber trio, was captured when he fell over the body of his wounded companion. The third robber and the chauffeur of the car in which they rode escaped.

The highwaymen made their first appearance shortly after 10 o'clock at the St. Louis avenue station of the Garfield park branch of the Metropolitan road. They entered the station, pointed revolvers at Howard Mortimer, the agent, and ordered him to hold up his hands. Watermere complied and they grabbed up $9 and fled.

They leaped into the machine and drove to the Kedzie avenue station, leaving the car around on Flournoy street. They rushed through the swinging doors just as an eastbound train was stopping on the tracks above. Mentzel, the station agent, ran from behind his cage as soon as he saw them enter and ran up the stairs to the platform overhead, shouting "Help!"

Gets Bullet in Leg.

One of the trio sent a bullet crashing through the glass door and the missle struck in the fleshy part of Mentzel's leg. John Hagerty, who lives at the Sears, Roebuck & Co. Y. M. C. A., was the first passenger of those who had disembarked from the train to reach the lower floor. He met Mentzel running up the stair and the bullet which struck the agent whizzed within a few inches of his head.

Hagerty ran back up to the platform, as did the other passengers, and they saw the three men run from under the elevated structure toward Flournoy street. Mentzel limped back to the station and found that the men had taken $10. He tried to telephone, but something was wrong with the phone.

The men then visited the Sacramento avenue station and held up the agent

GERMAN ROUT DENIED

BULLETIN.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 7, 5 a. m.—It is reported here that Holland has declared war against Germany.

The correspondent interviewed a brother of Prime Minister Kuypers of the Netherlands today. He said:

"We Dutch are peaceful, but the Germans have violated the law of nations and every Dutchman is ready to make a desperate resistance."

BRUSSELS, Aug. 7, 5 a. m., via Paris—After having suffered a serious check and heavy casualties at the hands of the Belgians at Liege Wednesday, the German troops yesterday returned to the fray with redoubled ardor and early this morning were pounding away at the forts with siege and field guns and rifles.

In the fighting of Wednesday the estimates of the German casualties run as high as 8,000 men. The invaders are said to have lost a large number of guns.

Germans Killed by Belgian Mines.

In one attack a German infantry division supported by cavalry marched onto mined ground.

The Belgians thereupon detonated the mines and an entire battalion of Germans was killed.

Wounded Germans to the number of 1,200 were picked up on the battlefield.

It is estimated that in the fighting 40,000 Germans were faced by 25,000 Belgians.

Belch Shot and Shell Into German Foe.

In the attack on Fort Parchon, northeast of the city, the Belgians permitted the Germans to draw almost to the walls of the fortress. Then they turned loose their guns and the slaughter is reported to have been appalling.

Under the terrific fire here and from the other forts the Germans were forced to retire all along the line.

A detachment of Uhlans penetrated the city Wednesday night with the intention, it is said, of capturing high officials. They had actually reached the building where the officials had quarters when they were surprised and all of them killed.

Germans Capture Two Fortresses.

The shells of the Germans today breached the walls of two of the fortresses, which were captured.

From the other forts, however, the Belgians continued to pour a deadly rain of shot and shell into

BIG GUNS ROAR OFF HOLLAND; BATTLE IS ON

London Report Says English Ships Are Driving Foes Away.

CARE FOR WOUNDED

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.

LONDON, Aug. 7, 5 a. m.—The British cruiser Amphion was sunk yesterday in the North sea by striking a submerged mine.

Paymaster J. T. Gedge and 130 men were lost.

The captain, sixteen officers, and 135 of the crew were saved.

The Amphion, it is believed, struck one of the mines sunk by the Koenigin Luise before it was sent to the bottom by four shots from the British torpedo boat Lance. The Amphion was near the Lance when it attacked the German ship.

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, Aug. 7, 5 a. m.—The British and German fleets in the North sea off Holland are battling for supremacy.

The British warships are reported to be driving the Germans toward the Dutch coast.

Saw British Ships Chase Germans.

A trawler reports having seen British warships chasing and firing on German torpedo boats off the Suffolk coast.

A local press association asserts it was advised of the fight between the fleets by the Admiralty. The Admiralty, however, refuses to confirm or deny that a battle is in progress.

That there is a naval battle in progress is evidenced by the fact that the hospital authorities at Hull received orders to prepare to receive 250 men wounded in the engagement.

Verifies Report of Naval Battle.

The London Chronicle's correspondent at Harwich has telegraphed his paper that an action of magnitude is progressing in the North sea.

A ship owner at Whitby announced he has been informed that a great battle has been fought and nineteen German warships sunk. The people of Hull, Grimsby, and Harwich are convinced of the truth of this reported battle and have been straining their eyes seaward but have seen nothing.

There is great excitement along the east coast. Kirkwall reports tell of prolonged firing to the eastward. The Orkneys and Kirkcaldy make similar reports and say that the firing appears to be off the Firth of Forth. Official confirmation of these reports, however, is entirely lacking.

Prepare to Care for Wounded.

A wireless message received by the British destroyer Virago orders it to prepare to receive 200 prisoners and wounded who are being brought in by a torpedo boat.

Twenty-two German and six English wounded have been taken ashore at Harwich and removed to the naval establishment at Shotley.

Shipping firms have been informed that the east coast is now clear from Hull to London. Coastwise services have been resumed and fishing vessels are free to proceed to Iceland.

ACTIVITIES ON THE SEA.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Reports of the activities at sea of the nations at war are being received here.

A dispatch to the London Daily Mail from Tien-Tsin says that the Russian cruiser Askold and the German cruiser Emden have been sunk after an engagement off Weihaiwei, China.

The Emden was a protected cruiser of 3,592 tons. It carried ten 4.1 inch guns and was fitted with two torpedo tubes.

The displacement of the Askold was 5,905 tons. Its armament consisted of twelve 6 inch guns, twelve 3 inch guns, and eight 3 pounders. After the battle of the Yellow sea, in the Russo-Japanese war, it was interned at Shanghai.

TAKE TWO GERMAN SHIPS.

The Hamburg-American line steamers Kronprinzessin Cecilie and Prinz Adalbert, lying at the seaport of Falmouth, have been seized by the British government. The British cruiser Diana brought the German schooner Else, from Rio Grande, into Falmouth.

A dispatch to the Times from St. Petersburg says that ten German steamers with coal and timber were seized at Archangel.

A German trawler was captured by a British warship near the Orkney islands, to the north of Scotland. It is believed to have been engaged in spying, as carrier pigeons were found on board.

GERMAN LINER CAUGHT.

British torpedo boat destroyers captured a German Levant liner and convoyed it into port at Malta.

The Allan line Mongolian, which arrived at Liverpool today, was struck by a gunshot at the entrance to the river Mersey. The shell went through its bows.

A French mine ship, according to a Paris dispatch, today captured and towed into Cherbourg a 5,000 ton German steamer.

A dispatch from the Canary islands says a British squadron has sunk one German cruiser, the name of which is not given, and has captured another, which is being convoyed to Gibraltar.

GERMAN CRUISERS SAFE.

The Tribuna of Rome publishes a report that the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, which were reported captured by the French, have arrived at San Salvatore, near Messina, Sicily.

One of the German officers said that while the Breslau was shelling the French naval station at Bona, Algeria, sinking ships in the harbor, and destroying the castle and some houses, the Goeben bombarded Philippeville, further along the coast. He added that the two cruisers were subsequently pursued by a British squadron.

WORK OF DESTROYER LANCE.

The British torpedo boat destroyer Lance was the hero of the first naval engagement in the present war. It was the Lance, not the Amphion, that sunk the Hamburg-American line steamer Koenigin Luise, which had been fitted out as a mine layer.

The Lance fired only four shots. The first destroyed the bridge of the steamer, the third and fourth tore away the stern, and the Koenigin Luise sank in six minutes.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 6.—Roused to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the parading of troops and warlike speeches of street orators, a mob, composed principally of young men, tonight stoned the German and Austrian consulates and the German club here, shattering windows and doing considerable damage to interior furnishings. Police were called out and a guard placed about the Austrian consulate, but the German consulate and German club were closed indefinitely late tonight.

Crowds of Nationalists and Unionists Join in Demonstration for Departing Reservists.

DUBLIN, Aug. 6, 11:50 p. m.—There was a great demonstration here tonight over the British regiments which were entraining for active service. A great number of Unionist Protestants are joining the Nationalist volunteers for the defense of the country.

NAVY TO FORCE OBSERVANCE OF U. S. NEUTRALITY

Warships Ordered to Prevent Improper Use of American Seaports.

COAST TO BE GUARDED

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6. [Special].—Vessels of the navy will be utilized by the government for the purpose of insuring the fullest observance by all persons of the neutrality of the United States.

The dreadnought Florida has been stationed at Tompkinsville, L. I., and will cover all cases arising in the vicinity of the port of New York. The president's yacht, Mayflower, has been assigned to watch vessels emerging from the Virginia capes, while a flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers is to operate off Lewes, Del.

Another flotilla will probably patrol off the southern New England coast. In addition all revenue cutters in commission will act as patrol boats.

The purpose of these patrols is to hold up any vessel which may elude the port authorities and leave American ports in an improper manner.

Will Watch Foreign Ships.

All vessels found leaving United States waters without proper clearance papers will be seized and sent back whence they came under arrest. It is not the intention of the treasury and navy authorities that the patrol boats shall stop every vessel encountered on the high seas, but only those vessels of whose purposes there is reason for entertaining suspicion.

What is feared is that in obscure corners of the coast attempts may be made to fit out merchantmen as ships of war to engage in destroying the high seas commerce of one or other of the belligerents.

Contrary to the common belief, these patrol boats will not be used to stop the shipment of contraband of war. The United States government has no concern with the shipment of contraband, that being a matter of interest only to the belligerents and the shipper.

War Moves Only Prohibited.

The federal government is interested only in the fitting out of ships to act as vessels of war, and not in the character of shipments which may be made on vessels devoted purely to a carrying capacity.

The state department is now being deluged with inquiries from exporters, importers, shippers, and steamship companies as to what they ought to do in given cases involving goods at sea during the present hostilities. The department is not assuming any responsibility in these cases, but is merely advising inquirers where they may find the provisions of the rules of war and international agreements covering contraband, rights and duties of neutrals, and the like.

Use of Wireless Defined.

Regulations which will govern the wireless situation for the present were issued at the navy headquarters today as follows:

No cipher or code messages are permitted to be transmitted to or received from radio ship or shore stations of belligerent nations by any government or commercial radio station situated in the United States or its possessions, or in territory under the jurisdiction of the United States, except cipher to or from United States officials.

No cipher or code radio messages will be permitted to be sent from any radio station in the United States vis foreign radio stations if destined to a belligerent.

Radio messages containing information relating to operations, material, or personnel, of armed forces of any belligerent nation will be considered as unneutral in character and will not be handled by radio stations under the jurisdiction of the United States.

These instructions are so worded that the censorship applies to every station within the jurisdiction of the United States, which includes all stations in the Philippines, in Hawaii, and even in Vera Cruz, Mexico.

CHINA VOICES NEUTRALITY; FOREIGN BANKS FACE RUN.

The work of fortifying the German possession of Tsing-Tau continued today and the authorities there added to their accumulation of provisions.

Foreign enterprise in China being paralyzed, many Chinese have been affected already and are withdrawing their money from the banks controlled by financiers representing Russia, France, England, Germany and Japan, which hitherto had commanded every confidence.

Military Supplies 'Absolute'; Food, Money, 'Conditionally' Liable.

CABLES LIST TO U. S.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Great Britain's contraband of war proclamation was cabled to the state department today by Ambassador Page. It placed arms, ammunition, and all distinctly military supplies on the list of "absolute" contraband, and designated food, grain, money, horses, and general supplies as "conditional" contraband.

Everything under the latter head becomes subject to seizure and to the contraband laws when intended for the use of a power with which Great Britain is at war.

Articles Which Are Contraband.

1. Arms of all kinds, including arms for sporting purposes, and their distinctive component parts.
2. Projectiles, charges and cartridges of all kinds and their distinctive component parts.
3. Powder and explosives specially prepared for use in war.

11. Aeroplanes, airships, balloons, and air craft of all kinds and their component parts, together with accessories and articles recognizable for use in connection with balloons and aircraft.
12. Implements and apparatus designed exclusively for the manufacture of munitions of war, for the manufacture or repair of arms, or war material for use on land and sea.

Those Conditionally Contraband.

The following will be treated as conditional contraband of war:

1. Foodstuffs.
2. Forage and grain suitable for feeding animals.
3. Clothing, fabrics for clothing, and boots and shoes suitable for use in war.

TWO ENVOYS QUIT BERLIN.

British Ambassador and Belgian Minister Leave German Capital —Kaiser Expresses Regrets.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—The British ambassador and the Belgian minister left at noon today in a saloon dining car. A high official of the foreign office accompanied them to the station to see them off and the kaiser sent an aid to convey his regrets at the excesses committed against the embassy and legation.

Kaiser Calls Upon All Germans Who Are Capable of Bearing Arms

"Must Defend Our Most Sacred Possessions in Fatherland and Home."

BERLIN, via London, Aug. 6, 8:30 p. m.—The emperor has issued an order to the German army and navy, in which he says:

> "After forty-three years of peace, I call upon all Germans capable of bearing arms. We have to defend our most sacred possessions in fatherland and home against the reckless assault of enemies on all sides of us.
>
> "That means hard fighting. I am confident that the ancient warlike spirit still lives in the German people—that powerful, warlike spirit which attacks the enemy wherever it finds him, regardless of cost, and which in the past has been the dread and terror of our enemies.
>
> "I have confidence in you, German soldiers—in each and all of you. An ardent, indomitable will for victory is living in each and all of you. I know, if needed, each and all of you would die like heroes.
>
> "Remember our great and glorious past and that you are Germans. God bless you!

REFUGEES LEFT HUNGER CRAZED

Thousands of Russians Unable to Get Away from German Isle.

RICH FAMILY STARVES.

LONDON, Aug. 7, 5 a. m.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, who has reached Stockholm, sends the following dispatch:

"The scene witnessed at Sassnitz, a famous watering place on the east coast of the German island of Rugen, in the Baltic Sea, almost baffled description. Some 5,000 Russian refugees turned out on the quay were left to struggle for access to a steamer which was reached by only a single gangway.

Leaves 3,000 in Despair.

"The vessel was obliged to sail, leaving 3,000 of them in despair, believing that the last chance to return to their country had gone.

"One family had a letter of credit for $10,000, but were on the verge of starvation. Some of the refugees were half mad with hunger, thirst and lack of sleep."

Hears Harrowing Stories.

The correspondent says harrowing stories have been told by refugees who are arriving at Stockholm by the thousands. Many of them were moved about by train for four or five days without any idea as to what was being done for them.

Packed Like Poultry.

"They were like poultry in crates," the correspondent adds, "without food or drink and almost without air for fifteen hours at a time. During the nights when they were in the train they were turned into cow sheds at slaughter houses.

"Everywhere they were subjected to a continuous fire of insults from the troops, especially the officers. Women of delicate breeding were openly threatened with violence, and all before the declaration of war.

Russ Official Persecuted.

"Among the victims was M. Kasso, former Russian minister of education. Twice he was placed under arrest in spite of the knowledge of his identity and packed into a fourth class carriage.

"Councilor of State Schreiber and his wife were assaulted by officers to whom they ventured to complain. Wives were separated from husbands and parents from their children; no consideration was shown either for age, sex, or infirmity. Many persons are now in ignorance of the whereabouts of those dearest to them."

RICH AMERICANS AID.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Today, it is believed, saw the end of acute distress for American tourists in England. All steamship companies now are accepting letters of credit and checks in payment for transportation.

The American committee has relieved the most urgent cases of Americans in need, while numerous wealthy Americans, among them Samuel Untermyer of New York, have gone into their own pockets and purchased steamship tickets for compatriots without funds.

Theodore Hetzler of New York made arrangements with a New York bank by cable today and drew $300,000 here to tide over Americans pending the arrival of the cruiser Tennessee, which is bringing gold.

Help Refugees on Continent.

The American committee is now turning its attention to aiding Americans without money to come to London from the continent. The transportation committee is arranging with the British government to permit Holland-America line steamers to call at Liverpool for passengers.

Italian Liner Bringing Americans.

MILAN, Italy, Aug. 6.—An Italian liner leaving Genoa today for New York is crowded to its capacity. Many Americans here are waiting the opportunity to find means of transportation to New York. In the meantime they are unable to cash their letters of credit.

Danish Liner Bringing 1,200.

COPENHAGEN, via London, Aug. 6.—Twelve hundred American tourists who found it impossible to reach home by way of Hamburg sailed from here today on the Danish-American liner United States direct for New York.

Wild Paris Rumor; Kaiser Shot 100.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The New York office of La Prensa, the Buenos Aires paper, received the following tonight via Paris:

"Berlin, Aug. 6.—By order of the emperor 100 Socialist deputies have been shot in Berlin, among them the Socialist leader, Herr Liebknecht."

The report is considered baseless, an emanation of the wild war spirit in Paris.

ONE LINGERING DELIRIUM

the palace. Arrived there, they add acres more to the throng already assembled before the palace gates.

The composition of the picture is tremendous, for it comprehends the white facade all ablaze with lights, the scarlet sentries, the seething, singing thousands, fluttering flags, and Victoria in marble looking down on the scene, with winged Victories all around her. The pillars of the palace gates rear lamps like torches and the set of gold gates on the left is itself like a lamp.

CHEERS GREET FLAGS.

Every time flags are lifted high there are cheers, and when the cheering dies away the throng joins in "God Save the King." The lamps inside the courtyard give a greenish white light and make the palace seem a dream fabric. The lights outside are of a rich orange tint. The combination produces a strange, mystical effect and somehow turns the white marble of the Victoria memorial to a delicate purple hue.

While the crowd is singing, the glass doors of a window in the second story of the north wing slowly open. An instant later a woman is standing on the balcony. She is all in white. You catch the glitter of gems around her neck as she turns to the right.

HUSH FALLS ON THRONG.

The singing ceases. In another instant a man in evening dress is standing at the woman's right hand. At her left is a slender boy. The man and the boy wear large boutonnieres. The mighty columns of the window enframe the royal family. Behind this group attendants are faintly discerned. A sound of cheering greets the king and queen and the Prince of Wales.

The throng, already tremulous with emotion from these pregnant hours of waiting, surrenders to a rush of feeling and for a second wants to cry, but its greeting swiftly takes on the volume and depth of cheers. Then the sound swings into the national anthem, then back to cheering, then into the anthem again. The song dies away and the flashlights begin to boom.

WAVE TO THE CROWDS.

The king, queen, and prince wave their hands to the crowd many times. The king does that first and it starts renewed cheering. Slowly the royal party begins to withdraw from the balcony into the palace. The queen goes first, then the king, then the prince, who is waving his hand till lost to view. An attendant appears, raises his hands, and locks the window.

Throughout these five minutes hundreds of men and women outside the palace gates have been lifting up their children to see the royal party. In some sense this has been a family affair, and you wonder whether its effect on the morale of the people on this crucial night has not been considerable. You feel it must have been.

It is the second time the sovereigns and the prince have come forth during the night. The first time Princess Mary was with them.

HOUR GROWS LATE.

It is nearly 10 now and the multitude agrees that the Princess has been sent to bed. The king and queen and the prince will appear again at 11.

On the way back to Trafalgar square a young man, leading 200 marchers, advances to the automobile I occupy and says: "Sorry, sir, but I can't let you go by until you take your hat off."

He is very polite and points to a placard borne aloft by the marchers which reads:

"Down with the Germans!"

I am out for work and not for a row, so I lift my hat and am cheered as a reward. The young man says "Thank you," and orders the marchers to proceed.

GOOD NATURE SUPERB.

I have only intimated the superb good nature of the entire throng. It is not like a Paris crowd of demonstrators who think they have done something momentous when they have wrecked chairs and tables in front of a boulevard café. This London crowd is amazingly orderly. There is no rushing and no profanity. I did not see one fight, yet it is a multitude that but for its good nature would be both terrible and terrifying.

Beyond occasional groans for Germany one observes not a hint of an ugly spirit. The German emperor's name is on thousands of lips, but every discussion of his purposes appears to end with the words:

"The chap is mad; quite mad."

When one man, caught in the movement of the crowd, bumps into another he says "I'm sorry," and the man addressed grins and replies: "Right, O."

FEW DRUNKEN MEN.

There are very few drunken men despite the nervous tension of a day during which no Londoner could apply himself to anything. This is not the scandal of Mafeking night over again, but the enthusiasm is enormous. Men are cheering incessantly and women are cheering when they are not crying.

The French tricolor begins to appear along with the Union Jack, and that sight sets some French women crying, but they are happy tears. The men cheer the tricolor madly. Equally rousing are the cheers for the Irish flag.

POLICE HORSES "WALTZ."

The crowd grows denser and the horses of the mounted police move daintily through it like waltzers. Every five minutes the red and black bulk of royal mail vans lumbers through in the wake of the waltzing police horses. The vans are cheered. The drivers grin sublimely.

The whole world seems passing by in this Trafalgar square, that is the center of the world. In ten minutes I see soldiers in khaki, sailors in blue, a Hindu woman in white crêpe from head to foot, three Roman priests, an Anglican bishop in apron and gaiters, four black men and scores of Americans, whose keen eyes are snapping with excitement though it is nearing midnight.

Here are mothers with babies in their arms; taxis are packed inside and have three to five cheering, flag waving men on the roof. A woman wearing a long cloak of dark red takes her stand against the gray stone pedestal of the old equestrian statue of Charles I. The red cloak makes an ominous splotch of color beneath the bronze king. It is like blood gone stale.

"IT'S A WILD NIGHT!"

I leave the automobile for a while and enter a penny bus. The busman tells me it's a wild night and gives an account of a passenger who insisted on cheering inside the bus.

"He was a noisy party," says the busman, who adds: 'Here, here,' I says to the party, 'there's other people in this here bus as may have weak ear drums.'

"'Don't be haughty with me, busman,' says the party. 'I'm only showing my patriotism.'

"'I'll tell you how you can show your patriotism,' I replies. 'You can go and enlist.'"

A reservist who has been called to the colors enters the bus and becomes confidential. "I don't know what my missus will say," he remarks, adding: "I'll dare say there'll be a bit of a fuss when I get home." But he is cheerful in a quiet way.

Another passenger expresses himself on the Germans, saying: "They've been a sanguinary nuisance long enough and we shall have to put them at the bottom of the ladder."

CHEERS ROAR OUTSIDE.

All these chats are carried on amid roars of cheers from outside. As the bus goes chugging through the crowds I find myself back in Trafalgar square. It is close upon the hour when Germany's reply to England's ultimatum may be expected.

Eager glances are directed down Whitehall, off which is Downing street. The crowd in Whitehall is shut out of Downing street by the police, but the words "No. 10 Downing street" are on thousands of lips, for in the rooms of the prime minister's house there the fate of kingdoms is trembling.

It is very silent around that house. Behind the high uncurtained windows nobody is seen passing. The silence, the empty windows, the sense that the wheels of destiny are turning within make No. 10 seem tonight like a house in one of Maeterlinck's plays.

GERMAN ENVOY ENTERS.

The word goes round that the German ambassador lately passed within the doors of No. 10 for a final conference and a London reporter, who observed him narrowly at the instant, whispers to me, "Prince Lichnowsky looked a broken man."

Word comes that roughs have smashed the windows of the German embassy. There are no cheers for these tidings. Some shrug their shoulders and mutter the word "Hooligans." In a few minutes the report is that nothing of the kind has happened.

Trafalgar square is now an unbroken expanse of wild, red faces, and the hour has come when it takes nothing to drive the multitude frantic with delight. Each moment brings a new enthusiasm.

CROWD CHEERS DOG.

Once it is the spectacle of a huge Irish wolfhound, riding by on the back seat of its master's automobile. The crowd cheers the dog and the dog valiantly barks a reply. A sailor in uniform passes in a gentleman's automobile. The sailor is sitting in lonely grandeur on the back seat and the gentleman is driving the car. The sailor is frantically cheered. . man lifts high a placard inscribed with the question: "Are we down hearted?" and under the question is painted a big black "No."

This spectacular interlocutor is borne forward on the shoulders of cheering men.

WAR "EXTRAS" APPEAR.

Hundreds of newsmen are crying war extras and some of the flaring "Contents Bills" they carry bear in black letters the words: "Historic scenes at the palace."

Already the multitude is reading the history which it still is watching in the making. There is a curious haze in the air as you lok up the Mall. It is not fog, for the sky is very clear. It is dust scuffed up by the feet of these trampling thousands. Field guns and ammunition wagons come clanking by. The drivers of them are grinning as placidly as the drivers of the royal mail vans grinned.

MAD THRONG CHEERS.

A hurricane of cheers envelops them. It is a population gone delirious, but the serene moon is swinging high above. Does the thought of that give no man pause? No, but something does. Big Ben is hammering out the supreme hour. It is midnight and from group to group runs the word that news has been received at the mansion house of the declaration of war. Men repeat the statement quietly. Some almost whisper it. There is more awe than exultation in all voices. The thunder of the last stroke of Big Ben falls upon the ear. It is the sounding of the tocsin and seven nations are at war.

DENIES REPORT OF SINKING OF TWO GERMAN CRUISERS.

Captain of Uranium Says He Did Not Tell Consul British Warships Had Won Victory.

New York, Aug. 6.—Through the British consul declines to discuss it, a report gained wide circulation today that Capt. Agassiz of the British steamship Uranium, arriving here today, had reported at the consulate that wireless messages intercepted by his ship from the Cunarder Lusitania had stated that two German cruisers, chasing the Lusitania, had been pursued and sunk by British warships.

Capt. Agassiz said he had made no such statement, and in this he was borne out by officials of the Uranium line.

It is known, however, that the Lusitania has been dodging German war vessels while racing for England.

GERMAN SHIPS CHASE 2 LINERS INTO HALIFAX

Mauretania and Cedric with 2,600 Passengers Safe After Race.

BRITISH CRUISER CONVOY

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 6.—Completing in four days and ten hours its fastest and most dramatic voyage across the Atlantic, the Cunard liner Mauretania, from Liverpool for New York, arrived at Halifax today with 1,600 passengers, most of whom were Americans fleeing from war ravaged Europe.

Passengers and mails will be landed here and sent to New York and other cities in the United States and Canada.

Warned to Shift Course.

At 11:30 o'clock Wednesday night, while off Sable island, the Mauretania was warned by the British cruiser Essex to change its course without delay and head for Halifax. The helm was shifted so quickly that many passengers, jolted by the shock as the ship heeled sharply, believed the steamer was turning turtle.

Under the highest pressure of her turbine engines, with all ports blanketed and not a light showing, the vessel sped over the 140 miles that lay between it and safety from German cruisers. Behind it came the Essex, whose searchlights could be seen flashing at night across the horizon as it scanned the waters for the enemy.

Cedric Steams Into Port.

The water front was crowded tonight as the stately Cedric of the White Star line with 1,000 passengers steamed up the harbor closely followed by the dark gray Essex, stripped for battle. There were repeated cheers from the crowd as the Cedric dropped anchor and the Essex proceeded to the dock yard to take on coal. The Cedric's decks were thronged with passengers, all happy at having reached port safely. It was 5:44 p. m., Halifax time, when the Cedric dropped anchor. It had been out six days, ten hours, and fifty-two minutes.

She, too, had run to Halifax as a haven from German cruisers which, she had been warned, were on her trail.

The Mauretania's passengers were not officially informed of what had occurred until their arrival here. They had received no intimation of the declaration of war.

The Mauretania sailed from Liverpool at 4:55 p. m., Aug. 1, amid the utmost excitement. Many would-be passengers were left behind on the piers. From the moment the big liner left British shores, the officers were on the alert, and Halifax was held in mind as an alternative port in case of emergency.

Faced 140 Mile Race.

In the midst of thick fog off Sable Island a wireless message from the Essex gave urgent warning to make full speed for Halifax. At that time the Cunarder was 380 miles from New York and 140 from this port.

Lurking somewhere in the darkness and fog was a German cruiser, but guarding the lanes of steamship travel were British warships, warning liners by wireless where danger lurked.

The Mauretania's daily runs from noon to noon of each day were:

To noon Sunday, 565 miles; Monday, 610 miles; Tuesday, 592 miles; Wednesday, 580 miles, and then the 515 miles to Halifax, a total of 2,882 miles.

This distance was lengthened by the steamer having first taken the New York route and having to change its course due north when warned by the Essex. The actual time to Halifax could have been reduced six hours had a direct route been taken.

Lost Six Hours in Fog.

Six hours more were lost in fog and in dodging steamers and cruisers, thereby bringing down to three days and twenty hours the time in which the fleet Cunarder could have covered the distance from Liverpool to Halifax. Had it continued to New York under forced speed it would not have reached there until after midnight Thursday.

Under pressure the Mauretania made the marvelous run of 27½ knots during the early hours of this morning. Its average speed was 26.06 knots. When the purpose of the change of course was learned there was excitement among the passengers. In the first cabin were 500 travelers, many of them prominent in the business, professional, and church life of this continent.

Thought Ship Fired On.

The sensational report went the rounds of the ship that late last night a flash of light was seen over the stern of the cruiser, followed by the report of a gun. It was believed by many that some warship had fired on the liner. None of the officers could substantiate this report, as they were on the bridge, but several of them believed it to be true.

New York and Ottawa had to be advised of the ship's arrival and instruction sought both from the company and the Canadian government before arrangements could be made for the disposition of the passengers. Boats were continually passing back and forth between the shore and the ship bearing official messages, letters, and telegrams for the passengers.

Couldn't Have Been Caught?

Chief Engineer Carothers of the Mauretania told of the trip across and declared the Mauretania could have made several knots better than it did last night had there been any real urgency.

"Why, we just loafed along for hours," he said. "For a time we were only running about fifteen, then we cracked on a bit and hit her up to nineteen knots. When we got the full speed telegraph we struck twenty-five knots, but had there been any Germans directly astern of us the engine room staff had a few tricks up their sleeves still. I am not saying what I think we could have done, but I do not think there is a protected cruiser afloat that can catch the Mauretania when we really get going."

Skipper in 72 Hour Vigil.

Capt. Charles kept constant vigil during almost the entire voyage. For three days he stuck to the bridge of his vessel, getting not a wink of sleep in the seventy-two hours. Early this afternoon, his duty done and his ship safe in port, he turned in, leaving orders not to be called until tomorrow morning. When a statement on the voyage was sought from him tonight officers of the Mauretania declined to awaken him.

Twenty-three of the passengers will be held in Halifax as prisoners of war and handed over to the proper authorities. Those passengers were Germans and Austrians who could not furnish satisfactory proof of their being American citizens, and they will be held until they can do so. The immigration authorities now have them in charge and will hand them over tomorrow morning to the provost marshal when the ship's passengers are landed.

German Liner in Thriller.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, Aug. 6.—The Hamburg-American liner Bavaria arrived here last night from Corunna, Spain, ten hours late. She had a thrilling experience while drilling along the coast of Florida, wher. she nearly encountered the French cruisers Conde and Descartes, which were escorting the oil ship Garonne.

The Bavaria saw the Frenchmen early in the night when she was going along with every light hidden. She slowed down to prevent her engines from throwing out smoke and headed in shore, getting within the three mile neutrality limit.

Foe Passes Within a Mile.

The Frenchmen passed within a mile, never dreaming that a rich German prize was so near. The captain of the Bavaria recognized the cruisers from his experience in Mexican waters. His ship was within wireless hearing throughout the voyage and knew of the declarations of war, so she went considerably out of her usual course to avoid meeting hostile warships.

During the excitement occasioned by sighting the cruisers Senora Fernandez, a passenger, gave birth to a baby, which was afterwards christened "Maria Bavaria."

New York Woman Pays Dear for Auto—Two Others Are Robbed on the Frontier.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Belated travelers are still arriving here with stories of long delays and great hardships.

Mrs. Philip Lydig of New York, who arrived from Vichy in an automobile with a doctor and two nurses, had to pay 6,000 francs for the trip. She was stopped time and again by soldiers who demanded to see her papers.

However, she says she was treated with courtesy during the entire trip. This was specially so when it was explained that she was an American going to Paris. On one occasion a soldier even shared his bread with the party.

The Baroness von Andre, who also arrived, says that she was insulted by Germans time and again and robbed. She reached the French frontier in a state of terror, according to her own story, and not knowing what to expect.

The experiences of the Baroness von Andre are not so bad, however, as those of Mrs. Ann Webster and Mrs. Norah Davis, two Americans, who were caught within the German borders with their three children when war was declared. James Townsend, an American editor, told their story today.

The party had railroad tickets and plenty of cash. Both the tickets and money were taken from them by soldiers, who used the most insulting language.

It was impossible to secure any sort of conveyance without money, and they were forced to walk twenty-five miles to the French border. They met with every sort of discourtesy on their way, Mr. Townsend says. German peasants refused them food and shelter, although they were palpably in need of both.

FRENCH INFANTRY WAITING TO POT AN AEROPLANE

SEA DASH HOME BY DR. MURPHY

Chicago Physician Reaches Halifax After Perilous Voyage.

SHIP ALL IN DARKNESS.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—"It has been the most exciting passage in my experience, and I am more than glad to be on land again," said Dr. John B. Murphy of Chicago, the retiring head of the Clinical Congress of North America, on board the Mauretania this afternoon.

"All the way across we have been seeing German cruisers every fifteen minutes, to judge by the reports in circulation. Absolutely no information was given out by the ship's officers and for the last two nights everything about the ship was in darkness. Blankets were spread over the port holes in all the cabins, canvas tarpaulins having been placed over the sides, hiding the promenade decks.

Feels Ship's Course Change.

"We knew when the ship's course was changed. We had been running with the moon on our starboard side. All at once we felt the ship heel over; it had swung around at an angle of fifty degrees. It began to roll heavily from side to side in the trough of the sea.

"Some of the passengers got on deck and reported that we were running due north. We ran north for a little while, then stopped. When we started up again, I should think that every record for a passenger ship was broken from the rate we traveled. You could feel the whole ship trembling with the vibration of the engines as it raced toward Halifax.

Powers Call Back Doctors.

"Everything went all right at the congress until last Wednesday, when Prof. von Eisselberg, the chief surgeon of Vienna, who was to have read an important paper, was hurriedly summoned to return home. Prof. Tuffier, the big French surgeon, was ordered back to Paris.

"About then everybody started to hurry away. When the sailing of the Imperator was canceled there was a terrific scramble for accommodations. I had booked by the Mauretania, but the majority of the other 1,500 doctors from this side were returning by various boats.

"In these days of war I suppose there is little interest in the triumphs of peace, but this congress has been a wonderful example of the latter. One of the chief features was the absolute demonstration of the powers of legislation against typhoid fever. It was demonstrated beyond a shadow of a doubt that since 1876, when public health officers began actively to combat typhoid, the mortality has been reduced 1,100 per cent.

"Another feature was the demonstration that bovine tuberculosis is the chief cause of bone tuberculosis in the human, which is directly contrary to what Koch taught. This bovine tuberculosis can be eradicated completely by boiling milk."

Dr. Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., who was elected president of the congress this year, said there had been tremendous excitement all through the voyage. The Mauretania was escorted out of Queenstown by a British cruiser and there had been nothing but rumors of impending capture ever since.

SENATOR OLIVER IN PARIS; WEARS SHIRT THREE DAYS.

Congressman and Wife Lose Baggage and Clothes They Wear Are All They Have.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—United States Senator George T. Oliver of Pennsylvania is at the Ritz with his wife. He came from Montreux. His luggage, which was registered through to London, has disappeared.

The senator and his wife are wearing the only clothes they have. The senator has not changed his shirt or collar for three days.

He has experienced difficulty in getting moeny. He declares not one transport but a fleet is required to repatriate 50,000 Americans in Paris. He asserts the fleet should have been started already. The senator has cabled President Wilson, but has received no reply.

CARNEGIE PRAISES BRITAIN.

Advocate of Peace Declares Declaration of War to Preserve Belgium Was Right.

New York, Aug. 6.—Andrew Carnegie, one of the world's most distinguished peace advocates, approves of England's course in the present crisis. In a cable message from Scotland to the New York Evening Post he says:

"Germany having declined Britain's proposed peace conference, and then having asked Britain to agree to her march through Belgium, Britain was bound to decline and to declare that she would protect Belgium by land and sea."

CHICAGO FOLKS DEPICT SEA RACE

Homecomers Tell of Thrills on Liners Going Full Speed Through Fog.

WOMAN DESCRIBES TRIP

Several Chicagoans returned to the city yesterday after barely escaping the net which has enmeshed the majority of American tourists in Europe. Home again, the travelers made light of the dangers encountered. They felt they were fortunate in slipping away from the tentacles of war.

Among those who came home were Orson Smith, president of the Merchants' Loan and Trust company, and Mrs. Smith; James Simpson, vice president of Marshall Field and company, Mrs. Simpson and James Simpson, Jr., and Frederick C. Hack of the law firm of Winston, Payne, Strawn and Shaw.

Return on Darkened Ships.

The Smiths and Mr. Hack were passengers on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, the steamship that retreated to Bar Harbor, Me., with a cargo of $10,000,000 in gold after going out to sea 2,000 miles. The Simpsons came to New York on the Olympic, which, like the Cecilie, made the latter part of its journey with darkened lights and full speed ahead, fearing capture.

Nervous Strain Terrible.

Although these Chicagoans spoke lightly of their experiences, they did not deny they underwent strong nervous tension. How great the strain was on shipboard is indicated in a letter from Seymour Morris, a real estate man, from his son Seymour Morris, Jr., written Wednesday. The younger Mr. Morris was aboard the Cecilie with a friend, Edward B. Mower. They are now in Boston.

"The reaction of our nerves has been so great," said Mr. Morris in his letter, "that we can both see how a person going through a shipwreck might become insane. You have no idea of the nervous strain. Until last night I had not slept since Saturday night."

"Of course, we were all anxious," said Mrs. Smith. "Who wouldn't be? But considering the conditions the passengers were very calm and philosophical. The captain was wise in withholding war news, as there were many Germans and French among the passengers. Am I glad to get back? Well, wouldn't you be?"

"If we had read the papers the morning of July 28—the day we sailed—we would probably have returned to Chicago immediately," said Mr. Smith. "The first intimation of anything unusual came Tuesday night, when the roll of the boat turned into a pitch. There was dancing on the deck, but I happened to be in my berth. It was 10:30 o'clock. A friend came and told me Captain Polack had announced we were about to return to America on account of the European crisis.

"After we veered about, the electric lights were turned out and the boat went full speed ahead. During the last few days we encountered heavy fog, but the horn was not sounded till some of the passengers made an urgent appeal to the captain."

Olympic's Trip Uneventful.

"Our trip was mostly uneventful," said Mr. Simpson. "By wireless we learned that Germany was in a state of war with Russia and France, and it was reported that two German cruisers had received orders to intercept our ship. The captain took the same precautionary measures as were taken by the Cecilie. There was an undercurrent of excitement and the passengers gave the captain a vote of thanks. Our highest speed was 23 knots an hour."

The Simpsons had been on the continent about two months.

FRENCH WOMEN AVIATORS WILL ACT AS ARMY SCOUTS.

Reward of Million Francs Set Aside for Airmen Who Distinguish Themselves.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—For the first time in history there are going to be women aviators acting as scouts during the war. Three women, all of them thoroughly experienced flyers, have volunteered their services and will leave for the front, probably tonight. They are Mme. Pallier, Mme. Marvingt, and Helen de Plagino.

The Michelin Tire company announced today that it had set aside 1,000,000 francs to be awarded to the aviators who distinguish themselves for bravery and adroitness while in action. It has not been arranged yet how the money shall be adjudged.

Bring Down German Aero.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Brussels reports that a German aeroplane, flying at a height of 1,500 feet, was brought down by a shot which also wounded the pilot. A Zeppelin airship manned by Germans was struck by the fire from a Belgian fort and fell near Herve.

The British government has requisitioned all air craft in the United Kingdom and is mobilizing them at the Hendon aerodrome.

HUNTS VESSELS FOR AMERICANS

Money Problem Solved, U. S. Hopes to Bring Stranded Persons Home Soon.

"HOLDUP" GAME ROILS.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—With arrangements practically completed for the financial relief of Americans caught in the war zones of Europe, Secretary of War Garrison today gave his chief attention to the problem of securing ships in which to bring them home.

The secretary is proceeding to this task by first gathering complete data both in regard to the ships available under United States or neutral flags and with respect to the actual needs of the Americans in the European countries.

The state department is obtaining for him as rapidly as possible exact information as to the numbers of Americans desiring to leave each of the belligerent countries, facilities for getting them to seaports, and what ports, and other data of a similar nature which will expedite the actual relief work when it is undertaken.

France and Britain Help.

The state department's advices today were declared encouraging by Secretary Bryan. While reports of the department's official representative bore out this view, messages received from volunteer American committees in several European capitals gave a more serious aspect to the situation.

Much encouragement, however, is felt from the fact that the Tennessee sailed tonight with millions in gold, and also from assurances from London and Paris that the British and French governments are lending their most cordial coöperation to the efforts of the United States and its representatives to relieve the distress of the Americans.

Secretary Garrison is indignant at the intimations which reached him today that the prices for chartering the American steamships he has had under consideration are rising. He promptly sent back word that not until he was driven to the most desperate means would he take any action which would permit any steamship interests to hold up the government of the United States for double profits because of the present emergency.

Roiled by "Holdup" Plan.

On Monday when the administration first took up with steamship representatives the question of chartering available vessels, the assurance was given that the companies would charge only their normal prices, covering their expenses and allowing for a fair profit.

Today, however, the intimation came that the prices would be about 40 cents a gross ton per day instead of 16 to 20 cents. Secretary Garrison said he would use every means at his command before he would submit to a holdup.

The secretary has complete data as t all ships in United States waters under neutral flags, of whatever nation. He knows where they can be had on short notice. He is also investigating the situation with regard to ships of neutrals in foreign ports.

Needs Data to Start.

It is the secretary's idea, however, that he should engage no ships until he knows just what he wants to do with them. Consequently he is tonight waiting on the state department for more exact information with regard to the situation of Americans.

Also the state department is charged with the duty of making the necessary arrangements with the belligerents' governments not only for the entry of the gold ship Tennessee but also for the ships to bring back the Americans.

Ambassador Herrick reported to the state department today that the situation had so far improved in Paris that he recommended the Tennessee be sent with its gold to other countries instead of to France. He said the action of the French government in depositing gold to the credit of the Morgan house had been a great relief. E. H. Gary, however, of the American committee, reported that there were 30,000 Americans who wanted transportation and that it would take six months to move them.

Gold for the Stranded.

Chargé Barclay of the British embassy reported to Secretary Bryan the action of his government in authorizing the issuance of 1 pound and 10 shilling notes, the reduction of the Bank of England rate from 10 to 6 per cent, and the resumption of gold payments by the banks with their reopening tomorrow.

Oscar Strauss and F. L. Kent, representatives of the Bankers Trust company, reported to the department from London that their work was fully organized, that a partial list of Americans in need will be published tomorrow, and that transportation is desired for 20,000.

Ambassador Penfield reported from Vienna that he was making every effort to get Americans out before last night, when train service was to be stopped for three weeks.

The government of Austria has run special trains for tourists from Carlsbad and Marienbad for the benefit of the American and other tourists, taking them to Trieste, where it is believed they can obtain transportation on Italian vessels.

In Want in Switzerland.

Consul Baehr at Berne, Switzerland, reported that the situation of Americans in that country is distressing, as they cannot get their checks cashed and are having much difficulty in obtaining the necessaries.

Consul Stuart at Milan said there were several hundred Americans at that port desiring money and transportation home.

From Russia it is reported that arrangements are being made for transporting the 200 Americans there to Sweden, whence it is believed they can get to the United States.

John Garrett, minister to Argentina, arrived from Europe today and sought to get passage at once on the Tennessee or North Carolina, which will follow it from Boston tomorrow, in order to return to Europe and assist his family, who are stranded in Switzerland.

Ambassador Sharpe, who is to succeed Ambassador Herrick at Paris, was expected to board the Tennessee tonight.

BANKER CONVICT TO FIGHT.

French Baron Imprisoned for Frauds Is Freed and Leaves for the Front.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Baron Henri Neufuille, the delinquent banker who was imprisoned some time ago after numerous frauds had been proven against him, has been freed and has gone to the front as a volunteer.

'GOLD' CRUISER OFF TO EUROPE; CUTS ITS SPEED

Tennessee Leaves with Cash for Tourists Marooned in War Zone.

SAVES COAL SUPPLY

New York, Aug. 6.—The armored cruiser Tennessee, converted for the time into a treasure ship, left port at 9:45 o'clock tonight to carry millions in gold to the many thousand Americans who are in want in European countries.

The destination of the cruiser is Falmouth, England. The British government has given permission for the warship to put in there. The gold specie will be promptly shipped to London and elsewhere.

No word has come from continental Europe whether a vessel will be permitted in ports of the other warring countries. If Italy remains neutral some of the refugees in the interior may be supplied with funds from her ports.

Another Cruiser Ready.

The cruiser North Carolina, the second American treasure ship, will sail from Boston for Europe tomorrow night. An effort will be made to have the North Carolina overhaul the Tennessee at sea and take aboard some of the army officers and treasury officials now crowded into the overtaxed quarters of the latter ship.

The intention is to have the Tennessee go to the North sea after touching at London and French ports, while the North Carolina steams through the Straits of Gibraltar to the relief of Americans along the shores of the Mediterranean.

The Tennessee sailed with $7,500,000, including $2,500,000 appropriated by the government.

The $5,000,000 in gold is from the consolidated banks.

The Tennessee's bunkers held 2,050 tons of coal and it was said that if she should run at her maximum speed of twenty knots this supply would run out before the end of the trip.

Cuts Speed to Twelve Miles.

Its executive officer, Lieut. Commander E. P. Jessop, explained the cruiser would not attempt to make more than twelve knots to conserve its coal supply. At this rate of speed about ten days will be required for the trip.

It is generally believed the warship carried as passengers Ambassador Willard, who is returning to his post at Madrid, and army and naval officers assigned as military observers in Europe. On the return trip accommodations for 200 Americans will be available.

SELFISH AMERICAN WOMAN REPROVED BY U. S. CONSUL.

She Has $3,000 for Passage Home—Diplomat in Paris Tells Her to Help Others.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—There has perhaps been no better indication of the unselfishness and charity with which Americans generally have accepted the hard lot imposed on them than the exceptional conduct of one woman at the embassy today and the retort which Maj. Henry felt himself justified in making to her.

The woman, of middle age and well dressed, stormed into the embassy and loudly demanded that some means be found immediately for her conveyance home. She announced that she had 15,000 francs in cash and insisted on it being used to insure her transportation.

"Very well," said Maj. Henry, "you can take your 15,000 francs and go outside and share it with those Americans who have not even the money to buy a piece of bread. The United States citizens who want to get out of France are being helped in turn irrespective of their money."

Another Division Suffers Losses and Is Retiring in the Vicinity of Neidenburg.

BERLIN, via Amsterdam and London, Aug. 6.—The force of Russian cavalry which tried to break through the German frontier guard was repulsed today near Soldau in East Prussia.

Another Russian cavalry division also suffered losses and is retiring in the vicinity of Neidenburg.

CHICAGO SENDS GOLD TO EUROPE TO AID TOURISTS

Relatives Besiege Sub-Treasury with Relief Funds.

CABLE NEWS STOPPED

News from European sources regarding Chicago tourists seemed to be more scarce than ever yesterday. Extremely few messages were received from London, which formerly had been the source of most of the information regarding travelers abroad. Germany remained closed to the world, although there was some consolation evidenced in the rumor that the American government is to demand that American citizens be allowed to leave that country at once.

It is thought that many tourists will give up their attempts to reach England and will attempt to get on neutral territory with seacoast. Norway, Denmark, Holland, and even Spain undoubtedly will be the destination points of many tourists on the continent seeking to get back to America.

Hold Italian Ships.

It is probable many travelers who are able to reach Spain will return to America by way of South America, as passage on direct lines will be difficult to procure. Some of the Italian boats are delaying their sailings, awaiting definite action on the part of the Italian government with reference to the ultimatum said to have been sent to Italy by the kaiser.

Chicago relatives and friends find themselves at a loss to know what to do next to get word and money to their friends. Comparatively few of the tourists have been located definitely. Cables that have been sent are unanswered. The state department, which has put the machinery of the government in motion to find thousands of persons abroad, has been able to give out no information to relatives as yet.

Funds for Relatives.

Several hundred relatives here flocked to the subtreasury with money to release those stranded abroad.

Just how much money was deposited is not known, but Irving Shuman, subtreasurer, declared each visitor left from $100 to $2,500. The identity of the beneficiaries will not be disclosed.

"Some of the depositors have asked me not to disclose their friends' names," said Mr. Shuman. "And, besides, it is against the rules of the department. Most of those stranded had tickets covering a carefully mapped out itinerary. When the war broke out their tickets were no good, and their credit was no good, so they have to rely on their friends."

There are certain conditions, however, which the government insists upon in the relieving of the destitute across the water.

Must Give Description.

The depositor must give the name, age, height, weight, and distinguishing marks and characteristics of the person to be helped, and his exact location, if possible.

Funds are received at the risk of the giver. Delivery is not guaranteed, but every means will be resorted to through the diplomatic service to reach the person for whom the money is intended.

When the tourist is found the United States consul will give him just enough money to see him comfortably home, and no more. The balance of the money deposited, if there is a balance, will be returned to the depositor. In case the intended beneficiary is not found the money will be returned to the donor.

The reason for limiting the amount, according to Mr. Shuman, is that the system might be abused, and American gold in larger quantities than necessary would have to be carried to Europe.

Money Orders Increase.

It was noticed that money orders coming into Chicago from foreign countries have materially increased during the last two weeks, and officials believe that Europeans, fearing their property may be confiscated or destroyed, are converting it into cash and sending their surplus money to friends in Chicago to be kept for them until peace is regained.

In the three months ending June 30 the money orders from Chicago to foreign places amounted to $311,980. Money orders coming into Chicago from foreign cities during the same period totaled $311,-892. During the last two weeks, however, the incoming money orders have exceeded the outgoing by a large sum, it is declared.

Chicagoan at Liege.

It is thought that one Chicagoan, William Morton Payne of 1933 Indiana avenue, may have seen the first heavy fighting between the Germans and the Belgian armies. Mr. Payne, who is a member of the Cliff Dwellers club and an instructor in the McKinley High school, is thought, according to the latest word received, to be in Liege, Belgium.

Apprehension for the safety of Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, and Mrs. Young's secretary, Miss Brayton, is felt, and Harry A. Lipsky, of the board of education, took steps to have them located. Mr. Lipsky invoked the aid of Congressman A. J. Sabath, who sent a telegram to his secretary in Washington, directing him to place the case before the department of state and urge utmost action. The last place friends heard from them was in the neighborhood of Munich, Bavaria, over two weeks ago, and efforts to reach them by cable have failed.

Only One to Act.

"Apparently I am the only person connected with the board sufficiently interested in the women to try to find them," explained Mr. Lipsky.

Many ministers and members of the faculities of theological seminaries abroad have not been heard from. The Western Theological seminary has two men thought to be in Germany. Prof. Leicester C. Lewis, professor of ecclesiastical history, was last heard from in Germany, as was Dr. S. A. B. Mercer, professor of Old Testament at the seminary, who was studying there.

Episcopal clergymen who have not been located since the war began are the Rev. J. H. Edwards of Lake Forest; the Rev. F. R. Godolphin of Grace church, Oak Park; the Rev. Herbert W. Gwynn of St. Edmund's church, and the Rev. E. J. Nutter of Irving Park.

Graham Taylor and Prof. R. A. Jernberg of the Chicago Theological seminary are in Europe and have not been heard from. Prof. Jernberg, who is head of the Norwegian institute of the seminary, intended to sail for America about the time the war began. Miss Rose Sears, librarian for the seminary, is in Europe with her sister, Miss Sadie Sears, a teacher in the Otis school. Dr. A. S. Carrier, professor of Hebrew at the McCormick Theological seminary, is thought to be in Germany.

Among tourists who were to return on the Austro-American and Fabre lines, which have suspended sailings, are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Page Watson, who were on their honeymoon and intended to sail from Naples. Mr. Watson played football and basketball and was on the track team of the University of Illinois.

Miss Julia Costello and Mrs. Mary Costello had booked passage on the Argentine.

Miss Margaret Ryan and Miss Sarah Agnes Ryan reached Marseilles July 22 on the Germania.

Miss Cecelia M. Gabin, Mrs. Catherine Gabin Ford, and Miss Christine Betnor are thought to be in Italy, having sailed on the Canada.

Mrs. K. E. Bennett of the Bennett Co., 614 South Michigan avenue, Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Frank, who reside at the Hyde Park hotel, have been spending the summer in Germany and have succeeded in sending a cable to the hotel which read: "The government must help us."

Mrs. John Fyffe and daughter, Miss Letitia Fyffe, of Evanston, who sailed for Europe in June, are now in Wales, but have not communicated with their friends for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Bror J. Olson Nordfeldt, formerly of Chicago, who left for Paris more than a year ago, were spending the summer in the provinces painting. When last heard from they were in Brittany. They are great friends of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McWilliams, who are now at Biarritz.

Miss Gertrude Emerson of Blackstone avenue was in Italy when last heard from.

Mary Randolph Craig and Mr. Craig were studying art in Paris this summer.

Ask Lewis for Aid.

Among those making inquiry at Senator James Hamilton Lewis' office was Mrs. Elise Bosworth, who said that her son, W. G. Bosworth, and party were last heard from at Bayern, Germany. In the party are Mrs. Elsa P. Awe, Bosworth Awe, and Wellington Bosworth Jr. Many others telegraphed Senator Lewis at Washington.

Scores of Chicago clubmen are marooned on the continent in London. Among the Chicago Athletic association members are:

William Bartholomay Jr. and Henry Bartholomay at Munich.

Mr. and Mrs. Giesche in Berlin.

Orson C. Wells in London.

Neymenn of Morton Grove, whose son graduates this year from Heidelberg, was last heard of in Munich. Mr. and Mrs. William M. Salter, also, are thought to be in Munich.

Alfred Wolf sent a cable to his brother, thought to be in Geneva, Switzerland, and received a reply from the telegraph company saying the message would have to be written in French. He notified Secretary of State Bryan, who promised to wire the American consul in Geneva.

Party in Switzerland.

John C. Bley, whose wife is in Europe with a party of twenty, believes the party is in Switzerland. When last heard from they were in Italy. Their itinerary would have brought them to Switzerland by the time the war began.

Relatives of Mrs. Jacob W. Loeb have been trying for over a week to get some information as to her whereabouts, but have been unsuccessful. They believe she is on the estate of Augustus Busch, in Bavaria, and fear that the estate may be commandeered by the German army.

Miss Emma Pischel of the health department and Miss Editha Phelps of the Crerar library were traveling together, but separated in Paris shortly before war was declared. It is thought that Miss Pischel is now in Germany and Miss Phelps in Switzerland.

Greeted in Tyrol.

A cable message dated Aug. 1 and received yesterday located Mrs. John Gould of Lake Forest and her daughters, Miss Agnes and Miss Eleanor Gould, at Innsbruck, Austrian Tyrol. A cablegram was received from Walter H. Jacobs saying that he is safe in London.

Miss Dorothy Nussbaum, who has been studying music in Berlin, and Richard Baren have arrived in London. Mr. Baren said he saw a Mr. Newmann, head of a Chicago clothing firm, in Carlsbad before he left, but thinks the latter did not get away. Louis Neumann of the Neumann clothing store in the Hartford building was last heard from in Vienna.

Cleveland Bohnet, formerly an instructor in the Chicago Musical college, was said to be in Berlin by tourists reaching London. A Chicago man named Finn was seen going to Rotterdam with his wife and children, where he expected to sail on a Holland-America steamer.

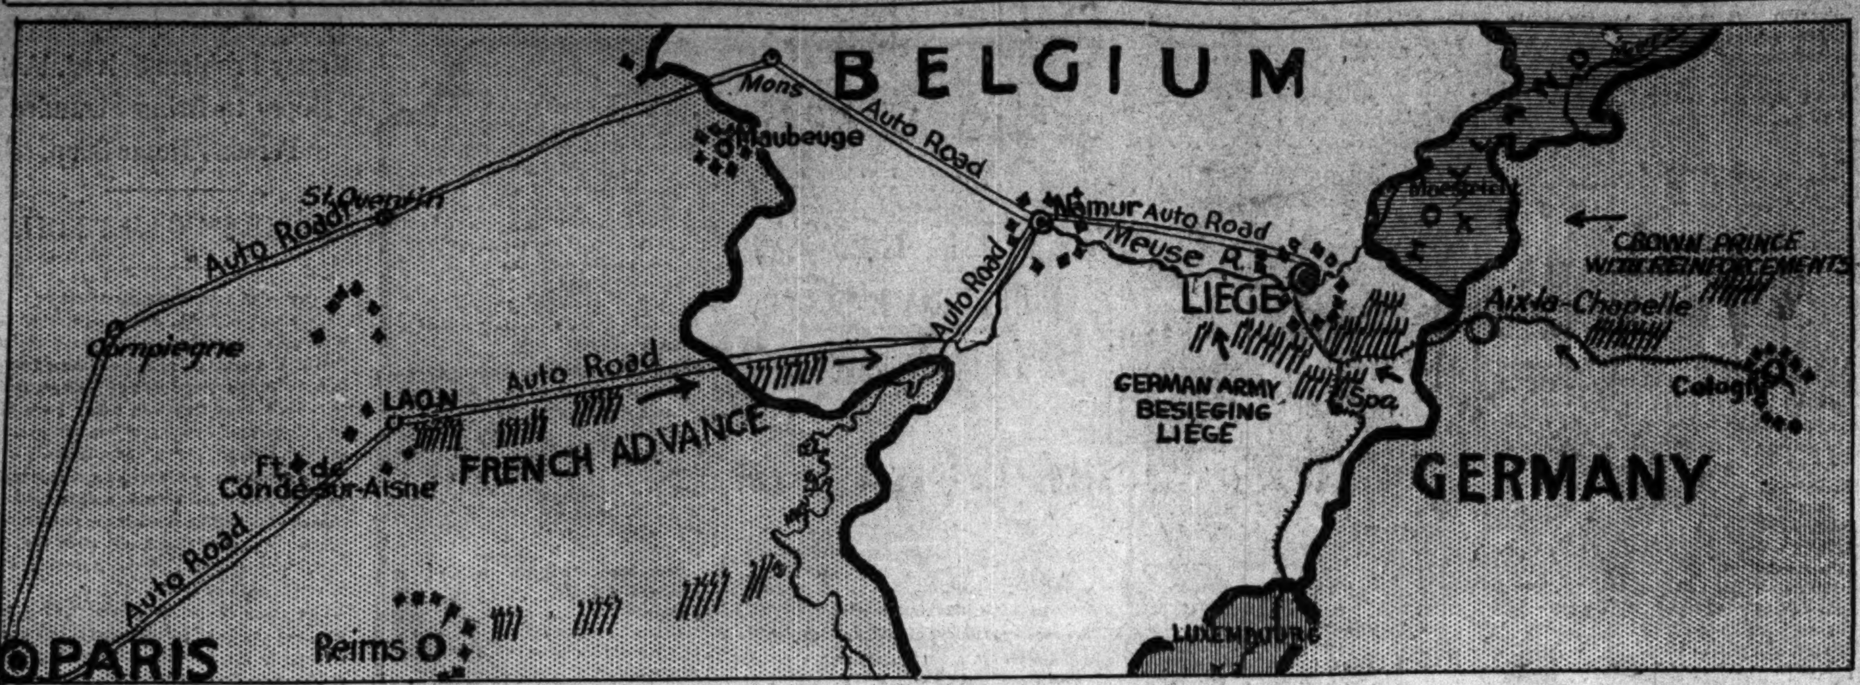
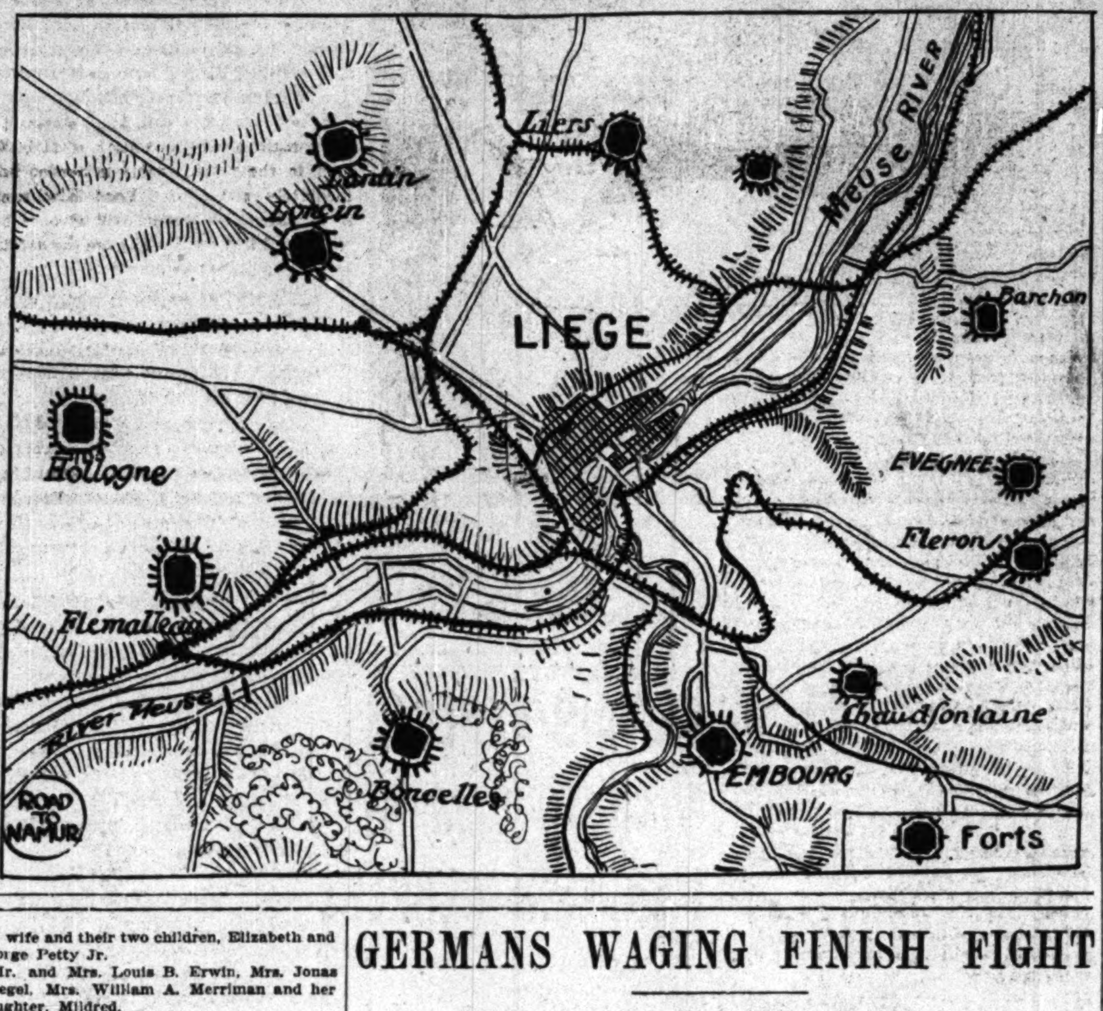
John A. Murphey of La Grange received a letter from his wife, written July 25, from Sandkaal, on the Danish island of Bornholm, twenty-two miles off the southeast coast of Sweden. Mrs. Murphey and her daughter, Miss Marjorie Murphey, who has been studying for a year in Berlin, left Berlin the preceding day. Nothing was said about the war, so that apparently there was no suggestion of the sudden change that came upon the German empire the next day.

War Map of Belgium Showing Liege, the Key to Paris.



L'ILLUSTRATION of Paris created a sensation some time ago by printing a map of the fortifications of Belgium and the auto roads leading through Belgium and France, indicating that Liege was the real key to a German advance on the French capital. That map, brought up to date, is here shown. It indicates that the German advance is exactly as disclosed by the French magazine.

The small map below shows the detail of the fortifications of Liege. The two forts captured by the Germans are believed to be Embourg and Chaudfontaine.



Americans Safe, Washington Says.

THE TRIBUNE has been making and is continuing to make every effort to procure for Chicagoans information regarding relatives and friends abroad. The process is made difficult by reason of interrupted cable service, but Washington advices are entirely reassuring as to the safety of Americans in all the nations. Therefore the state department urges the people concerned over their friends abroad not to worry because of their failure to get word from them.

THE TRIBUNE has been and is continuing to ask the state department at Washington for information regarding Chicago tourists through the embassies and consular offices, thus affording more prospect of news than through usual news channels and special correspondents.

In Washington last night the state department issued the following statement:

> The department of state is receiving daily thousands of telegrams and letters requesting that information in regard to the whereabouts and safety of Americans now in Europe be obtained. Many of these inquiries also request information as to whether the persons are in need of financial aid.
>
> Owing to the great number of these inquiries and the very limited clerical force of the department, it has been practically impossible to answer the great majority of the inquiries promptly. Every effort, however, is being made to forward with all possible dispatch such inquiries to the proper consular officers for investigation and report. It is hoped that Americans will appreciate that everything possible is being done to obtain the information they desire and that they will not complicate or delay matters by unnecessary duplication of inquiries.
>
> Generally, it may be said that the department has no information that would lead it to believe that any Americans in Europe are in personal danger. Telegraphic reports indicate that Americans are safe, and it is believed that in the majority of countries arrangements have already been made whereby the temporary financial embarrassment that may have arisen can be relieved.

The department adds that this process, naturally, is slow.

the ranks of the advancing Germans.

Despite the heroic resistance of the Belgians, it was felt in Brussels tonight that the invaders, by reason of their great strength, could not much longer be denied and that ultimately they must gain the city Liege, whence they are expected to press onward to Namur in their effort to cross Belgium to the French frontier.

At Namur, which is strongly fortified, it is asserted that resistance as strong as that at Liege will be encountered by the Germans.

Germans Deny Liege Retreat.

BERLIN, Aug. 6, via London, 11:50—It is announced that a report to the effect that German troops operating on Belgian territory had been compelled to retire is unfounded.

Delay of Germans Hope of Belgians.

PARIS, Aug. 7, 5 a. m.—The situation at Liege, according to the latest dispatches, is as follows:

It seemed certain that the fortifications could not stop the German army and the only question was whether its advance could be delayed. The fortifications already had held it for thirty-six hours and the fierce struggle the Germans had made and would still have to make, it was believed, would compel them to pause and revictual.

Germans Still Face Namur Forts.

If the German army succeeds in carrying Liege it will find itself confronted by an entrenched camp at Namur, at which the Belgians are preparing to make a stand as fierce as that at Liege.

The Belgian army was brilliantly fulfilling its task of delaying the German advance and it appeared certain the German staff's plan of campaign in Belgium would be hindered by the obstinate stand of the Belgians.

DETAILS OF FIRST BATTLE.

The attack on Liege yesterday was executed by one German army corps, while the Belgian force consisted of a mixed brigade supported by the artillery of the forts.

The battle was fought along a wide front and partially in the open fields.

The Belgian troops carried out several furious counter attacks, throwing the Germans back and pursuing them up to their original positions.

Not an inch of ground was gained by the Germans during the fighting and they suffered severe losses in dead and wounded.

A night attack on the Belgian positions was awaited with great assurance by the Belgian troops, who had been strongly reinforced.

Many Germans Slaughtered.

Stories of the great struggle tell of terrific slaughter among the German forces.

At about noon the German infantry attempted to carry by assault Fort Barchon, to the northeast of Liege. The attacking infantry crept up under the cover of a heavy artillery fire, but the Belgian defenders reserved their fire until the Germans had come to close quarters, when, at a given signal, the Belgians opened with a perfect hail of bullets from rifles and machine guns, which mowed down the Germans. The attackers soon lay in heaps of dead and wounded around the fort.

At the same time Fort Chaudfontaine, to the southeast of Liege, kept up a hot fire on another body of Germans, who had seized a neighboring castle. The Belgian artillery reduced the building to a mass of smoking ruins.

A squadron of Belgian lancers was completely wiped out after it had killed 150 German Uhlans.

The Germans finally retired all along the line.

Germans Lost 8,000 Men.

The Gazette today publishes what it says are the facts so far as known regarding the repulse of the German forces by the Belgians in the Liege district yesterday. The German losses are estimated at 8,000 men, while the Belgians suffered far less.

The alleged rout of the German Seventh army corps is not confirmed in its entirety, however, says the Gazette, which adds:

"These are the facts: The Belgian Eleventh brigade, after successfully resisting the German attack, pursued the fleeing Prussians with such energy that the general commanding the Belgians was obliged to order our troops to turn back, as they were getting outside the range of the guns of the Belgian forts. The enthusiasm of our troops was magnificent.

Wounded Germans Flee.

"A number of wounded Germans fled to Dutch territory, and this gave rise to the belief that the enemy had been completely routed. They suffered, however, considerable losses, which are estimated at 8,000. Our losses were relatively small."

A force of 20,000 Germans passed through Manhay, Luxemburg, yesterday in the direction of Aywaille, Belgium.

Arrest Two German Spies.

Two distinguished German officers arrested today at Ostend had in their possession extensive military notes and plans of great value. The two spies are to be shot.

The anti-German feeling throughout Belgium has become intense and many German residents were arrested today charged with espionage.

Every German discovered anywhere in the city is brought before the police, who have considerable trouble in protecting the prisoners from attack by the excited crowds.

The patriotic enthusiasm here is extraordinary. Nearly all the citizens wear badges with the colors of Belgium, France and England combined.

Thousands of women of all classes have been enrolled as Red Cross nurses and are awaiting the arrival of the wounded from the battlefields around Liege. King Albert has handed over his palace to the Red Cross society and the queen will act as a nurse.

U. S. TRADE MARINE TO BE BORN TODAY IF BILL IS PASSED

Senate Adjourns Without Action Because of Mrs. Wilson's Death.

REDFIELD IS OPTIMISTIC

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Legislation to create an American merchant marine still waits to be enacted.

The senate wrangled all day over the Alexander bill, which was passed by the house Monday, opening American registry to foreign vessels, and adjourned without passing it at 5:30 when official notification of the death of Mrs. Wilson was received. The bill will be taken up the first thing tomorrow and probably will be passed before the day is over.

U. S. Might Be Drawn In.

Many senators argued today that the Alexander bill in its present form would precipitate the United States into the worldwide conflict. They asserted that no nation now at war would respect the United States flag flying over a vessel using American registry only for purposes of safety during the war.

Other senators argued that the provision in the bill eliminating the necessity of officers and crew swearing allegiance to the United States was a dangerous one.

Senator Martine of New Jersey spoke emphatically in favor of having the government purchase every liner available and impress it into the foreign trade. This same view was taken by Senator Williams of Mississippi, who has a bill pending to carry it out.

Urges Subsidy for Ships.

Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire urged a subsidy for those vessels which come into American registry in order to keep them after the European conflict ceases. This provoked a storm of objections from the Democrats. It was suggested that American registry be denied all vessels, the owners of which do not agree to keep the American flag over them at the close of the war.

Senator Cummins of Iowa offered an amendment ordering the secretary of state to approve all transfers from foreign to American registry. This was opposed by Senator Shively of Indiana, ranking Democratic member on the foreign relations committee.

The committee from the Chicago Association of Commerce was busy through the day seeing senators and urging some action to build up a merchant marine immediately. The Chicagoans are particularly anxious to get South American lines into operation as soon as possible.

Secretary of Commerce Redfield adopts an optimistic view of the shipping situation. He says American crops can and must be kept moving to Europe and that Europe will see to it that they are moved.

"The last thing we need worry about," Mr. Redfield said, with emphasis, "is getting our crops abroad. Europe must have our wheat or starve. Will it starve or will it provide means of transportation? It is up to the other fellow to provide ships. Grain may be tied up for a few weeks, but not permanently.

"Just as soon as the question of supremacy on the seas is settled, commerce will be resumed. Have you noticed the policy of Great Britain and France as reflected in their naval orders? It is to obtain control of the sea at once.

Sees Commerce Restored Soon.

"If England sweeps the seas, all English merchant ships will resume their transportation of our crops. If Germany is successful its ships will carry the grain.

"England, of course, is our biggest customer. It already is insuring merchant ships up to 80 per cent of their value, and I think we may look to similar steps in that direction.

"Another thing that will help will be the bill now before congress amending our shipping laws. The United Fruit company and the United States Steel corporation have been considering for some time changing their register so as to fly the American flag.

"Technical restrictions which prevented will now be removed. But even if there are not enough American ships, European nations will certainly send others. It is their worry, not ours."

Will Relieve Crop Congestion.

Secretary Redfield said every effort would be made by his department to assist in relieving crop congestion. He believes there may be a tie up for a few weeks but that it will be relieved when foreign warships begin convoying their merchant ships.

It is the duty of American manufacturers and farmers to supply the markets of the world with food, clothing, machinery, drugs, and the luxuries of life, not only while the European wars are in progress but also during that long period of recuperation when the commercial nations of Europe are striving to rehabilitate their wrecked industries, according to Secretary Redfield.

Many of the markets which will be opened wide to American merchants on account of this war, particularly in South America and the orient, according to the secretary, will continue in their control forever if Americans make the best of their opportunity.

Time to Strike Quickly.

There is almost no limit to the advantage which Americans may gain from this war, he believes. The thing to do is to strike quickly and to cultivate the field with the same energy that has been used to stimulate trade in this country.

It is not only on account of the crippled merchant marine of England, Germany, and France that these countries, which have for years held the lion's share of the trade with South American countries and the orient, will be deprived of those markets, but also because of the interruption of their factories.

The men from the factories and the farms are being drafted into the army and many of them will never return. Even if the war lasts only a short time, Secretary Redfield believes it will be years before production in European countries will return to normal.

GAY PARIS HEARS THE CURFEW BELL AT EIGHT NIGHTLY

Every Person Expected to Be Indoors at 9 P. M.; Moulin Rouge Closes.

AMERICANS OFFER HELP

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 5.—[By Special Messenger.]—Martial law has been in force since last night for the first time since 1870, when Paris was in a state of siege. A visitor unaware of the situation would fancy himself in the midst of a national festival. This is on the outside only, for every home has its mourning. But life sits lightly on the Parisian.

The whole city is beflagged; the streets are a mass of color; hardly a building is there that is not gay with bunting. The English flag is conspicuous everywhere.

In the streets hawkers do a roaring trade selling little flags for the buttonhole, one the national tri-color, another the combined colors of the triple entente.

Horse and motor traffic are almost nonexistent. Luckily the weather keeps fine. Immense crowds line the boulevards and chief thoroughfares.

Quietness Succeeds Noise.

A noticeable feature is the strange quietness which has come over the people during the last twenty-four hours. Yesterday there was a continuous roar; processions followed one another continuously. Today it is as though the nation were dwelling on the death struggle with its fiercest enemy.

News sheets are snatched from runners for the Belgians' answer to Germany. But above all, the certainty that England is going to stand by transformed the thirst for street demonstrations. The crowd awaits events without noise or bluster. English and Italians are greeted in the cafés with lifted hat or a word of good fellowship. At the hotels the English visitors are treated with especial courtesy and deference. Americans rank in the popular mind with Britishers as friendly to France.

Curfew Law in Force.

Tonight the new law comes into force; all citizens are expected to be indoors at 9 p. m. The curfew bell warns all at 8, when the cafés close and streets are deserted. The theaters follow suit. The receipts at the Comédie Française on Monday were under $90. Twelve of the leading artists have gone to the front, among them Albert Carree and Georges Ricou. The Odeon theater has lost Paul Gavault. A few minor cafés chantant still try to draw, but the Moulin Rouge is closed. Maurice Barres, the eminent academician, has joined his regiment.

The police continue to be on the alert for spies. Many arrests have been made. Foreign residents have to apply to the police stations for permits to remain in the city. The gates are closed all around the fortifications at 8 p. m. Late arrivals by automobile have to run close examination. Carrier pigeons are the particular objects of suspicion to the police. The law of 1896 forbidding the importation of pigeons has been renewed. All the gun shops in Paris have been requisitioned to deposit their stock in warehouses to be held till martial law is abolished. Special municipal nurseries have been organized for the care of infants whose mothers have volunteered for the Red Cross or other work.

Off for the Front.

The third day of mobilization is the big departure day. Men from 28 to 30 leave by the northern and eastern stations, which are barricaded to all but the military. Five hundred train loads left today. All was done in good order, with an absence of noisy manifestations. Many husbands break down when bidding wives and children adieu.

On the boulevards a superb automobile driven by a white bearded man bears an inscription that it is for the free use of mobilized soldiers going to the eastern stations. As each soldier hails it and enters the old man hands him a well stocked hamper and the crowd cheers.

The famous dressmakers have closed their doors. From the front doorways the midinettes stream out, carrying tricolor banners. From one establishment fifty young women emerge. At the head are three pretty girls who hold between them a huge banner. The rest follow singing " La Marseillaise " as they march up the Rue le la Paix towards the boulevard.

Americans Offer Services.

"In the Montparnasse quarter, Holy Trinity lodge, a meeting house and hospital chiefly for the use of American artists, sculptors, etc., is now transformed into a military hospital. The members of the lodge unanimously offered their services for infirmary work.

As the German ambassador left last night, a street urchin crept through the lines of soldiers to the railway car. As the envoy entered, the lad called out, "Give my compliments to William." The crowd enjoyed the joke more than the departing guest.

A smartly gowned young woman has on her arms a lad of fourteen, dressed in a Russian naval suit with a cap marked, "Russia." A guard passes. The boy leaves his mother and cries at the top of his voice, "Long live the French army." The officer stops his men and kisses the boy on both cheeks.

A correspondent was approached by an officer in uniform and asked to witness the civil marriage of one of his men. Soldier Delaporte Jean Marie was united with Chomel Caux. Kissing his bride and shaking hands he hastens off to fight for his country, leaving the bride sobbing convulsively.

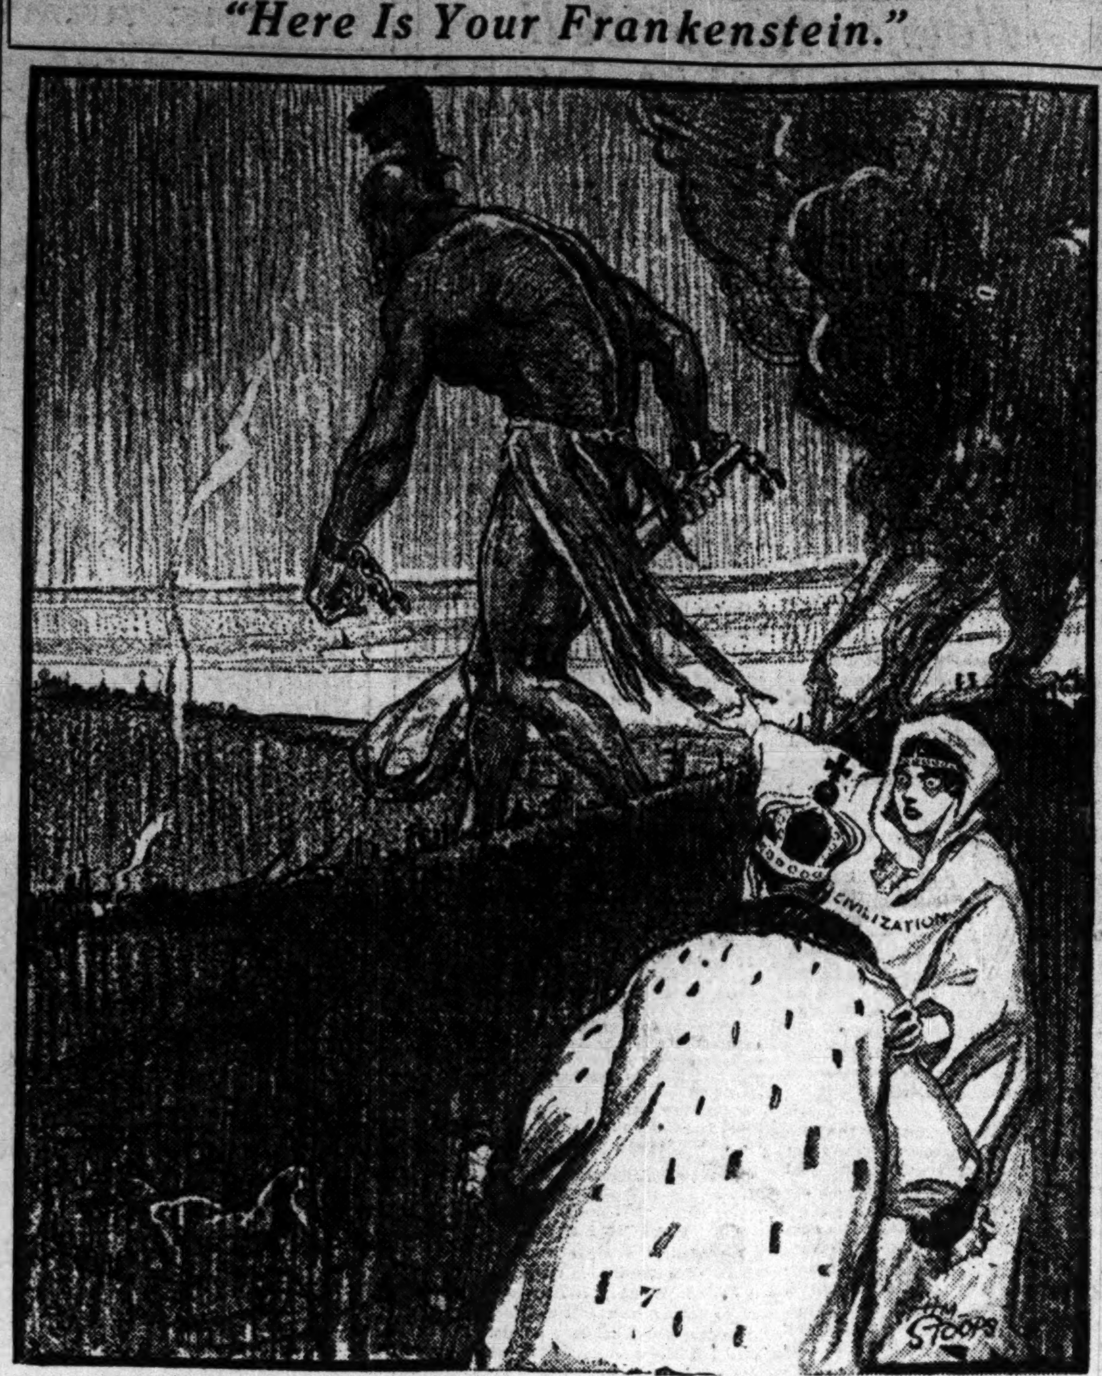
WAR FEARED IN THE ORIENT.

Siamese Minister to France Delivers Neutrality Proclamation of His Country.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—The Siamese minister to France received a proclamation of neutrality from his government today and carried it straightway to the foreign minister. This declaration is taken as a further indication that the nations of the orient expect trouble in their neighborhood.

"Here Is Your Frankenstein."



FRENCH DEPUTIES TO JOIN ARMY; CHEER BELGIUM

Half of Lawmakers Will Depart for the Front Next Sunday.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—A slight skirmish occurred between German and French troops today at Norroy-le-Sec in Meurthe-et-Moselle. The Germans suffered a few casualties, but there was no loss on the French side.

This evening it was learned that 250 deputies, who comprise half of the chamber of deputies, will leave for the front on August 9.

It is the general expectation here that the great Russian forces will be pouring over eastern Germany in a fortnight. This opinion is subscribed to by the best military authorities.

Belgium's Victory Cheered.

News from Brussels today that the Belgian forces had administered a crushing defeat to the Germans at Vesdre and driven them back to the Dutch frontier was received with wild acclamations by crowds of men and women who stood at places where news bulletins are being displayed.

The news, too, that the king of the Belgians with his two young sons had left for the front was heard with undoubted approval and many cheers.

A dispatch from Brussels says that Prince Napoleon has been invited to leave Belgium. There is an impression there that he is planning to enter France and start a movement to overthrow the republic.

Parisians Not Apprehensive.

Even with France at war and a great part of her male population enrolled and off to the front, all of the lightsomeness of the Parisian spirit is not lost. There are humorous and amusing incidents to be seen on every hand. Above many of the shops that have been closed, for instance, are suspended posters making light announcement of cause of business suspension. A placard stuck in the window of a barber shop in the Rue Royale reads:

" Our clients are hereby notified that we have transferred our staff to Nancy."

Americans Given Certificates.

Between 5,000 and 6,000 Americans have obtained certificates of American citizenship at the embassy and consulate in the last three days. The French government has granted another day for foreigners to obtain cards permitting them to stay in Paris.

The Americans here appear to have lost all their panicky feeling since they have been reassured that there will be no difficulty in getting sufficient funds.

The Bank of France has suspended the publication of its weekly statement. This suspension is regarded as justified by the necessity of withholding from the public the exceptional changes in accounts.

The French line steamer La Savoie which landed passengers yesterday, will not return to New York. It has been taken for military purposes. The liner Chicago, it is expected, will sail from Havre on Saturday, and the France is due to sail today, but it is announced that no more French liners will sail until further notice.

Gen. Joffre Takes Command.

The French army has been placed under the supreme command of Gen. Joseph Joffre.

The mobilization plans for the French army were drawn up by Gen. Joffre last April, and the result of their execution has exceeded all expectations.

LITTLE ADVANCE IN PARIS PRICES

What There Is Due to Government's Requisitioning Delivery Wagons.

CHILDREN REAP CROPS.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Food remains plentiful in Paris and prices have increased only very slightly since the outbreak of war. Meat and vegetables are the principal commodities affected, as retailers find difficulty in bringing them from the central depots, because all delivery wagons nave been requisitioned for military purposes.

In the great central markets there were large quantities of vegetables today and pushcart dealers reaped a rich harvest, as they had the advantage over storekeepers, whose vehicles had been taken by the military.

Prices at Wholesale.

The principal wholesale prices today for sacks containing 220 pounds were: potatoes and string beans, $6; dried beans, $4; spinach, $8; onions, $4.

Fruit and poultry sold at less than the usual price, while butter was abundant, but the price had increased, as the public, fearing a shortage, had begun buying quantities of twenty pounds. The authorities today forbade retailers to sell more than one pound to each customer and fixed the maximum price at 44 cents a pound.

Eggs also must be sold according to an official tariff; new laid eggs costing four cents each, fresh French eggs three cents each, while other eggs are marked at 32 cents a dozen.

The problem of getting in the harvest has given much cause for thought to the French ministry of agriculture, which is considering a scheme for replacing the men who have joined the army, by training all children from ten to sixteen years of age in field work under the guidance of the old people.

War Booms Flour Mart.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Every flour mill in this city is fairly swamped with orders for flour. Purchasers had hoped that the prices would go lower, but now that the war has upset the market everybody is buying at the present price, afraid that it might go still higher.

Jersey Tomatoes Abundant.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 6.—War time demands for food in tins will find New Jersey canneries big contributors, as there promises to be a record breaking crop of tomatoes and other canned goods this year.

WILSON ORDERS OFFICERS TO QUIT PUBLIC COMMENT.

"Unwise and Improper for Army or Navy Men to Criticise Powers," He Says.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—President Wilson today directed that all officers of the army and navy, whether active or retired, refrain from discussing publicly either the military or political situation in Europe.

The following letter was sent by the president to Secretaries Garrison and Daniels:

"I write to suggest that you request and advise all officers of the service, whether active or retired, to refrain from public comment of any kind upon the military or political situation on the other side of the water.

"I would be obliged if you would let them know that the request and advice come from me. It seems to me highly unwise and improper that officers of the army and navy of the United States should make any public utterance to which any color of political or military criticism can be given where other nations are involved.

" WOODROW WILSON."

BRITAIN EXPECTS WAR TO CEMENT ENGLISH PEOPLE

Nation Looks for Moral Support and Sympathy of America.

BY ERSKINE CHILDERS.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The vast extent of the war area and the complexity of the interests involved well nigh stagger the imagination. Fleets and armies form only one factor in the immense and intricate struggle. The whole globe will be shaken and the issue may be turned by influences yet undreamed of.

Consider the moral and sentimental factor. Whatever the enthusiasm and confidence of Germany and Austria may be, the sense of a just cause will permeate the peoples arrayed against them and contagious sympathy will prevade kindred people, and in all probability, many foreign communities in other continents and seas.

Our great self governing colonies will be stanch for the empire, a point not merely of sentimental, but of practical and strategical importance. There are already clear signs that the Irish problem will be happily solved by the concession of Irish claims.

Teutonic Nations Internally Weak.

Against that result weigh the domestic weakness and friction caused to the Teutonic allies by their sullen and seditious Irelands—Poland and Alsace in Germany and Croatia, Bosnia, and Poland in Austria—to say nothing of the external Slav pressure from the Balkans.

Again, in the scales of influence of the nations unengaged, that of the United States is by far the greatest. Whatever Americans may think of the origin of the war, as wickedly and wantonly provoked as any in history, Englishmen hope for—nay, confidently expect—American sympathy, not merely on the grounds of kinship and common ideals, but out of sober regard to the lawless steps finally taken by Germany in violation of her treaties.

England Strong in Resources.

Finance will affect the war only in a small degree as compared with decisive battles, but it will count. The United Kingdom probably is better prepared than any other belligerent. Alone among European powers she has not borrowed during the last ten years, but, on the contrary, has paid off $100,000,000 of debt. Her credit stands higher than any other nation in Europe.

Germany, a debtor country, with a somewhat topheavy business fabric, is in far less stable condition, and Austria has been suffering seriously from the heavy cost of partial mobilization extending over the last two years.

France, a creditor country with enormous accumulated wealth, should be well able to bear the long strain.

CHICAGOAN TO FAMILY'S AID.

Louis B. Bergersen Deposits $1,500 with State Department for Dispatch to Vienna.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Louis B. Bergersen of Chicago today deposited $1,500 with the state department to be transmitted to his family in Vienna.

Mr. Bergersen's wife, son, daughter, and baby have been spending the summer in Europe. He has not heard from them since the war started, but his latest information was that they would be in Vienna for some time.

The state department received an inquiry concerning the safety of Louis J. Cornell of Chicago, who is in Germany, and of Mrs. Loescher of Muskegon, Mich., who is in Paris.

GREAT BRITAIN IN DEADLY EARNEST; BUILDS UP ARMY

Call to Arms Issued and 100,000 Men for Three Years Are Needed Now.

ALSO INCREASES NAVY

LONDON, Aug. 7, 5 a. m.—The passage of a war budget for $500,000,000 in the house of commons today without a dissenting voice and the granting of an army increase of 500,000 men in accordance with the plans of Lord Kitchener, the new minister of war, shows that Great Britain is in deadly earnest in this great European strife.

A call to arms issued by the war office tonight says an addition of 100,000 men to the regular army is needed immediately and that "Lord Kitchener is confident this appeal will at once be responded to by all who have the safety of our empire at heart."

THREE YEARS OF SERVICE.

The term of service for the new men is to be three years, or until the war is ended. The age of enlistment will be between 19 and 30.

The naval estimates provide for 67,000 additional officers and men, which will make the navy's strength 218,000 men.

There are no illusions in England that the war is certain to be a swift and decisive one. The people are steeled for a long and exhaustive struggle.

BAD NEWS RECEIVED.

The admiralty notified the public tonight that the first news from the navy might not be good news.

Swift upon the heels of this intimation came the tidings that the cruiser Amphion had been sunk by a mine with a loss of an officer and 131 men—Great Britain's first sacrifice to the war.

The royal family shares with the homes of its many subjects the suspense of waiting for news of the fate of the different units of the fleet. Prince Albert, second son of the king, aboard the battleship Collingwood, is one of the many boy midshipmen afloat sharing the perils of their elders.

WIPE OUT LONG FEUD.

There was a dramatic incident in the house of commons today when the feud between Lord Charles Beresford and Winston Spencer Churchill, the first lord of the admiralty, was buried. Admiral Beresford shook hands with the first lord and said:

" Well done."

The torpedo boat destroyer Lance, which sent the Hamburg-American line steamer Koenigin Luise to the bottom with four shots, only came out of the shipyards last Saturday, hardly dry.

CAPTIVES IN LONDON.

Londoners had the first realization of war brought home to them tonight when hundreds of commuters who were taking their trains at the Victoria station were surprised to see eighty-five German prisoners guarded by a file of the West Kent regiment with fixed bayonets. The Germans were naval reservists who had been taken from their ships and made prisoners of war.

A goodly number of naval reservists and also some German army reservists who were attempting to proceed to Germany were gathered in by the authorities today.

GERMANS ARE RECONCILED.

Some persons in the crowd in the station, thinking the Germans spies, began to hiss them. The demonstration was quickly silenced by cries of " Shame!"

The Germans seemed wholly reconciled to their fate and on the best of terms with their captors.

Several more persons supposed to be spies were arrested today in different parts of England.

A German View; Chicago Editor Puts Blame on British Jealousy.

(Editorial in The Illinois Staats Zeitung.)

ENGLAND, spurred on by ill concealed jealousy of the commercial and martial advancement of the German empire during the last twenty-five years, is to blame for the present strife, according to an editorial which appears in the Illinois Staats-Zeitung. The editorial may furnish substance to the charge that English dispatches of the war have been prejudiced against Germany. THE TRIBUNE, particularly careful to present an impartial view of the situation, reproduces the article in full:

England was looking for a long time for a pretext to raise her sword against Germany, whose economical development and whose growing merchant marine and naval force caused her great anxiety. England found the pretext at last and jumped at it with a zeal that renders her professions of peacefulness at least doubtful.

The history of the last twenty-five years gives the world a better understanding of England's present attitude. Bismarck well understood how to make Germany almost unapproachable. He created the triple alliance and kept the wires connecting Germany with St. Petersburg alive. With King Edward's ascension to the throne it became, however, the guiding principle of English policy to endeavor to drive back Germany into insignificance. In pursuit of this aim, first, disturbances were to be avoided that possibly could arise from Russia. Russia was striving to reach a position through China and Persia where she would have ruled politically the greater part of Asia and could have endangered the English interests in India.

England, therefore, could not engage in any strife against Germany unless Russia was first halted in Asia. Hence the English political chess game started right after the Boer war by entering into a treaty with Japan. Japan was to act in Asia as England's soldier, as Prussia did about 150 years ago in Europe. Japan lived up to her task more thoroughly than it was expected by England. She did not want Russia to be crushed, but to be simply compelled to give up her position in middle and in more remote Asia.

After the defeat Russia received at the hands of Japan, England lured her into a treaty by which Russia gave up her exit at the South sea and was to receive in exchange the northern part of Persia and a great part of Turkey in case this empire shall be divided.

England had in the meantime some bait for other nations, too. France caught at it because she was promised Morocco and assistance against Germany. England tried to shake even Italy by offering her the Albanian-Adriatic bait.

And so the time for a general uproar ripened. The time when England had to come to the front and to confess her real purposes.

But England goes on even now in her insincerity and tries to impress the world that the declaration of war on Germany was by no means planned, but happened for the sole reason that " honest " England sticks to her treaties and cannot tolerate, therefore, any violation of the laws of neutrality on the part of Germany.

England claims war was declared because Germany violated the neutrality guaranteed to Belgium. The fact is that Germany invaded Belgium only after French airships had crossed Belgian and Dutch territory, violating in that way the claimed neutrality.

French violation is apparently no offense to English eyes, while the German violation resulting from the conduct of France constitutes a casus belli.

But suppose Germany invaded Belgium without being shown the way by France. This alleged violation has nothing to do with English attitude. She was determined, prior to that, to declare war. Before the Belgian incident occurred on Aug. 3, Sir Edward Grey was declared in the British parliament to have promised France the most far reaching assistance should she be attacked by Germany.

Was not this a warlike ultimatum on Germany And was it not encouraging France to go against Germany?

Upon that French soldiers actually invaded German territory and forced Germany to quick measures for her own safety. England should not hide behind flimsy pretexts. She should not pose before the world as a princess of peace while she conceals a dagger in the folds of her robe.

England ought to declare openly that it is anxious to fight the Germans, that her endangered interests compelled her to map the war plan long ago. England should not try to arouse sympathies that do not belong to her.

GET WAR CREDIT OF $500,000,000

House of Commons Agrees to Increase British Army to 500,000 Men.

NOT TO BARTER HONOR.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The house of commons this evening unanimously passed a war credit of $500,000,000 for the increase of the British army.

This is the second war credit passed by the house, the sum of $525,000,000 having been voted two days ago.

The passage of the war budget followed the request of Premier Asquith, who informed the members of parliament that Field Marshal Earl Kitchener wanted power to increase the British army to 500,000 men. On the new war minister's behalf the premier asked the house of commons to consent.

Worked Hard for Peace.

Premier Asquith told the house that the white paper issued by the government showed how strenuous and unremitting had been the efforts of Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, to secure for Europe an honorable and lasting peace.

After reading Sir Edward Goschen's dispatch saying that Germany had made "a strong bid for British neutrality," the premier remarked that Germany's suggestion amounted to "the infamous proposal that we should give it a free hand to annex the whole of the extra-European possessions of France."

Could Not Barter Word.

"If Great Britain had accepted," he continued, "what reply could it have made to the Belgians' appeal? It could only have replied that we had bartered away to the power threatening it our obligation to keep our plighted word.

" What would have been Great Britain's position if it had assented to this infamous proposal, and what was it to get in return? Nothing but a promise given by a power which at that moment was announcing its intention of violating its own treaty.

Would Not Face Dishonor.

"We should have covered ourselves with dishonor and betrayed the interests of our country if we had accepted it. We are entitled to say for our country that we have made every effort for peace and that war has been forced upon our country.

" The government is confident that the nation is unsheathing the sword in a just cause. We are fighting, first, to fulfill international obligations which if entered into by private individuals no self-respecting man could have repudiated, and, secondly, to vindicate the principle that small nations were not to be crushed in defiance of international good faith at the arbitrary will of a strong and overmastering power.

" No nation ever entered into a great contest with a cleaner conscience or a stronger conviction. It is striking for the defense of a principle,, the maintenance of which is the vital civilization of the world.

" As we have entered the struggle let us now make sure that all our resources—not only those of the United Kingdom but those of the vast empire of which it is the center—are thrown into the scale."

The premier made a brief reference to the appointment of Field Marshal Kitchener as secretary for war. He said Earl Kitchener's conection with the government did not identify him with any political party.

In a great public emergency he had responded to a great public call, and he would have in the discharge of his most arduous task the complete confidence of all.

In behalf of Lord Kitchener the premier asked power to increase the army by not less than 500,000 men.

" I am encouraged to ask this," he said, " not only by reason of our own sense of the gravity of the circumstances, but by the knowledge that India is prepared to send us two divisions and every one of the self-supporting dominions has spontaneously tendered to the utmost limits of its possibility, both in men and money, all the help it can afford the empire.

" The mother country must set an example, while at the same time responding with gratitude and affection to the filial overtures of the outlying members of the family."

Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George announced today in the house of commons that the government had decided to proclaim a general moratorium for a month.

Wages, salaries, rates and taxes, government payments, and national insurance transactions are not to come within the scope of the moratorium.

FOREIGN ARMY OFFICERS IN CHICAGO ON WAY TO WAR.

French and German Army Men Ride Into Chicago from West on the Same Train.

Ten foreign army officers on their way to rejoin their commands in Europe arrived in Chicago yesterday on the Overland Limited of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. Four were German officers, three were French, and three were English.

A. O. Caullieux, one of the Frenchmen, was on a tour of the world when he received the word to return while in the Yosemite valley. Among the German officers were Baron von Schroeder of San Francisco and Capt. Fred Jebsen, owner of a steamship line in tne same city.

Lieut. Gustave Ehrhardt of the Twenty-fourth French infantry and for some months connected with the Essanay Film campany as an actor, also received instructions to return to Havre, France. No one at the studio was aware of his connection with the French army until his summons to return arrived.

DECISIVE FIGHT BETWEEN NAVIES NOT LIKELY SOON

London Times Says Germans Will Use Small Craft Before Big Conflict.

MAY BE FORCED, HOWEVER

The [illegible] Times

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The public must not expect a decisive naval action immediately, since in all circumstances Admiral von Tirpitz may decide the time has not yet arrived for the German fleet to challenge to a trial of strength.

Unless the teachers of modern naval strategy are mistaken, it should be the object of Germany to begin by a succession of attempts to reduce the British preponderance in material strength.

Preliminary Warfare Expected.

What we have been led to expect under such conditions is a kind of preliminary warfare between torpedo craft and similar auxiliaries on both sides.

On the other hand, it is equally possible that two causes—the pressure of public opinion in Germany and the natural desire of a young navy to prove itself—may have their effect when they begin to feel the effect of maritime strangulation.

Sentiment May Force Battle.

The German people will surely want some use to be made of their ships. These causes may lead to an earlier appearance of the German fleet in the North sea than has been predicted by the strategical experts.

Should the German fleet, however, refuse action for a time, this does not preclude engagements of separate squadrons, single ships, and flotillas apart from the main fleet. They, however, are most unlikely to have any decisive effect on the progress of the war."

HOPE WAR WILL GIVE BIRTH TO A REPUBLIC OF POLAND.

Frank P. Danisch Warns Fellow Countrymen Against Joining Warring European Armies.

Twelve hundred Polish-Americans met at Pulaski hall, Eighteenth street and Ashland avenue, last night to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the execution by the Russian government of the last dictator of Poland, Romuald Traugutt, and four of his associate members of the Polish national government, during the insurrection of 1863 against Russia.

Frank P. Danisch called upon the Polish Americans to engender in their hearts the hope that the present conflict in Europe will end with the establishing of a Polish republic, with a government patterned after that of the United States. He cautioned Poles against enlisting in the armies of Germany, Russia, and Austria, and recommended that they become naturalized citizens of the United States.

"Russia, Austria, and Prussia," said Mr. Danisch, "have shown for over 100 years that they are not the friends of the Polish nation. They are the bitter enemies of the Poles; they have in the past century used every method to annihilate the Polish nation."

Prof. Thomas Siemiradzki also spoke. John M. Sienkiewicz presided. A collection for the aiding of Polish families in the provinces of Poland devastated by war netted close to $400.

In the midst of official cares of exceptional gravity the president has been called upon to bear the heaviest personal sorrow that could come to him.

In this dark hour the sympathy of all the people goes without measure to him and to his daughters, who share with him a loss that life cannot make up.

AMERICAN OPINION AND THE WAR.

The timely and admirable resolutions passed by the German-Austrian massmeeting of Wednesday should be read and its appeal heeded by every American.

Our government has declared neutrality. It is quite as important that the American public should remain neutral, should suspend judgment, should repel the temptation to premature partisanship. We are in no position as yet to form judgment as to responsibility or even as to relative degrees of responsibility. All we know is that behind a curtain of diplomatic secrecy, inspired by motives or pressed by necessities upon which we only may speculate, the governments of Europe have resorted to war. We are only too sure of this tragic fact, and in that certainty we cannot go wrong in giving to the warring peoples our pity and, to the extent of our abilities, our aid to the suffering.

It is true that at present the news from Europe comes from anti-German sources and should be received with that allowance. But this in time should be corrected, and it is with this end in view that Mr. Joseph Medill Patterson has started for Germany, and hopes to be able to report events from the German side. The regular correspondents of The Tribune in Germany and Austria will continue their service and means of communication, just now perhaps at their worst, it is hoped will be greatly improved.

NOT PRACTICAL REFORM.

A long overdue reform is federal regulation of railroad security issues.

Such regulation was even more desirable from the point of view of the right adjustment of the relations of the common carriers to the public than rate regulation, and should have been established when the interstate commerce commission was created.

But now that at last we are about to shut the door after a good many notable equines have been stolen by our resourceful overmen of finance, we seem to be determined to jam our fingers in the process. The Rayburn securities bill does not vest exclusive control in the federal commission, but proposes that the carrier shall run the gantlet of objections by commissions or other proper authorities in many or all the states through which it operates.

Why our national legislators should go blundering along, sometimes recognizing that commerce and transportation are national and ought to be regulated by national agencies, and at other times, without rhyme or reason, insisting upon state action, is beyond rational explanation. A good many lawmakers seem not to realize that you cannot go on loading the mechanism of finance with restrictions and requirements without so checking its operation as to injure the whole business of the country. Regulation must be practical and not defeat its own ends by complicating its processes.

LABOR AND PEACE.

There might have been a number of big railroad strikes in 1913—but there were not. Railroad employés, such as firemen, conductors, trainmen, had their grievances, to be sure. But the railroad companies and their employés have learned that strikes mean a loss not only to the defeated but the victorious side. The workers lose wages. The employers lose trade. The public suffers and grumbles about mismanagement. So the railroads and their employés in the year past have settled all disputes peacefully, by means of mediation and arbitration—a method of procedure introduced first by the Erdman act and since elaborated by the Newlands act.

The peace record of the railroads for 1914 has been threatened for weeks by the possibility of a strike on the part of 55,000 employés of the western railroads. This threatened labor war has fortunately been averted. Like most previous disputes in the railroad world, this one, too, has yielded to mediation and arbitration proceedings.

The conciliatory attitude which the railroads and their employés are taking towards each other is the attitude which employers and employés throughout the United States will have to learn to adopt in the near future. If it was true a little over half a century ago that this country could not exist half free and half slave it is even more true today that this country must have labor and peace instead of strikes and civil wars, as we have had in Colorado and, on a smaller scale, in Michigan and West Virginia.

In a recent article Prof. John Bates Clark, an economist of high standing, asserts that "our country very sorely needs institutions for fixing wages without strikes." The individual workman, he says, is "confessedly helpless in making his bargain for wages." On this ground Prof. Clark favors the principle of "collective bargaining," which is but another phrase for recognizing the union of employés and dealing with their union representatives. This point, it will be recalled, has been the chief issue in a number of recent strikes. The railroads of the country concede it.

The professor's implication that the recognition of the principle of collective bargaining will remove the "cause of causes" of all strikes can hardly be taken at its face value. The principle of collective bargaining is in operation among the contractors and construction unions of this city. Yet business agents are charged with calling strikes for graft only. Apparently it is not merely the willingness of employers to deal collectively with the union that will bring about peace between capital and labor. After the employers have done their share it is still up to the unions to cleanse themselves from the taint of grafting business agents before the waste from strikes, especially unjustifiable strikes, will be a thing of the past in this country.

However, the policy of conciliation followed by the railroads might well be followed more widely in the United States. For it is a policy that makes industrial warfare the final resort—and that is taking a long step towards peace.

WHAT DO THEY FIGHT FOR?

If a man had gone into the woods in early July, cut himself off from communications, and now were just emerging to renew contact with intelligence of the world, his first shock would be stupefying.

He might have known when he went in that a young Servian sentimentalist had killed the heir apparent to the Austrian throne, but his comprehension would fail to work when he found Belgians resisting the attempt of Germans to cross Belgium and attack the French, when he found Britain fitting out an expeditionary force to support the Belgian resistance, British and French cruisers chasing German merchantmen and engaging German cruisers, Russians and Germans establishing contact for the first shock of masses—and consequently all the world topsy turvy in the time of one month.

To a man from the woods it would be the world gone mad. What dragged a high civilization like the Belgian into a quarrel started by a Servian? How did it spread from the pit in southeastern Europe to the industrial cities of northwest Europe? What inevitability dragged British, French, and Belgians into the consequences of this conflict between Germanic and Magyar Austria-Hungary and the Slavs?

What's the price to be paid to stop the war? Suppose Germany won? Suppose it flattened out France and Russia and held Great Britain off? What then? What's in dispute? What's to be done or not done or undone that there may be peace again?

We know that Austria-Hungary had to put a stop to Slavic conspiracies against its integrity; that Russia could not see its south Slavic kinsmen crushed; that Germany could not see the dual monarchy threatened with dismemberment; that France could not deny the important obligations of its protecting alliance with Russia; that Great Britain could not see France crushed and Belgium's neutrality violated; that Belgium could not permit the disregard of its national honor and the disregard of its territorial sanctity to go unprotested—that one after another the nations were drawn in from this far away eastern cause of war.

But the man from the woods, having the world gone mad suddenly opened to his vision, may ignore these convincing reasons and persist in inquiring: What are they fighting for? If he should, we'll have an awkward time getting around to an explanation. What are they fighting for?

Later, if it should be the fate of two or more of the nations to be flattened out and defenseless, we can easily imagine what would be asked of them as the price of peace. There would be indemnity and sacrifice of territory, restriction of influence, and diminution of power. But if the plenipotentiaries of the powers at war were gathered around a table now, and the question arose, while each nation is still strong: What's the price of peace?—if that question arose, what would be the answer?

What does France want of Germany, or Germany of Great Britain, or Britain of Austria, or Germany of Russia, by the yielding of which war could be stopped?

A WORD TO THE WISE.

Numbers of our fellow citizens welcome even a general European war as a kindly cloud to drop down over their activities, hiding them without interfering with them. When public attention is distracted politicians who do not make for good rejoice and arise early to be up and doing. Every scalawag we have had or might have in office accepts this as his opportunity.

While we sit on the benches around the theater of war and look with horrified interest at the movements of nations, the porch climber will be busy in the unguarded house. It's the first theory of crooked politics that anything which distracts public attention is clear gain.

A word to the householder may or may not be sufficient—but it's important.

VACATIONS AT HOME.

This is the time to give new point to "See America First." Vacation routes across the water are closed. America invites. There can be a guaranty with very railroad ticket that no war will interrupt the schedule; there'll be no riding in cattle trains; no coming back in the steerage; no wondering where a piece of gold may be obtained with which to buy a meal or get a bed.

American scenery is war proof. Chicago is the world's safest summer resort.

AUTOCRACY OR DEMOCRACY?

[From the New York World.]

Autocracy has had its way. Austria's quarrel with Servia was no affair of the German people. Russia's challenge to Austria was no affair of the German people. Yet the very fate of the German empire is thrown into the balance in order to halt the march of political freedom in Europe.

All the world knew that a declaration of war against Russia was in effect a declaration of war against France. Germany admitted it by mobilizing her army not on the Russian frontier but on the French frontier. The decisive blow was to be struck against the French republic, not against its imperial ally. It was not Russian despotism that was to be crushed, but French republicanism.

The hollow hypocrisy of the whole proceeding is revealed in the fact that before the clash of arms is fairly begun the Austrian invasion of Servia is practically abandoned.

Having begun the war, German autocracy now finds itself isolated. Italy construes the triple alliance as applicable only to a war of defense; because there would be a revolution in Italy if the government ventured to champion the cause of the hated Austrian. Great Britain is compelled to make France's cause her cause. Germany and Austria are left alone to fight the battle of autocracy and pay the bill in blood and treasure and prestige. In this war they have no sympathizers even among neutrals. The enlightened opinion of the whole world has turned against the two kaisers as it turned against Napoleon III. when he sought to make himself the autocrat of Europe.

What was begun hastily as a war of autocracy is not unlikely to end as a war of revolution, with thrones crumbling and dynasties in exile. Civilization cannot rest at the mercy of despotism, and the welfare of mankind is not to be made the plaything of autocracy. If all Europe must be drenched in blood before this lesson is implanted in the minds of kings and courtiers, we may say of this war as Lincoln said of the war that exterminated human slavery: "The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether."

This is the twilight of the gods.

AMERICA IN DANGER OF GETTING INTO WAR

BY AN INTERNATIONAL LAWYER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The United States today is the only first class power of the white race in the world which is not engaged in war.

Naturally this country is congratulating itself on this fact. But few Americans realize, however, that their country is on the precipice and may be forced over into the world-wide conflict at any moment.

There are many possibilities of international friction to which this country is exposed as a result of the European struggle.

Greatest of all is the danger which will be run in the carrying of contraband after a merchant marine is obtained. Danger also lurks in the proposed amendment to the registry laws.

Almost equally great is the danger in the orient, where the United States must police Asia against the aggressions of the Japanese.

The Panama canal may force the United States into international disputes if the warships of two or more of the warring nations meet near it and those of one attempt to escape from the other through the canal.

◆

Possibly the greatest danger will follow after the war closes. If one power emerges triumphant over the others in such a degree that it will be looked upon as the world's foremost fighting nation, undoubtedly it will turn its attention to South America. The Monroe doctrine is facing its severest test.

The United States has the advantage, if war comes, of being able to feed and clothe herself, as well as furnish all of her building material and fuel.

Europe, on the other hand, with its dense populations in its western half, largely urban and industrial, must depend on ocean borne commerce to a great extent for food supply. This is especially so with Germany and England, whose large populations are for the most part concentrated in great cities.

England—so far, at least—holds the sea, and from her preponderance of naval tonnage should continue to. This should insure a sufficient food supply for her own people, and under present conditions for France also.

England today is in much the same relation to Germany as she was to France in 1805-10. Germany and France have changed places as it were. At that time the United States gained great advantage and profit from its trade with Europe.

◆

During the period of the Napoleonic wars American ships were neutral and of the same status as to the continent of Europe that they are today. It was the beginning of the great United States merchant marine which, fostered under wise laws, carried some 65 per cent of the ocean borne commerce by 1861, at the beginning of the civil war. This war put an end to it.

Today we have the same opportunities that were presented to our forefathers during the Napoleonic wars.

In this case Germany, certainly, will put the highest price on blockade running. If a cargo of wheat is landed in Hamburg at this time it will be worth its weight in nickel; four months from now its weight in silver, and a year from now its weight in gold.

Contrary to the expectations of many the present war is apt to last more than one year. With tremendous premiums placed on blockade running there will be plenty of eager takers. This same sort of thing brought war with England in 1812.

England, if she suspects any cargoes, will insist on the right of search and will act as her best interests dictate in the premises. What England may regard as contraband of war may be very different from what we regard as contraband of war.

◆

The United States regards the declaration of London as authoritative in so far as its, the United States, view of the questions of neutrality are concerned. England does not recognize in any way the declaration of London as binding.

Italy, a neutral nation, might, therefore, with propriety consider foodstuffs as not contraband. She would then become the haven for the United States trade in wheat and other foodstuffs.

Then if England stopped this trade—that is, between the United States and Italy—she, in a way, would be interfering with the trade between two neutral nations, one of which would be the United States. This almost surely would cause friction between the governments concerned.

The promiscuous transfer of ships of foreign registry to the United States flag, especially if laws were so framed that a retransfer of registry could be effected in the future, is another point where caution must be exercised.

◆

The United States has guaranteed a neutrality of the Panama canal to all nations. This, of course, applies to war as well as peace. The ships of any of the belligerents can use the canal, therefore, as soon as it is opened.

Suppose that England, if badly defeated on the sea, called on Japan some time next December for a division or two of battleships to go to her aid in accordance with the provisions of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. Would the American people look with favor on this?

Suppose a German ship were being chased by a Japanese ship and it were captured close under the forts of the Pacific entrance of the canal and the forts sunk it. What would be the result if the Japanese claimed that they were not within the three mile limit?

◆

Suppose a tension existed in the relations between the United States and Japan, and a Japanese warship requested a passage through the Panama canal. It would have to be given it. Suppose that while going through a lock the forward magazine of this ship exploded, by accident, of course, and put twenty tons of scrap iron and steel into the lock, blowing out one gate in addition.

Whichever nation emerges victorious from the present European struggle probably will come out of it as the strongest power ever known on the earth. This, if on land, soon will cause her to be so on the sea, and if by sea already she probably will be doubly so then.

We are witnesses of the destruction of life and property of all nations in the revolution torn republic of Mexico. The balance of power, armed power, was such in Europe that none could actively interfere against the pressure of the United States for the protection of their subjects in Mexico.

◆

South America forms an excellent field for colonization by European powers. Can all or any of those countries stand against the greatest power on earth, without the help of the United States, if a question arises? Or will the United States abandon the Monroe doctrine and allow itself to be surrounded by powerful neighbors with their vast armed might?

The Monroe doctrine has never yet been subjected to the tests that will result from the present disturbance of the balance of power in Europe. When this balance was initiated in Europe the seas, in point of time necessary for crossing them, were three times as broad as they are now. The Atlantic was wider than the Pacific is now.

LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA CURABLE.

Locomotor ataxia is a curable disease. One of the discussions of a recent meeting of alienists and neurologists was on locomotor ataxia. The note of the discussion was one of optimism. "Locomotor ataxia is a curable disease" was a statement made more than once. But let us get our minds clear as to what this means.

The spirochete of locomotor ataxia is found in the fluid of the spinal cord, where the specific infection first occurs and for some time thereafter. Mott has shown that in certain cases of specific infection the spirochete goes straight to the spinal cord, picking it out in preference to the other tissues of the body as a place to locate.

A microscopic examination of the spinal fluid shows the spirochetes. A Wasserman examination with this fluid gives a positive reaction.

The locomotor ataxia symptoms do not come until years after the infection has taken place. Treatment to kill spirochetes stops the disease before there are any symptoms.

Where treatment has been neglected in those cases where the spirochetes have selected the cord, in time pains begin. These pains at first are described as stabbing. Later they are described as darting or lightning pains. Very careful examination with Wasserman testing and lumbar puncture will show the presence of the disease in this early stage.

◆

The difficulty is in persuading the people who have what they call persistent backaches, muscular rheumatisms, and sciaticas that hang on to have an exhaustive examination.

Treatment in this stage with salvarsan and mercury effects cure. But the treatment must be persisted in. Strong, persistent, intelligent treatment is required. Still later come the ataxia symptoms, the trouble in walking and in standing erect with closed eyes. Even in this stage cure in a certain sense is possible. The destroyed nerves can never be restored, but other nerves can be trained to take the place of those destroyed.

Here, too, persistent, patient, intelligent care will give results. The man can become fairly efficient and reasonably comfortable and so remain for a long space of years.

◆

The present state of the art then summarizes as follows:

1. It is possible to say that certain specific infections tend to locate in the brain and cord. Treatment at this stage will prevent locomotor ataxia.

2. It is possible to diagnose locomotor ataxia in the earlier pain stages. Persistent treatment at this stage will arrest the disease.

3. In the stage of loss of power to make the muscles work together the progress of the disease can be stopped and new ways of muscular control established.

LEAKY HEART TROUBLE.

J. P. D. writes: "I have leakage of the heart. Will sun bathing for an hour each day have any bad effect on it? For six years I have carried my chest high and out and practiced deep breathing. I have been successful, but I notice when I lie down at night I breathe much more deeply all night; in fact, my pulse, I believe, runs up to about 82 at night (normal about 65). Is this not too high? Does the heart get any rest when beating so fast? I thought this might be the cause of the trouble with my heart. Do you think it is? Can a person of 45 years expect to get cured of this leaky heart? If so, what is the remedy? Is it advisable for one with this kind of trouble to bathe at 100 degrees and follow it with a cold shower, or would it be too much of a shock? Is an altitude of 2,000 feet too high for a weak heart? Have a small home. Do you know of any kind of an apparatus for taking a bath other than a tub? In catarrh of the head, nose, and throat, does changing climate do any good?

REPLY.

1. No. Do not blister your skin.
2. Eighty-two is too high. Yes, but not as much as when the rate is 75. The leaky heart causes the rapid beat and the deeper breathing.
3. The crippled valves can not be cured. The heart muscle can be made stronger, and the nervous control better. I suspect your physician will find your compensation not what it should be.
4. Probably not, but an opinion should be based upon how your heart behaves when you are in the shower.
5. No.
6. See your hardware dealer.
7. No.

WATER AT MEALS.

I. writes: "Will you kindly publish the name of a good book on diet, something concise? What is the latest conclusion as to eating meat? I notice you advise drinking water between meals. What ill effect is there from drinking a pint [two glasses] per meal? What advantage is there in refraining from this and drinking between meals?"

REPLY.

1. "The Fundamental Basis of Nutrition," by Lusk; price, 60 cents.
2. There is no general conclusion, and there is no machinery for arriving at any. Some writers hold one way and some another. The subject is handled well by Lusk.
3. A moderate amount of fluids with meals does no harm; it does good. Too much retards digestion by overdistending the stomach and overdiluting the gastric juice. One pint is not too much.

SIGNIFICANCE OF TERM.

C. E. W. writes: "Will you please tell me the meaning of 'amenorrhoea'?"

REPLY.

The accurate meaning is absence of menstruation.

The accepted meaning is scant menstruation.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1914: By the Brentwood Co.]

People on this side of the Atlantic visiting Europe have been taught several lessons since the outbreak of that great war which, so long predicted, is at length under way, and which surpasses in magnitude and in its consequences the wildest imagination of the novelist.

Among the lessons is that of the wisdom of leaving at home their automobiles and their yachts and any horses that they may have taken along with them for fox hunting in England and Ireland.

Each of the countries of Europe has on its code book statutes enabling it to impound all means of transportation and conveyance within its borders in the event of war, no matter whether native or foreign owned.

In England these statutes are comprised in what is known as the impressment act, which, over two centuries old, was quietly extended by parliament last year so as to embrace automobiles, yachts, and air craft of every kind. The impressment act empowers the state to seize and to hold all horses, vehicles, and other means of transportation in the event of mobilization being ordered.

Of course, the government does not have recourse to the provisions of the act on a wholesale scale unless on the eve of war. Still, during the grand annual maneuvers of the early fall of last year in England when partial mobilization was ordered the military authorities invoked the impressment act and enforced it within the sham warfare area with the most complete success and without exciting any undue opposition on the part of those whose means of transportation were temporarily requisitioned.

All that is necessary is an order in council from the king, and not from parliament, to enable his government by virtue of the impressment act to seize for its use every automobile, horse, carriage, yacht, or air craft that may happen to be in the United Kingdom or Ireland, no matter whether the property of English citizens, foreign residents, or even foreign vistors.

More than this, the government maintains censuses of means of transportation, and the officials entrusted with their compilation have the legal right to enter any private stable, garage, or hangar, or to visit any yacht in order to take stock of the available means of transport for purposes of the state.

Should they encounter any opposition in the performance of these duties, the nearest magistrate is compelled to grant them search warrants.

◆

Up to the time of writing I have not heard of any seizure by the authorities in England of any American yacht in English waters, or of any automobile, horses, carriages, etc., belonging to tourists, or visitors from these shores in Great Britain and Ireland. But many such instances of commandeering may be looked for within the next two or three weeks in King George's dominion, while a large number of American automobiles have been impounded by the military authorities of France, Germany and Austria, regardless of the fact that they are needed to convey back their owners to some friendly seaport for the purpose of embarkation for America, a loss all the more difficult to bear since the railroads are entirely monopolized for the transportation of troops and of war supplies from one part of the country to another.

The transatlantic yachtsmen and motorists thus deprived of their boats and of their cars by government seizure may ultimately succeed in recovering some trifling compensation from the state concerned. But that will depend largely upon whether the state that has seized the yacht or automobile happens to be the victor or the vanquished.

Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, who, as commander-in-chief of what is known as the home fleet, is responsible to his sovereign and to the nation for the safety of the coasts of the United Kingdom and Ireland as well as of the Channel islands from any German attack by sea and from that German invasion which has long been the nightmare of John Bull, is, barring midshipmites, quite the most diminutive officer of the British navy.

In spite of his exceptional brevity of stature he won fame in his younger days as a boxer, as a footballer, and as an all around athlete.

He has seen plenty of fighting. As a sublieutenant he was present at the bombardment of Alexandria and afterwards took part in the battle of Tel-el-Kebir as an officer of the naval brigade.

Sir John was ill suffering from malta fever on board the Victoria when it was rammed by the Camperdown and sent to the bottom of the Mediterranean, carrying down with it Admiral Sir George Tryon and more than 600 officers and men, but miraculously escaped.

Indeed, having entered the water when his temperature was over 103, he was fished out at the normal 98, cured of his illness; so that it was irreverently said that he born to be hanged.

He was badly wounded in the attempt to relieve the foreign legations at Peking fourteen years ago while serving on the staff of Admiral of the Fleet Sir Edward Seymour, receiving a Boxer bullet through his lungs, but managed to recover.

He is married to a rich woman, the daughter of Sir Charles Cayser, head of the Clan line of steamers, and is regarded in the English and foreign navies as more responsible than any other officer for the marvelous progress in naval gunnery in the English fleet.

Count Gaston Chandon de Briailles, whose death took place on Sunday last in Paris, leaves an American widow, who was Miss Mary Garrison, daughter of the late William Garrison of New York.

Head of one of the great champagne houses of France, he furnished an illustration of the fact that as a general rule the titles of nobility conferred by the vatican are not hereditary.

Although his father was created a count by Pius IX. on Aug. 4, 1876, he himself went to the trouble and expense of securing six years afterwards a patent of count from Leo XIII. It remains to be seen whether his son, Claude Chandon de Briailles, will follow his example in this respect.

It need not be imagined from this that the Chandons de Briaille are of the new-rich and parvenu class. They are allied by marriage to some of the oldest families in France, such as, for instance, the Andignes and the Clermont-Tonnerres, and the late Count Gaston belonged both to the sovereign order of Malta and to the Austrian Teutonic order, which only admits men who can show a certain number of noble ancestors free from any bourgeois strain.

The late Count Gaston was a man of about 60, belonged to the Union club and to the Epatant, and was a popular man in French society.

CHEAP GRAFT AT DIVERSEY BEACH.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Being a frequent bather at Diversey bathing beach, I have met with remarks such as "What are you going to donate to our weekly fund?" or "How about a cigar today, old boy?" This happens at "check valuables here" window. Thinking this to be a free beach, it surely ought to be stopped.

JOHN E. OETJENS.

We have been most desirous of eliminating all possible trace of discourtesy on the part of any of our employés, and, after receiving the above letters we made a thorough investigation, and, feeling that we were justified, for the betterment of the service. Mr. E. A. Kanst, superintendent of Lincoln park, discontinued the services of the man whom he considered the guilty party.

We are, indeed, grateful for the information given us by the signers of the letters and will in future appreciate any suggestions that may be given us which we might use for the betterment of the service in general of Lincoln park.

BUILDING IS BEING DEMOLISHED.

Chicago, July 31.—[To the Friend of the People.]—There is located at 2631-33 Fifth avenue, an old, partly wrecked, frame building, the habitable portions tenanted by negroes. This building was condemned by the city a year or more ago, and the water was then shut off. The sanitary condition is indescribable and the place is a menace to the health of the community.

MRS. O. PEARSON.

This case has been under advisement for some time, but owing to the death of the owner and the involved condition of his affairs it has been impossible for the city to secure the demolition of the building. The recent inspections have shown only a caretaker in the building and no serious insanitary conditions. The inspection yesterday showed that the building is in process of demolition.

BOAT CHARGES IN DOUGLAS PARK.

Chicago, July 31.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Will you please advise me why I should be charged 35 cents per hour for the rent of a boat which should be 25 cents? This charge was made me at Douglas park on July 26.

MRS. H. M. DENSMORE,
651 West Seventy-fourth street.

We beg to advise that we have two prices for boats: the old boats are 15 cents an hour on week days, except holidays, and the new boats are 25 cents. On Saturday afternoons, Sundays, and holidays the old boats are 25 cents and the new boats 35 cents an hour. Parties desiring 25 cent boats on Saturday afternoons, holidays, and Sundays, when those boats are all out, must wait for the boats to come in at that price or pay 35 cents for the new boats.

ADEQUATE WATER SUPPLY.

Chicago, July 31.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Why is it that the territory supplied by the new One Hundred and Third street pumping station is suffering for water?

J. P. KELLY, Dolton, Ill.

Several complaints of insufficient water supply in the Roseland district have been investigated and in every instance the results of these investigations have been that the shortages were caused by defective plumbing or some other local trouble.

There were two 25,000,000 gallon pumps installed in the new station. There are at present two additional 25,000,000 gallon pumps being rapidly erected, which, together with the first installation, will long before the end of the year give a capacity to this district of 100,000,000 gallons per day. There should be no cause for complaint in this part of the city.

WANTON DESTRUCTION OF TREES.

Glencoe, Ill., Aug. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The admirable article by Jens Jensen in a recent number of The Tribune should be read by every lover of nature, particularly by those who live, or contemplate living, a rural or suburban life.

Mr. Jensen must have had in mind a condition which prevails in Glencoe, where, for the sake of evolving a "subdivision" from a tract of woodland, hundreds—no doubt a thousand—of our native trees were butchered to make room for concrete sidewalks and macadam streets. But the slaughter did not stop there, for the remaining trees are dying by hundreds.

What a comment on the craze for formality is the hurry of the just-arrived suburbanite to make his home place as much like the city he has just deserted as possible. He grubs out a dozen or a score of trees to make room for his house—that, of course, is necessary; another score, or scores, for his formal lawns, walks, and flower beds; he uproots every vestige of the beautiful undergrowth, in his eyes only "weeds," which a poet like Jensen calls "the lacework of nature," and soon his trees begin to die in such numbers that his chief care is to buy nursery trees. These are generally ill adapted to the soil and so are not likely to live.

But he has succeeded, at least, in bringing his bit of city into the country, and there we will "leave him to his own destruction."

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I enjoyed your editorial, "The World-Wide Slavic Plot," very much. It is timely and should be read by every fair minded American. I cannot understand why the columns of such a paper as The Tribune are open to these Slavic revolutionary writers. They never mention the wonderful and powerful army and that nine-tenths of the Austrian people are loyal citizens and adore the house of Hapsburg.

MISS DRAKE FOR AN AMERICAN LINE.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Great wars teach great lessons. Why should not this one bring home a great truth to the American people? One hundred and fifty thousand Americans are in Europe, some of them at the end of a vacation trip, with scanty funds, crowding steamship offices to secure passage homeward. We go carelessly and expensively back and forth across the Atlantic year by year. From upper decks we watch crowded steerage decks below, and the passage money goes to ships flying foreign flags.

Each year Germany, France, or England, or even little Holland, launches some luxurious pleasure craft for the American people, and we make a mad rush to secure the most comfortable staterooms. We celebrate the birthdays of kaiser, king, or queen, and feel that we are really on foreign soil in the magnificent dining saloons of a foreign liner. Why can't we have a transatlantic American line, flying the American flag and drawing American dollars?

MARION H. DRAKE.

INJUSTICE THE ORIGINAL CAUSE.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There are three things which the present European situation should burn deeply in the soul of every man and woman.

1.—That in every civilized nation with a constitution the people have agreed to exchange equivalent values, and have charged government with the establishment of justice—which makes it the duty of government to see that equivalent values are given and received in exchange.

2.—That in none of these nations does government obey the directions of its constitution, but follows the fool theory that progress can only follow exchange of unequal values; and it has enacted laws in conflict with its constitution to sanction and compel unequal exchange.

3.—That the people who think they are honest and conscientious must be aroused to the fact that government is being administered in an unconstitutional manner, and is making liars and thieves of all of us, against our wills and feelings, in order to maintain and continue a fool theory whose ultimate consequence is a situation which confronts Europe today, and which must operate the same elsewhere—even in our own nation—if we don't compel government to administer our government in accordance with the directions of our constitution.

WOMEN IN CREPE TO TREAD GOTHAM AS WAR PROTEST

Vast Parade, Marching to Muffled Drums, Set for Aug. 22.

LEADERS JOIN PLAN

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Bareheaded and dressed in black, thousands of women of all nationalities and creeds will march together down Fifth avenue to a great outdoor massmeeting of protest against the war, if plans to be laid by women prominent in peace, suffrage and social organizations meet no official check.

Bannerless as well as hatless, to beat of muffled drums, the women will march to show their attitude toward what they consider if not a personal tragedy, at least the blighting of European civilization.

Women Real Sufferers.

"The personal suffering that women in the old world and many here are called upon to undergo pales before the setback to civilization," said Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, who has offered the use of a room at the women's political union headquarters to the committee.

"Our great-grandchildren will feel the result of this war. Art galleries and libraries will be destroyed. America will have to carry the fight. Ruskin said that if all the women in the country put on mourning the moment the war was declared it might be stopped. We intend at least to register our horror at the situation."

Aug. 22 Parade Date.

The parade probably will take place on Aug. 22.

"I shall be glad to march in a parade of women," said Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Suffrage association. "But it should not be simply a parade of mothers or even of older women. Our country is filled even now with women who never became mothers because of our civil war."

HOLDS ITALY HAS KEPT ALLIANCE OBLIGATIONS.

Envoy to England Adds Neutrality of His Nation Is Not Mere Matter of Self Interest.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The Italian ambassador has asked that publicity be given to the following statement:

"Italy's neutrality was not merely a matter of self-interest but was strictly in accord with the letter and spirit of her obligations under the terms of the triple alliance. However unpopular a war on the side of Germany and Austria might have been for Italy, she would have undertaken such a war rather than break her plighted word."

The ambassador then refers to the Blue Book containing the evidence of all diplomatic negotiations to prove that Italy had made many earnest efforts to maintain peace, in which effort she was in complete sympathy with Great Britain. He concludes by saying that it was not within Italy's power to avert a rupture.

ITALIAN CONSUL GIVES TEXT OF KING'S NEUTRALITY NOTE.

Latin Monarch Threatens to Punish Subjects Who Indulge in Belligerent Demonstrations.

Guiseppe Dall'Agnol, acting royal Italian consul, yesterday gave out the text of a neutrality proclamation to Italian citizens of the United States, issued by the Italian ambassador at Washington. It follows:

"Several of the European powers being in a state of war and as Italy is in a state of peace with all the belligerent parties, the government of the king, the citizens and subjects of the kingdom have the duty to observe the principles of neutrality according to the existing international laws. Whosoever violates these principles must suffer the consequences of their acts and will incur, whenever the occasion requires, the penalties established by the laws now in force."

GERMANY IGNORES CAMBON; FRENCH AID KAISER'S ENVOY.

Difference in Treatment of Ambassadors When Nations Break Relations Is Cited.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—The French ambassador to Germany, Jules Cambon, according to official information, was not provided with any means of transportation for his return to France when he received his passports at Berlin.

The envoy was obliged to use his own resources and go to Denmark, where he remains.

It was said at Berlin that the mobilization had monopolized the railways, but it is officially commented that the French government provided a special train to take the retiring German ambassador, Baron von Schoen, from Paris to the frontier.

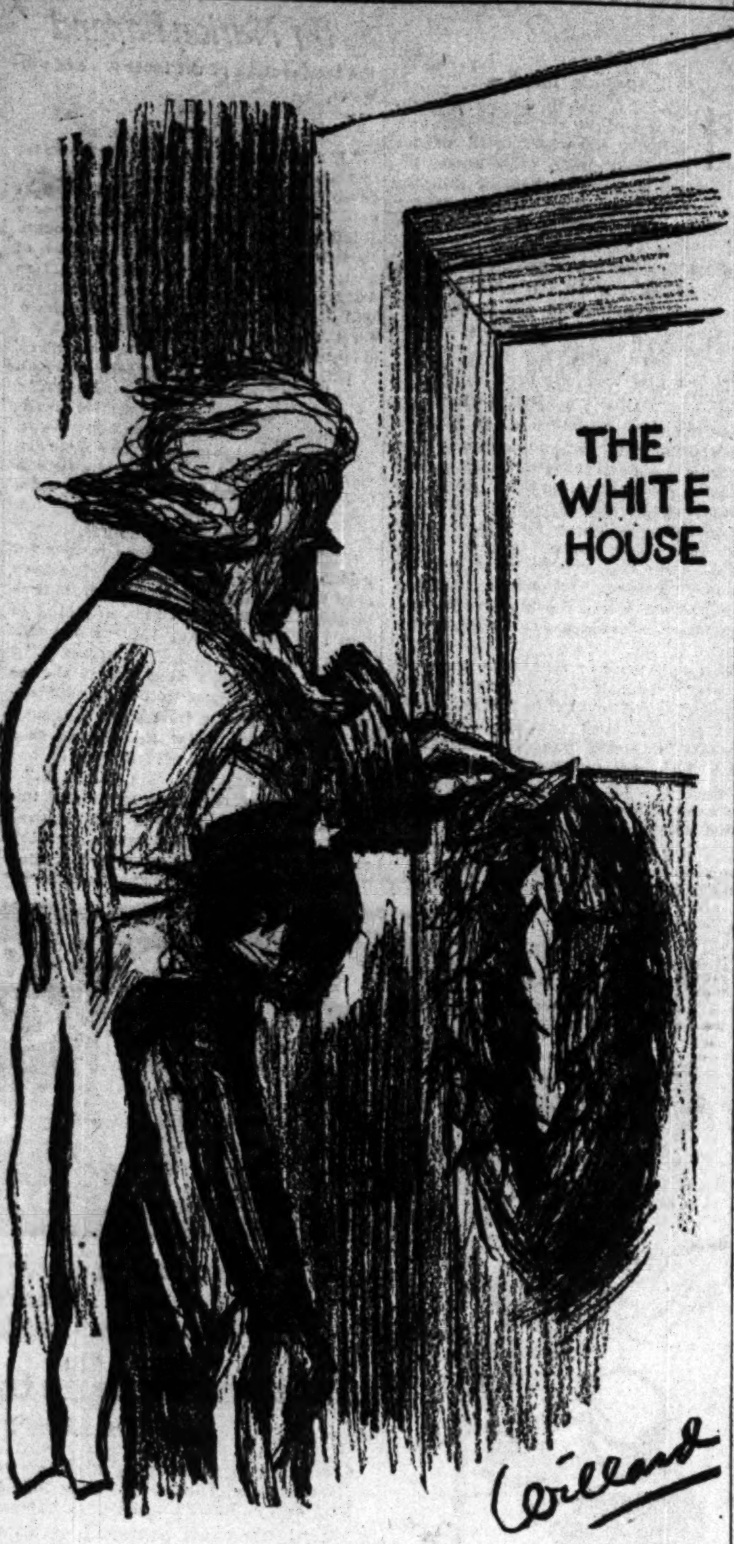
MORE NURSES VOLUNTEER THAN FRANCE CAN EMPLOY.

American Girl, Miss Edith Deacon, Among Those Who Offer to Go to the Front.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—The activity of women in the present trouble and their desire to perform active service for the nation has never been greater. All of the nurses who want to serve cannot be used. It is recalled that Miss Edith Deacon, one who has offered to serve, is the daughter of the late Edward Parker Deacon of Boston, Mass., who was active in the ambulance service during the operations in 1870. Miss Caroline Franc, who accompanied Mr. Deacon at that time as a nurse in most of the ambulance work, is still living and is planning to go to the fron with Miss Deacon.

Sympathy.



Mayor Makes Plea for Red Cross Aid.

AN APPEAL for funds to relieve the sufferers from the war in Europe was received at the mayor's office in the city hall yesterday from the American National Red Cross, Washington.

With the sanction of Mayor Harrison, who is touring the east, Acting Mayor John E. Traeger conferred with the corporation counsel's office and drew a call for aid, which follows in part:

Whereas, The American Red Cross has sent out an appeal for aid to enable it to care for the sick and wounded soldiers of the European countries now in a state of war and has plans on foot to charter ships and send to each country involved doctors, nurses and hospital supplies to minister to the suffering; and,

Whereas, During the war with Spain, large amounts of money were sent by European Red Cross societies to the American Red Cross to aid in the care of the sick and wounded soldiers of our own country, and it would be an act of humanity and would fittingly express our gratitude for their aid at that time to now make such provision as is possible for caring for those in deep distress who are unable to help themselves in this, their hour of need; and

Whereas, Ships sailing under the Red Cross flag and the agents of Red Cross societies of neutral states that render aid will be under the protection of the treaties of Geneva and The Hague and can enter any harbor for the performance of their work of mercy:

Now, therefore, I, Carter H. Harrison, mayor of the city of Chicago, take this means of making proclamation to the effect that a great emergency exists and call upon all the people of the City of Chicago, without regard to nationality or creed, to come to the assistance of the sick and wounded who are in deep distress and who can only be reached through the beneficent work of the American Red Cross.

Contributions in checks are to be made payable to the American Red Cross Society and mailed to Mayor Harrison, to be forwarded by him to Washington. Orson Smith, 112 West Adams street, Chicago, treasurer of the local Red Cross organization, also will accept contributions.

War Decreases Marriages.

The war and the action of the banks in requiring notice on savings withdrawals have caused a falling off in marriages in the last week. L. C. Legner, marriage license clerk, declared yesterday that little more than 100 licenses have been issued since war was declared, whereas between 130 and 140 were issued daily up to that time. Practically no [illegible] have applied in the last few days.

SIGNS BETRAY WAR SECRETS

France Tears Down Guides to Kaiser's Troops Disguised as Ads.

EACH HAS MEANING.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—It was discovered today that the thousands of posters of "Bouillon Kub," manufactured by a German firm, which dotted the French countrysides just as those of a certain brand of pickles do the fields along the railroads in the United States, were intended to be of use to an invading German army by giving information of a military character through the varying sizes of the posters and the colors employed.

For instance, a military commander, seeing a square yellow poster, would know that "food is abundant around here"; if he saw a round red poster he would deduce the fact that "the ground is mined around here."

Every geometrical figure and all the plain colors were utilized in this scheme to give military information by means of innocent looking advertisements placed in strategical positions by German bill posters several months ago.

Flowers and other decorations and animal forms were used on the posters. One of the signs conveying information to an invader was a flaring representation of the stars and stripes.

The Germans will, however, look in vain for these "signal posters." The minister of the interior telegraphed orders all over France this morning to have them torn down at once.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The admiralty has accepted the offer made by Mrs. David Beatty, wife of Rear Admiral Beatty and daughter of the late Marshall Field of Chicago, of her yacht Sheela to be used as a hospital ship. Mrs. Beatty signified her willingness to go on the yacht and assist in the hospital work.

NO REPLY TO U. S. OFFER.

Administration Officials Still Hope Warring Nations Will Accept Mediation Proposal.

Washington, D. U. S. RED CROSS TO FRONT.

Hospital Units to Be Dispatched in Response to Acceptance, from The Hague, of Aid.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—From The Hague has come the first acceptance of aid from the American Red Cross. A message has been returned saying hospital units will be dispatched as quickly as transportation can be found. A hospital unit consists of three Red Cross physicians and twelve nurses with a full equipment.

END COMES FOR MRS. WILSON, WIFE OF PRESIDENT

Passes at 5 P. M. as Family Kneels About the Bedside.

SLUMS SEND FLOWER GIFT

was casting its long shadows from the Potomac to the South Grounds coloring the fountains, gardens and elms.

There was a hushed stillness in the upper apartments. All eyes were turned toward the southwest corner of the house.

Just at the hour of 5 death came. The president and his daughters were in tears. Secretary Tumulty walked slowly to the executive offices, his head bowed. Quietly he announced to the correspondents that the end had come.

A pall of gloom settled over the executive mansion and the offices. Presently Dr. Grayson, his face haggard and worn from the day and night vigil, came to the offices.

Silence Over All.

There was an impressive silence everywhere. Secretaries, attaches, clerks and servants seemed overcome.

Vice President Marshall and members of the cabinet and the leaders in congress were notified. Both houses promptly adjourned. The flag on the White House was dropped, gates were closed and the silence of death spread over the White House for the first time since 1892, when Mrs. Benjamin Harrison passed away.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made. The place of burial will be either Rome, Ga., her childhood home, or Princeton, N. J., where the family has lived for 25 years. Dr. Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Princeton, where the family has attended for years, has visited Mrs. Wilson frequently during her illness, but was not here today. Professor Stockton Axson, her only brother, was en route east from Oregon on a Union Pacific train and was reached by telegraph at Pendleton, Ore., with the news.

Slums Send Flowers.

Members of the cabinet, justices of the Supreme Court, members of the diplomatic corps telephoned their condolences and sent cards. From many humble homes came flowers, as Mrs. Wilson had made many friends in the slums and city generally, in her endeavors to help the friendless and poverty-stricken.

She had told the president this morning she would more cheerfully "go away" if the bill for the improvement of alleys were passed by congress. A word to leaders from Secretary Tumulty and the measure was adopted in silence by the senate and soon reported in the house, where it will be passed tomorrow. She learned that the measure would be a law in another day or so, and expressed her satisfaction. She had become deeply interested in the social welfare of the community and had worked always without seeking the aid of the president. It was the strain of this, the duties of entertainment and the kidney trouble which became chronic last autumn that sapped her life.

Was a Devoted Wife.

Mrs. Wilson took an active interest in the career of her husband, in his contests with congress over legislation, and the numerous official duties with which he was burdened. Throughout life she has been his constant helpmate and companion. Her clear judgment on political affairs and broad views of educational questions had been a source of gratification to him for years. With her help he wrote his books and on her judgment he relied.

Her devotion to him, according to those who have known the family intimately, was of remarkable depth. Her one thought was of him. Every morning and evening during her illness she cautioned Dr. Grayson not to tell the president if she had spent an uncomfortable hour. Her anxiety was that he should not be worried or disturbed. However painful was her suffering, it was her one aim to keep the president from being affected by her condition. But the president watched her sorrowfully for weeks and realized that she was slowly growing worse.

He spent every moment he could by her side.

Senate Adjourns Quietly.

When the news of Mrs. Wilson's death reached the senate, discussion of pending business was ended immediately by Senator Kern, the majority leader. Interrupting the debate on the shipping bill, he said:

"Mr. President, it becomes my duty to convey to the senate the melancholy intelligence of the death of Mrs. Wilson, the wife of the president of the United States. Of course the president at this hour has the earnest sympathy of all the people of the nation, and as a mark of sympathy entertained here and all through the republic I move the senate do now adjourn."

The motion was silently agreed to and the senators quietly withdrew from the chamber.

Resolutions in House.

Majority Leader Underwood of the house hurried to the floor as soon as he received word from the White House. He stopped the discussion of the Moon railway mail pay bill.

"It is my sad duty," he said, "to announce to the house the death of Mrs. Wilson, the wife of the president of the United States. I think the house should show the proper respect at this time, and I therefore move the adoption of the following desolution:

"Resolved, That the house has heard with profound sorrow of the death of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president of the United States.

"Resolved, further, That a committee composed of the speaker and one additional member from each state in the union be appointed to attend the funeral.

"Resolved, further, That as a mark of respect the house do now adjourn."

The resolution was adopted in silence.

Ill Since February.

Mrs. Wilson had not been well since last February, when she fell in the White House and strained her spine. She later practically recovered from that injury, but in the meantime kidney trouble set in and gradually she grew weaker and weaker.

About two months ago her condition began to grow serious, and two weeks ago Dr. Grayson became alarmed. Noted specialists were called in and trained nurses were kept in constant attendance. She continued to grow worse, however, until serious sinking spells came on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Wilson was 50 years old, and when she came to the White House was in robust health. Always a home lover, she nevertheless immediately assumed the arduous duties of the wife of a president.

The news of the seriousness of her illness was kept from the public until yesterday, when it was admitted that her chances of recovery were slight. During last night and early this morning she was kept alive by oxygen and stimulants. At 2 o'clock this afternoon Dr. Grayson gave out a statement in which he said that Mrs. Wilson had had two sinking spells during the morning, and that she was conscious, but growing weaker. This was the last word to come before her death.

Democratic in Her Home.

Mrs. Wilson was one of the most domestic and democratic women who ever presided over the "first household" of the land. A descendant of an old southern Presbyterian family, she inherited all the sterling qualities of the early settlers. Before her marriage she was Miss Ellen Louise Axson. Her grandfather was the Rev. Edward Axson, who was born and raised in Georgia. Her father was the Rev. Edward Axson Jr., pastor of the Presbyterian church in Rome, Ga.

Her mother before her marriage was Miss Margaret Hoyt, daughter of the Rev. Nathan Hoyt, a Presbyterian minister of Athens, Ga. Few women can boast of having come from more pure American stock, and Mrs. Wilson, possessed of a remarkably brilliant mind, early showed a strong inclination toward southern American ideals of womanhood.

Born in Savannah, Ga.

She was born in Savannah, Ga., in 1865 and received her early education at her parents' home in Rome. She completed her education at the woman's college in Baltimore. She was married to Woodrow Wilson, then a struggling lawyer and teacher, in the same house in which she was born in Savannah on June 24, 1885.

Previous to her marriage she already had developed a remarkable talent for art and might well have made painting her vocation. She had won distinction as a portrait painter at the Art Students' league in New York. For a while she was a resident of Old Lyme, the artists' colony in Connecticut.

Gives Up Art for Children.

When her daughters were born, Mrs. Wilson gave up her art for the time and devoted herself to their education and to superintending her household. In the early days of her married life she did her own cooking and was noted for her skill in preparing southern dishes. She and Mr. Wilson took personal charge of their daughters' education until they were 12 years old.

Even in the White House she kept up her personal supervision of the details of housekeeping and directed the preparation of dishes of which she knew the president was especially fond and which for years she had made for him. She found little time, nor did she greatly care for the luxuries the last few years made possible to her. The training of her whole life had accustomed her to a program of existence in which they had no place. Her strong little hands had been too busy with work for others to keep the roseleaf look of a child of fortune. And Mrs. Wilson cared for them herself; she made little use of the services of her maid or any personal attendant.

"My hands," she once said laughingly, "O, there is no use trying to make them look as they should. A college professor's wife has to use her hands for many things, all the way from gardening to doing up her own lace curtains. No manicure should be expected to deal with such results."

When her husband went to Princeton university, however, Mrs. Wilson became actively engaged in settlement work and charitable undertakings of many kinds. She always was of a retiring disposition, however, and went about her work in an unostentatious manner. She never spoke at public meetings.

Takes Up Landscape Work.

When her daughters had grown to womanhood she returned to her art and abandoned portrait for landscapes. She spent her summers studying under the direction of Frank Drummond and painted many scenes of familiar spots around Princeton and in the Adirondacks. Several of her pictures adorned her husband's office when he was president of Princeton and governor of New Jersey, and when he went to Washington he took them with him to the White House offices.

Mrs. Wilson's technique was that of softened color tones and indistinctness of outline, giving to her pictures the charm of the impressionist's work without the sacrifice of necessary detail. Several of her paintings, including "Autumn Day" and "The Old Lane" were shown at art exhibits in Philadelphia and New York and Chicago.

Had Studio in White House.

At one time twenty-five of her landscapes were displayed at once at the Arts and Crafts guild in Philadelphia. It was the first one-person exhibit the guild ever had held.

When Mrs. Wilson went to Washington she fitted up a studio where she worked at odd intervals with her daughter, Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, now Mrs. William G. McAdoo, who was then a student at the Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia.

An additional proof of Mrs. Wilson's love of the artistic was found in her flower gardens about her homes in Princeton and Sea Girt, N. J., and still later in the spacious grounds around the White House. She was a clever landscape gardener, self taught, but sufficiently endowed with a feeling for beautiful flower harmonies to produce the most gratifying results.

Mrs. Wilson shrank from the limelight of publicity and her greatest happiness was to be found in her home environment. She took a personal interest in everything about her, however, and made several trips into the slums of Washington in an effort to bring about better conditions.

Few Formal Entertainments.

The same tact and ability which Mrs. Wilson brought to her husband's assistance during his college career and in the governor's mansion characterized her life in the White House. Her formal entertainments were few, and she entered as little as possible into the social life of the capital. Her tastes in this respect were shared by her two older daughters, only Miss Eleanor Wilson, now Mrs. McAdoo, showing a real pleasure in the dinners, dances, and receptions during the season.

Mrs. Wilson seldom went out at night, and it was noticed that she preferred concerts and matinées to the evening performances at the theaters, at which the president was a familiar figure. She was particularly fond of song recitals, and invariably entertained box parties at the 4 o'clock concerts given by her favorite artists. She was deeply interested in Miss Margaret Wilson's musical career, and took a far greater pleasure in the concerts and musicales arranged by Miss Wilson in the East room than in any of the regular state functions.

Interested in Y. W. C. A.

She shared to the full, the sympathy interests of Miss Jessie Wilson, now Mrs. Sayre, in the work of the Young Women's Christian Association, though she took no active part in it, other than acting as patroness of the entertainments and other benefit affairs for that and other charitable objects.

While not an avowed suffragist, Mrs. Wilson thoroughly believed that a higher destiny awaits women.

"The tireless energy of twentieth century women is wonderful to behold," said she, on the eve of her husband's inauguration. "It is the manifestation of the awakening of American womanhood —a spirit that is destined to help us maintain ourselves in the vanguard of civilization. I am a great believer in the intellect, strength of character and optimism of the American woman."

Dunne Wires Sympathy.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—When news of Mrs. Wilson's death reached Springfield, Gov. Dunne was at Camp Lincoln reviewing the Third infantry.

He was notified and wired President Wilson as follows:

"The Hon. Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States: Accept my sincere sympathy in your affliction.

"EDWARD F. DUNNE, governor."

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN figures with equal effectiveness in this film of modern, pneumatic tired adventure as business man and pugilist. He comes into his lawyer's office straw hatted and sack suited, looking like a regular, for sure enough legal light, and later, bare headed and ribbon shirted, he smashes his enemies into a disastrous finish with the completeness of a champion white hope.

The picture, one of the numerous adaptations from Munsey magazine stories which are being so successfully produced by the Essanay company, has to do with two mysterious sealed envelopes, the lawyer, Mr. Bushman, with whom they are entrusted, the fussy little rich client who is robbed and nearly killed in the lawyer's office, the two grafting financiers who try to rob the rich client of his railroad stocks, so that they can put through some kind of a deal to which he objects, and the beautiful girl who is abducted by motor car bandits—supplying the cause for the title—and her spectacular rescue by the brainy and brawny and much put upon aforesaid legal light, William Nash, impersonated by Mr. Bushman.

A great many things happen through the two reels, and they happen with a zip and a zim that keeps the observer in a whirl of excitement endeavoring to follow the action and results of the motor stimulations whizzed out of the facile mind of the dashing hero. There is disguising, theft, abduction, murder, accusation, escape, capture, smashing fighting, rescue victory, and a few things in between as cement to hold these episodic situations together into a nice round whole.

It is quite unnecessary to conclude that it is an exciting picture. Excellent photography, registering the players and their performances, has a large share in the generally satisfying whole.

"The President's Special."

Edison.

Friday seems to be the day for film sensations. This Edison release has about as much excitement pressure as the celluloid can stand without breaking.

The thrills fly out like sparks in the long race between Gertrude McCoy desperately driving a little one-seated automobile and the engine plugging along with the Sunday school picnic load. Gertrude, though for a while we are afraid she won't, finally wheels her car across the right of way and gets the excursion train backed onto a sidetrack just in time to escape annihilation from the president's special which is hammering along open throttled across a supposedly cleared track.

The reason the picnic train was poaching on the special's rights was because Gertrude's husband, for the occasion being the switchman at some junction, working overtime, had gone to sleep and neglected to deliver the side tracking order. Gertrude, discovering his remissness, saved him responsibility for the tragedy by wheeling out her little car and making the wild run.

The picture has been the talk of the week among exhibitors, even as inured to film sensations as they are.

"That's a fine ad for a Ford," commented more than one laughingly, when he got his breath back after watching the thriller.

MISS RUTH STONEHOUSE • ESSANAY •

MISS RUTH STONEHOUSE, the subject of the exciting abduction in today's Essanay release is an enthusiastic film fan. Almost every evening she slips into her neighborhood theater and watches the whole bill intently. It is not only a diversion for her but it is a sort of post graduate education, too, for she notes with the professional eye, all the tricks of business of the players, mentally jotting down the good things she sees, and criticising the poor ones, strengthening her own stage methods by constant observation of the photographic results of those of other folks.

Flashes from Filmdom.

May Irwin, genial comedian, who makes her plumpness a stage asset instead of fretting herself trying to wear it away, is one of the latest movie recruits. She will be celluloidly recorded in her comedy success, "Mrs. Black Is Back," by George V. Hobart, in the studio of the Famous Players' Film company.

Rollin S. Sturgeon is returning to the western Vitagraph studios at Santa Monica, where he will devote himself to the production of big features.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets

By Lillian Russell

Short Feet Are Not Beautiful.

[Copyright: 1914: By Lillian Russell.]

ALL women who have shapely feet are proud of them, and justly so, for the foot perhaps denotes temperament in a finer degree than the hand, for, while the hand is liable to attention, protection from abuse, and cultivation to a great degree of beauty until it assumes a general prettiness superior to its original state, the foot must be of necessity what it came from the mold of nature, barring the deformity caused by a cramping shoe.

Of all idiotic pieces of vanity a tight shoe leads the van of feminine follies. Its evils are more flagrant than those of irregular diet and may end in destroying gait, carriage, complexion, and expression.

The exquisite shapeliness of a foot, more than a hand, is mainly hereditary. The unusually arched instep, the deep hollow, the rounded ball are marks of thorough breeding, but a pinched foot bespeaks an imbecile mind.

A woman who carries weight should consider her foot comfort above all things and the woman who has the slightest consideration for her carriage and poise should never wear a shoe the slightest degree too narrow or too short. I have seen women who were otherwise most attractive, but when they walked were stiff and bent by cramped feet.

There is nothing to be gained and much to be lost by forcing a No. 5 foot into a No. 4 shoe. It is strange but true that the toes must have absolute freedom to insure perfect circulation of the blood. High heels are only dangerous to health when they throw the body forward upon the ball of the foot and toes; in that case all poise of the body is lost, all grace and comfort and even health is endangered.

Sense alone is not necessary to health, but the love of beauty is, or should be, an incentive for avoiding cramped toes. The care of the foot, proper bathing, trimming, and shoeing contribute more to comfort and health, and therefore to beauty than the care of the hands.

Remember: Our feet are our sole support; without them we are nothing. They have the power to lend us smiles or tears just in proportion to the manner with which we treat them.

Economical Housekeeping

Little Perch.

THE traditional American country method and that of most campers of frying the perch is to roll it in cornmeal before putting it into the pan. The scales are scraped off, but it is not skinned. The city market man skins the fish for those who wish it, and that is one of the reasons probably why he charges about three times what the fisherman got for his catch.

A recent writer, who said of cold fried fish that it is "apt to have an unhappy taste, and it is poor economy to fuss with it at all," evidently had never eaten cold fried perch which had been rolled in cornmeal before it was fried.

An English epicure of seventy-five years ago, who, more than once in his writings speaks of water-zoutched fish, says that "perch are best water-zouched or fried in batter." These are two different ways of cooking it. The frying of any small fish in batter is quite a universal custom in Europe.

To "zoutch" a fish, according to the dictionary, is to stew it in just enough water to cover. The Dutch "waterzoei" probably is but another form of the word, for this is a Flemish fish stew almost as famous as the French bouillabaise.

The perch is one of the fish listed in a recipe for it in that country, but it names many others that may be used, yet saying that, although they may be used together or separately, the true waterzoei is always composed of many kinds of fish.

The fish stew is not developed with us. We have the chowder, but do not use even this as much as we might. The perch is comparatively inexpensive at the highest market price, and we could afford to experiment with it, given the time and inclination, in stews.

It has been said of the perch that its short fibered flesh is as digestible as white of egg. The lobster is at the other extreme, with its very long fibers, making it indigestible. A poisonous substance may be added to the perch in the shape of fat blue hot, or it may deteriorate by being allowed to stand in cold water before cooking.

FRIED PERCH—Cut off the two ventral fins and vent. The professional cook uses scissors to cut off fins. Hold by the tail and scrape, then cut off the head and tail, and holding the fish under water briefly, scrape out with a pointed knife the dark lining on each side of the backbone. If a half inch slice is taken off the back the whole length of the fish the dorsal fins will come with it and it will be easy to split the fish from the backbone into two fillets after it is friend. Wash quickly and wipe dry—the wiping dry is very essential—before it is dipped, whether in egg and corn meal or milk and flour. If fried in deep fat it is well to break the backbone or it may curl. A favorite common method, which makes any seasoning unnecessary, is to fry out some salt pork and then fry the fish in the pork fat.

Little perch are served up with all sorts of sauces, as are other fish, but no sauce is needed if they are moist and sweet as they should be. If they have been soaked in water they have lost some of their flavor and are less wholesome. They may be seasoned, rubbed with butter and baked, then served with a tomato sauce. They are usually boned in this case before they are baked.

Bright Sayings of Children

Joanna Sterl

Letter writing at the big desk had its fascination for my little 5 year old visitor. After carefully inscribing a missive to a maiden aunt, the addressing of the envelope was a problem which caused her to pause and ask:

"How do you spell Mrs. that ain't married?" J. T. J.

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The stories may be sent in either by children or their parents. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

Four year old Aloia was visiting her aunt, who was not used to having children around. At the dinner table for the first few minutes Aloia was forgotten in the serving. The child had always been taught to wait, but after what seemed a long time to her she exclaimed, "Aunt Ruf', I used to eat chicken." H. M. H.

Kenneth, age 2, was playing in the suds while his mamma was busy with the washing. Suddenly his baby brother, who was asleep in the cradle, began to cry. Kenneth, looking up, calmly remarked: "B'ess your heart, I's washin'." MRS. N. B.

Norine's mother told her not to put her hands in the straps of her new dress. But after dinner her mother saw her with her hands in the straps, so she spoke to her about it and the baby's answer was: "Mamma, these are my suspenders." Norine is 3 years and 2 months old.

Sailor hat covered with black and pink printed gauze. Butterfly is composed of pink feathers.

Sailor Hats of Gauze and Velvet.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—With Europe at war the designers will undoubtedly give us helmets and field caps to adorn the heads of their dainty clients. But when I left Paris the exclusive shops were showing large, flat hats of the type which I have sketched.

The chic of the fall hat will depend more upon the way it is worn than upon the outline of the hat itself. All hats, large and small alike, should be worn well down on the head, tilted somewhat to one side. The brim on the opposite side should be raised so as to show the hair and the profile. This is the advice of Marie Guy, one of the most popular of the Parisian designers of hats.

For no hat more than the flat sailor are these injunctions necessary, for unless they are worn at the exact angle which fashion prescribes they are almost commonplace.

The attractive hat which I have sketched was of the large sailor type, covered as to brim and band about the crown with black and pink printed gauze. The crown was of black velvet. The butterfly resting jauntily on the side of the crown was composed of pink feathers. The combination of black and pink, long dispossessed of its popularity, bids fair to become one of the most favored of fashion's color innovations.

Doris Blake Says

"You can often make an impression on a heart of stone with a diamond."

The Unappreciated Husband.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

I PRINT below a letter which I wish could be read by every girl who is tempted to let her sympathy for the 'unappreciated, misunderstood married man" get the better of her good judgment and common sense. No better warning could be sounded. Nothing could more clearly reveal the true character of the married man who seeks love and sympathy outside of his own domestic sphere. And nothing could more plainly reveal the light in which a girl appears even in the eyes of the insufferable creature who preys on her sympathy and trust.

"Dear Miss Blake: Will you kindly explain to a puzzled person what your characterization is of a man of whom I am about to write. This man is the husband of my sister—a woman of 30 and quite attractive. They have been married ten years.

"During the past four years he has let himself become interested in three different single women—women employed down town. His wife left him several times on account of his associations with other women. But each time he has always been able to locate her by bribing people and using coercion. He has thrown up his business and spent his last dollar traveling hundreds of miles to find her.

"Finally after locating her [looking more like a ghost than a live man from loss of sleep and worry] he has poured out his love to her, begging and pleading with her not to desert him but to return with him. That he cannot live away from his wife he has proven. She has no money in her own right nor does she expect to inherit any. They have no children, so there is no other attraction than herself.

"Partly through pity, but largely because of the fact that our mother feels all my sister's troubles so keenly she has returned to her husband. At these times he will tell his wife everything. He tells her who the women are with whom he has been associating. He tells her their names, their home and business addresses, and even gives her their telephone numbers, not caring apparently whether she made serious trouble for them or not.

"He says: 'Girls take those chances when they "run" with married men and they will have to suffer the consequences.' But he adds that he would rather that his wife would not stoop to communicate with women whom he calls 'common cheap skirts,' 'dinner grafters,' and far worse.

"And to think that after not having enough regard for these women even to withhold their names, still when he has tired of them I know it to be a fact that he breaks with them, leaving them under the impression that he thinks a great deal of them; that his wife does not understand him and is very jealous of him, and that she, in some unaccountable way, has learned of their meetings and that while he dreaded the thought of not seeing them so often under the conditions there was nothing else left to do.

"The last girl, still believing that she has made a great impression upon him and that he is staying away from her through no choice of his own, sends him cards telling how she longs and sighs for him and dreads the awful lonesomeness of not being with him."

Substitute for Ice.

"I HAVE found the following method of keeping butter and milk valuable to one who does not use ice in the summer. For butter invert a cup in a basin containing one inch of cold water. Remove carton from the butter, leaving the tissue paper on. Place the butter on the inverted cup. Wring out a napkin or cotton cloth in cold water, place the cloth over the butter, tucking it closely to the sides of the butter, allowing the edges to hang into the water in the basin. Set the evaporator in the open air, in a room or in a window where there is no sun. The evaporation will harden soft butter and keep it as if on ice. Care should be taken to change the water each day and wring the cloth quite dry, after washing in cold water. For milk wring out a salt bag or the sleeve of a knitted vest in cold water, place the milk bottle upon an inverted cup, in a basin containing one inch of cold water, and slip the cloth over the same, folding the end over the mouth of the bottle. Allow the cloth to hang in the water. Change the water every day. "LILLIE M."

The high price of ice should make this homely method of cooling butter and milk a veritable godsend to hundreds of house-mothers perplexed between the desire to save wherever saving is consistent with the comfort of the family, and the wish to provide well for that comfort. In oriental countries water coolers are constructed upon a like principle. The rapid evaporation in the outer vessel combines with the exclusion of air to keep the temperature of the inner low and uniform.

An Easier Way.

"If a pinch of salt is added to the water in which eggs are to be poached they will never break apart. In sliding a rod or pole through casing of curtains place a thimble on the end that you run through. In baking bread, cake, or pies a pan of water set in the oven will keep them from burning. In cleaning a toilet bowl you will find the best acid to use is muriatic. First water must be dipped out and the acid left to stand for an hour or more. It will cut away all discolorations which collect. FLORENCE AND BETTY."

In fulfillment of our promise made earlier in the week we present the rest of the budget of housewifely hints bestowed upon the grateful Corner by the sisters, from whom we hope to hear further soon.

Root and Birch Beers.

"Will you kindly give me recipes for making root beer and birch beer? I have read your recipes with interest from time to time, but have not seen anything in this line appear. Any information will be appreciated. THOMAS C."

"Will you kindly send me in the inclosed stamped and self-addressed envelope a recipe for fruit sirup that may be diluted with water and served as a drink? I have tried several recipes, but have had no success. MRS. R. L."

Calls for beverages are many and importunate all summer long. Thirst, consequent upon continued warm weather and profuse perspiration, which drains the body of moisture, is as natural as hunger in one in perfect health who has fasted long. I have no recipes for root and birch beer. Yet that nonintoxicating drinks are made at home under these names I know, having tasted and found them reasonably palatable and decidedly refreshing when taken ice cold. I take the first of the requests I have linked together above to housewives who are successful in compounding the beers and the fruit sirups. Currant jelly, mingled with water and made ice cold, is a pleasant drink. I have also made raspberry and blackberry vinegar. As to the rest, I prefer to ask for recipes from my co-workers in the culinary field.

Potato Salad.

"Will you accept from me a recipe for potato salad in addition to those you have lately printed? Boil eight potatoes in their skins, allow them to cool, then peel them. Cut into thin slices and mix with two grated onions. Season with salt and pepper to taste, and moisten them with a dressing made in proportions of twice as much oil as vinegar. Stir with a wooden spoon until the potatoes are covered with the dressing, turn into a salad bowl and place in the ice until chilled through. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and garnish with slices of hard boiled eggs and cold beets, cut into fancy slices or shapes. "MYRA S."

We accept and print with thanks a recipe every whit as good if not better than any for the same dish that has previously appeared in the Corner.

Root, brother of Mrs. William J. Calhoun. The wedding is to take place the latter part of September or the first of October, and the couple will live in Chicago.

Elks Plan Big Stag.

According to Arthur W. Johnson, exalted ruler of Chicago lodge No. 4, B. P. O. E., more than 500 new members probably will be received into the lodge at a stag to be given by the membership committee at the Hotel Sherman in the latter part of September. The stag will mark the first of a gay round of festivities which have been mapped by Chicago Elks for the fall season.

Immediately following this social and to occur most likely some time in October will be the annual minstrel show of the Elks, the proceeds of which go to charity.

"We will have the best of talent at our stag affair, with stars from all the theaters in town," said Mr. Johnson. "We are making a strenuous campaign for members, and we will take this means of celebrating the initiation of 500 new candidates. The minstrel show to follow the following month will be another function that will arouse interest in Elkdom."

North Shore Holds Horticultural Show.

NORTH shore society yesterday went back to nature and held a prize exhibit of flowers and vegetables at the Winnetka community house, under the auspices of the Lake Shore Horticultural society. The exhibit was the first annual affair to be held by the growers living south of Lake Forest, who have felt that the annual show given at the Durand institute did not afford sufficient competition for the gardens situated south of Lake Forest. Competition was open, however, to Lake Forest "farmers," and J. D. Farwell and Harold McCormick sent down exhibits.

Mr. McCormick again took first prize for the best onions grown on the north shore, as he did at the Lake Forest show three weeks ago. The onions were of the "Alisa Craig" variety, large in size and pungent in odor. But just to demonstrate that his taste did not run entirely to onions, Mr. McCormick entered a display of twelve varieties of sweet peas, for which he received a blue ribbon. His competitor, Mrs. Herman B. Butler of Winnetka, received first prize for sweet peas ranging from one to nine varieties.

Mrs. Butler, whose gardener, Carl Niemann, is president of the new horticultural society, won the grand sweepstakes prize of a $10 gold piece for annexing the most ribbons. Besides the sweet pea prizes Mrs. Butler took firsts in the display of annuals, snap dragons, gooseberries, endive, head lettuce, cauliflower, radishes, and the best collection of herbs, and the best general exhibit of vegetables on a twelve foot table.

Other growers to win blue ribbons were: Mrs. H. P. Crowell, asters; Mrs. R. J. Dunham, best basket wild flowers, kohlrabi, lima beans, and the best table decoration. Mrs. Dunham had her table set for eight persons. The decorations were a center piece of pansies, gysophilis, and ferns. At each gentleman's plate was a daisy, while the ladies were provided with a bouquet of pansies. Mrs. Rudolph Matz captured prizes with her exhibits of phlox, currants, and cucumbers.

J. D. Farwell had the best displays of cut flowers, green peppers, corn, and string beans. A. C. Magnus took prizes for his tomatoes, peas, parsnips, and hollyhocks. Mrs. Benjamin Allen won a first for her Japanese lilies, while Mrs. John K. Lyon grew the best squashes.

Mrs. A. Shaw had the only display of muskmelon and was given a ribbon. Mrs. C. N. Strotz was a consistent winner of ribbons for vegetables, taking firsts for celery, carrots, and beets. Mrs. George Higginson gained a prize for her eighteen foot display of vegetables, and Mrs. J. H. Houghteling won a ribbon for her Shasta daisies.

Among those who visited the horticultural show were: Mrs. M. W. Butler, Miss Norah Butler, Mrs. C. L. Weeks, Mrs. J. R. Reilly, Mrs. Hermon B. Butler, Mrs. A. Peabody, Mrs. J. L. Houghteling, Mrs. W. G. Hibbard, Mrs. C. N. Strotz, Mrs. F. Rudolph, Mrs. E. H. Webster, Mrs. H. P. Crowell, Mrs. A. Peabody, Mrs. George Higginson, Jr., Mrs. Frederick Greeley, Mrs. R. J. Dunham, Mrs. J. W. Scott, Mrs. T. C. Dennehy, and Mrs. R. Matz.

The display of beautiful flowers attracted nearly a hundred children to the show. Miss Ada Boulter and Miss Ruth Fisher "ran off" with big "bookays" so the camera man could take their "pitchers."

War Causes Hurried Wedding.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Friends of the former Miss Lucy Bigelow Dodge, granddaughter of the late John Bigelow and daughter of the Hon. Mrs. Lionel Guest, formerly Mrs. Flora Bigelow Dodge, will be surprised to learn that her marriage with Walter T. Rosen of this city, which was to have taken place Aug. 11 at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, was solemnized today. It took place at 5 o'clock p. m. in the Church of Heavenly Rest. The Rev. Albert C. Monk, assistant rector of the church, officiated.

The change in the wedding plans was due to the war in Europe. The bride's stepfather, the Hon. Lionel Guest, sailed for England last Tuesday, and as her brother, who is a member of the British artillery, is expecting a call to return to England, it was decided hurriedly to have the wedding at once.

Will Test Tuberculin Cattle Law.

Aurora, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The legality of Gov. Dunne's proclamation forbidding the importation of cattle into Illinois which have not been subjected to the tuberculin test is to be placed in issue in the Kane county Circuit court for the first time in Illinois as the result of an action brought by Murray Akin of St. Charles to compel the Chicago and Great Western railroad to deliver over to him twenty-three nontuberculin tested cattle shipped from Tripoli, Ia. Because of the governor's order the railroad company refused to deliver the cattle shipped to Mr. Akin.

Akin then obtained a writ of replevin and, serving it upon an agent of the railroad, compelled him to turn over the cattle.

The cattle breeders and milk producers associations of Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin are behind Mr. Akin.

Plan Catholic Church Extension.

Plans for Roman Catholic church extension in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri were discussed yesterday by one hundred delegates to the third biennial convention of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Knights of Father Mathews, in session in the Hotel Sherman.

Reports on the temperance work of the organization showed progress in eliminating the use of liquor as a home beverage, the chief aim of the order.

The officers of the organization are: Rt. Rev. J. J. Hogan, supreme spiritual director; Miss Katharine Kelly, supreme president; Miss Ivy Sweeny, supreme secretary; Mrs. Margaret Capes, supreme treasurer. Mrs. Delia K. Brooks, 5360 Wentworth avenue, Chicago, is a member of the board of trustees.

Display Men to Meet in East.

The eighteenth annual convention of the International Association of Display Men will be held in New York City during the month of August, 1915, according to action taken at the closing session of the organization in the Auditorium hotel yesterday afternoon.

Highland Park Has Its Annual "Day."

HIGHLAND PARK appeared in gala costume yesterday in celebration of its fourth annual "Highland Park day." Nearly the entire population of the city met at the city hall square in the morning and paraded down to the lake front, where the day was celebrated by games, water contests, and races.

Four thousand persons visited the park during the afternoon and evening. There were nail driving contests for the women, footraces for the boys and girls, and a fat man's "roll" for men weighing over 200 pounds.

A hundred watermelons, 200 pies, and several wagonloads of pop were consumed by the joyous picnickers. A dancing floor and band music kept many of the younger set celebrating the "day" until nearly midnight.

Albert Larson, who was chairman of the day, said it was the best celebration they had held. "We don't expect to make any money," he said, "but we do expect to have a good time. This really is a homecoming day for Highland Park people, everybody gets acquainted, and community spirit and local business are boomed."

May Merge Social Agencies.

A Central Council of Social Agencies will be formed from among all social, philanthropic, charitable, and educational societies of the city, if plans discussed at a meeting of the Children's Day association at the Hotel La Salle yesterday are carried out.

"It is our desire," said Mrs. L. L. Funk, president of the association, "to merge all social, educational, philanthropic, and charitable societies into one great central council to be called the Central Council of Social Agencies, that will carry on the work now done by the individual societies.

"The project is to be thoroughly discussed at a meeting we shall call in the near future, and if it is found at that meeting that the merger can be formed, we will hold a large mass meeting for that purpose."

* *

"America's Opportunity."

A special massmeeting tomorrow noon of merchants and advertising men will be held at the rooms of the Advertising Association of Chicago, 123 West Madison street. James Keeley, editor of the Chicago Herald; George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National bank, and others will speak on "America's Opportunity."

Chicago Suffragists to Have Pie Auction.

THE activities at the suffrage shop at 121 North Dearborn street are to become even more lively than they have been. This the advisory committee decided after long and earnest deliberation over their luncheon at the shop yesterday.

In addition to the cake day on Fridays there is to be a pie day on Tuesdays in charge of Mrs. Stephen A. Bertrand of 862 North La Salle street, who is famous for her pies. The suffrage pie will be lemon cream, chosen for its suffrage colors—yellow and white. But there will be many other home made pies—not the kind that mother used to make, but the kind that suffragists are making for the self-denial fund.

The pies will be auctioned as the cakes have been since the shop opened. Mrs. John Taylor Cowles, who is permanent chairman of the cake sales, reported that there had been a net income of $89.50 from the cakes so far received.

The sale of suffrage literature is to be pushed as actively as the sale of pastry, according to Mrs. George A. Soden, who presided at the luncheon and committee meeting combined. Miss Jennie Johnson was requested to take charge of the literature. Mrs. M. L. Purvin was asked to arrange for speakers at the noon hour each day in the shop. Miss Lavinia Engle, who established the suffrage shop, will speak at noon today.

Mrs. Kate Wood Ray and Miss Engle were instructed to have 10,000 cards advertising the shop printed for the purpose of converting men to the cause. The card will have an interesting note in a conspicuous place announcing that a suffrage kiss will be given away with every paid luncheon eaten at the shop. The hours for luncheon have been stretched from 11 o'clock until 2 in the afternoon, when tea will be sreved by women of different nationalities from 3 to 5.

Russian tea will be served this afternoon and a Hindoo woman is to direct the next cosmopolitan gathering. A Chinese girl has consented to serve tea on another occasion.

The shop is to have a new counter. It will be used to display the heirlooms that are to escape the melting pot—by request. Because of the value of certain gifts, an outright sale would be more profitable.

A woman donated two Columbian half dollars yesterday. They will not undergo the process of fire on melting day. Then Mrs. E. Neilson brought in a silver fork and spoon hammered out by herself of pure silver while she was in Norway. The handwork is more valuable than the silver the articles contain. These, too, will be sold in their original shape.

But three women preferred that their wedding rings, contributed to the cause, be returned to gold bullion. On no other condition would they part with these articles of sentiment, they said.

A mother donated a baby's silver mug and asked that it be returned to ore, as she wished no other child to use that particular piece of silver.

Mrs. H. R. Pearson of Minoqua, Wis., expressed a box of water lilies, ferns, and picturesque cat tails to the suffrage shop to make the path more flowery for those denying themselves.

Mrs. George Bass, candidate for county commissioner, left last night for Chautauqua, N. Y., where she will speak on women and political affairs.

Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout will enter the suffrage campaign in Nebraska this week.

The "ticket" committee, of which Mrs. Paul Gerhardt is chairman, met in the Schiller building yesterday to report on their sales for the suffrage field day in Federal park on Aug. 29.

The Democratic women of the Sixteenth ward organized with forty members yesterday, with Mrs. John E. Maloney as president.

The Third ward branch of the Democratic organization will meet on next Tuesday evening at East Forty-third street and Indiana avenue.

Butchers End Convention.

The United Master Butchers of America closed their twenty-ninth annual convention at the Hotel La Salle yesterday.

John T. Russell of South Chicago, reelected president for the ensuing year, speaking of the work accomplished, said:

"We have had a successful gathering. All resolutions passed by us have had for their object the increasing of the meat supply of this country. Thus we aim to help both the farmers and the consumers, and when the supply is larger the price will be lower."

Following the installation of officers this morning a fifty mile auto ride was taken by the members through the city, ending with a picnic at Brand's park.

ANTIPODES TEAM DEFEATS ENGLISH IN NET CONTESTS

Wilding Crushes Lowe and Brookes Triumphs Over Parke at Boston.

SECOND MATCH FIVE SETS

Boston, Mass., Aug. 6. [Special].—Boston people, that is to say at least about 4,000 of them who managed to get the war news out of their heads for a few minutes, saw some real tennis in the opening contests between the Australian team and the players representing the British Isles, on the Longwood Cricket club courts today. The spectators saw the Australians triumph, Anthony F. Wilding defeating A. F. Lowe in three straight sets, 6-3, 6-1, and 16-14, while Capt. Norman E. Brookes defeated Capt. J. C. Parke three sets to two, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, 1-6, and 7-5.

Both matches were bitterly contested and the last net in each was particularly hard fought.

Large Crowd at Matches.

The weather was fine and the temperature perfect for play. Long before 2 o'clock, the time set down for the beginning of the matches, the crowd began to come in, and by the time Wilding stepped on the court with his opponent, Lowe, to begin the first match, the stands were fairly full. From the reputation of the players it was expected that Wilding would have something in the nature of a walkover, but the contrary proved the case.

Lowe jumped away with a run, and before Wilding knew where he was he had dropped the first three games to the Englishman. Here, however, he began to pull himself together, and, driving with increased accuracy, began to run his opponent about the court. In straight succession Wilding took six games in a row. Both men devoted their attention to a base line duel. Seldom did either of them come to the net, but the driving to the corners was at times remarkable.

Interest in Second Clash.

The first match, good as it turned out to be, was only looked upon as a curtain raiser for the real match of the day. It was fresh in the minds of every one that J. C. Parke, the leader of the English team, had beaten Brookes the year before last in Australia, thus bringing the Davis cup to England. Last year he came near being the factor that prevented America from bringing the cup here.

In addition to this, Parke possessed the extraordinary reputation of being able to play his greatest match when he has the greatest amount at stake. This year he has not shown, up to the present, the signs of that wonderful play which had conferred on him the title of "The Super-Parke." Just before the match, in reply to a query, he sadly said that he had not so far this year found his real game.

Brookes, on the other hand, seemed as serene and confident as he usually is, but deep down in his mind there is little doubt but that he felt he had much to fear from the gallant Irishman.

Match Brilliantly Fought.

In view of Parke's performances so far this year no one could have expected that he would make such a magnificent fight and come so near keeping his record clean in the Davis cup matches. The match from start to finish was magnificent. Brookes always was right on top of the net, cutting off the ball at sharp angles, but every time he hit it across to the corners, Parke would swing on it with all his force and dash it down the line or across court.

Although the Wilding-Lowe match went only three sets, the last one ran up to thirty games, and four times Lowe was within a stroke of making it two sets to one.

In the Brookes-Parke contest the Irish player was twice within a stroke of the match, and both times Brookes dashed in to kill by gentle touches at the net, saving the game and match.

In the first two sets of the Wilding-Lowe match the Australian, driving from deep court, had his opponent dancing about after impossible balls. Lowe rallied in the third set and the contest became a question of stamina. When the last point was won each player was tapping the ball weakly.

The Brookes-Parke match was an entirely different line of tennis. In the last set Brookes was fading rapidly and Parke coming strong when the New Zealander rallied and took the heart of the Irish player with his staunch net play.

WHITE AND AZEVEDO READY

Lightweights to Box Twenty Rounds on Coast Tonight.

CHICAGO FIGHTER CHOICE.

Odds on Contest Drop, with Charley Favorite at 10 to 4.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Charley White, Chicago's latest offering in the upper ranks of the lightweight pugilists, and Joe Azevedo, the Sacramento boy who gained fame by a spectacular victory over Ad Wolgast a few months ago, are primed for their twenty round mill tomorrow night at Coffroth's.

The preliminary work of shaping up the youngsters has been completed and nothing remains but speculation as to the outcome. This is one fight in which there have been no "ifs and ands" as to the weight. The rivals are rather inclined to lack weight and their conditioning, therefore, has been with a view to building up and being in the best possible shape.

White Looks the Better.

On form, White looks to have the advantage, although whether he can win by a knockout or stop his man before the twenty rounds have gone the limit is a problem. Notwithstanding the assertions of Jimmy Rohan there seems no question that White won the honors in his ten round win over Azevedo in Wisconsin some months back. On top of that the Chicagoan acquitted himself in good style against Ritchie and likewise was given the popular decision over Ad Wolgast.

Azevedo's record is based chiefly on what he did to Ad Wolgast. Granting him all that is his due Azevedo seemed to have caught the Dutchman napping on that occasion. Azevedo has failed since that time to live up to the reputation he acquired. At the same time be is a tough boy who can take a lacing if need be.

Hard Fought Bout Expected.

Both White and Azevedo are in their prime, so far as ring work is concerned, and both ought to be in a position to make it a hard fought contest from start to finish.

Betting sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of White. The price, which had been ranging along for a couple of days at 2 to 1, took a sudden drop today when White was quoted a 10 to 4 choice.

'INTERNATIONAL' FIGHT CARD

Two Irishmen, a French subject, a Bohemian, a German, a Jew, an Italian, and a Pole will comprise the card of the Maplegrove Athletic club "all star" boxing card at Maplegrove, Ill., tonight. Four bouts are down for decision. The fighters will draw lots at Forbes' gymnasium at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when they will weigh in, for the honor of going on in the main bout. "Shrimp" Schneir, a Hebrew from the west side, and "Young Joe" Gans, who claims protection of the French flag, will battle six rounds. Clint Flynn, an Irishman, and Johnny Ritchie, a German, also are scheduled to appear. Bud Hanlon, a Bohemian, and "Young" Griffo, an Italian, with Tommy O'Grady, from the old sod, and August Kelly, from the Polish neighborhood of the north side, complete the bill. A special train will leave over the Aurora-Elgin road at 7:15.

'GUNBOAT' TO FIGHT AHEARN

LONDON, Aug. 6.—"Gunboat" Smith, the American heavyweight pugilist, will meet "Young" Ahearn of New York on Aug. 18. Georges Carpentier was matched to fight Ahearn, but the French boxer has returned to France to join his country's army.

SHOOT PRIZE TO SCHWALBE.

Wuller of Milwaukee, amateur state champion, was second with 96 broken targets.

KING LEADER IN ROQUE PLAY

Takes Two Games from Gaylor in Medal Series.

VETERAN DISPLAYS SKILL.

Hoosier Challenger Balked by Opponent's Strategy.

BY JACK PROCTOR.

Play for the Landon medal, in conjunction with the tournament of the Western Roque association, started yesterday, C. C. King, holder, and G. L. Gaylor, challenger, being the contestants. Two matches were played, King winning by scores of 32—18, 32—25. The player who takes four games out of the series of seven is the victor.

Gaylor, who is a young player from Richmond, Ind., put up a good game, but was no match for his older opponent. In the first match King had little trouble in keeping the balls out of the reach of Gaylor and had things going his way all through the game. On several occasions however, he fell down, leaving the balls in fairly good position, and Gaylor counted points.

Good Runs by Gaylor.

In the second match Gaylor combined luck and skill and several times got the balls and made long runs. Outside of this, however, he did little. King had the match well in hand at all times, and there never was any doubt as to the outcome. The tournament summaries follow:

EQUALS COURSE MARK.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Three well fought matches and one runaway contest over the thirty-six hole route reduced the field in the Chicago golf championship to the semi-final stage at Jackson park yesterday. William Rautenbusch of Garfield Park, who is a slight favorite for the title, defeated A. Sweet, the La Grange High school player, 9 and 8, and today will meet O. H. Hunter, unattached, who defeated Ivan Webster of Jackson Park, 2 and 1.

A hard battle is anticipated in the lower half of the draw in which A. J. Samuelson of Jackson Park, who defeated Howard Maguire, 4 and 3, will meet Joe McDonald of Calumet, who won his way in the final quartet by virtue of a one hole victory over Walter Crowdus of Flossmoor.

Rautenbusch Equals Mark.

With another perfect day some excellent scoring was done, Bill Rautenbusch climbing under the calcium with a mark of 69, which equaled the competitive record for the course held by "Chick" Evans. Walter Crowdus nicked 72 in the afternoon as against 74 made by his opponent. Murray Deming scored a 72 in the consolation event, while F. C. Adams notched a 71 in his matched against Eagle.

McDonald and Crowdus were the finalists for the treasurer's cup in the Western Golf association tournament, and as the former won, 8 and 7, he was a favorite yesterday, but the former Hyde Park High school star took several reefs in his determination and gave his old Lane High school rival a battle royal.

McDonald Leader in A. M.

Crowds, who at the end of the morning round had been 4 down, had reduced his opponent's lead to 3 up at the twenty-seventh hole, and then by scoring two perfect fours on the two long holes, was only 1 down. Then at the sixteenth hole, 339 yards, Crowdus put his second close up, while McDonald on the like was on the edge of the green. It was a 20 to 1 shot that Crowdus would take the hole, but McDonald sank his approach putt and got a life-saving half in 3.

They halved the seventeenth hole in fours. Crowdus made the better pitch for the home hole, leaving himself with a thirteen foot putt. McDonald ran to the far edge of the green, but ran his third dead. Crowdus made a brave try for his putt, but overran the hole three feet and halved in four.

Crowdus owed his defeat largely to a bad start on the first nine holes. McDonald opened the afternoon round with a putt of thirty feet, but after that could not shake off Crowdus.

Rautenbusch went two strokes under par going out against Sweet and equaled par coming home, a six at the long water jump being his only bad hole. In the afternoon Sweet won three of the ten holes played, Rautenbusch taking two.

Another Yacht Race Prevented by War.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The following telegram was sent to the commodore of the Chicago Yacht club by the Royal Canadian Yacht club today:

"Owing to the declaration of war between Germany and Great Britain, involving the whole of our empire, and which may soon call out many of the members on active service, we feel that the sentiment of the country would be opposed to our participating in the international yacht race arranged between our respective clubs. We therefore await an expression of your feelings on the subject."

GARDNER TOPS GOLF FIELD

Returns Score of 147 in District Open Tourney.

ONWENTSIA 'PRO' SECOND.

Only Six Professionals Compete at Chicago Club.

Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale, amateur champion in 1909, showed his class by leading a small field of amateurs and professionals in the first half of the open championship tournament of the Chicago District Golf association staged at the Chicago Golf club yesterday.

In the morning he scored 73, one stroke under par, while in the afternoon he made 74, making a total of 147 for the day. Tom Vardon, the Onwentsia professional, was second with 75—77—152, leading Jim Donaldson of Glen View by two strokes. Bob Jolly of the Park Ridge club was on hand to start, but was not permitted to play, his club not having affiliated with the C. D. G. A.

Small Turnout Surprise.

The small turnout of professional talent was a great surprise, only six of the local experts competing. For a number of seasons the western professionals have bemoaned the lack of professional events in the west and it was this that caused the officers of C. D. G. A. to arrange the present open tournament. Leading cards:

Playing in a four ball event at the Skokie Country club yesterday, Western Champion Charles Evans Jr. scored a 67, cutting one stroke off the record for the course held jointly by Gordon Copeland, Dixie Fleager, and Professional Walter Fovargue. At the fourteenth hole "Chick" was hole high, 245 yards, with his cleek, but took three to get down from a distance of sixteen feet. He was playing with Fraser Hale, W. J. McDonald of Edgewater, and P. Hill of Skokie. Evans' card and the par figures are as follows:

CHICAGO TYPOS WIN AGAIN

Beat Hoosier Team in Printers' Tourney, 8 to 1.

TACKLE ST. LOUIS TODAY.

Winner Will Play Boston for Title and Herrmann Trophy.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Chicago had little trouble defeating Indianapolis in the second game of this afternoon's double header in the National Union Printers' baseball league tournament at Redland field. The score was 8 to 1. Tomorrow morning Chicago will play St. Louis, and the winner of that contest will meet Boston in the afternoon for the championship and August Herrmann trophy.

Although Eggert pitched a good game, striking out eight Chicago batsmen the Lake Michigan city aggregation bunched hits in several innings and won hands down. Indianapolis scored its lone tally in the first inning.

In the first inning singles by Callendar and Pierce, a base on balls to McCarthy, and an error by McCann yielded two runs. A single by Pierce and a triple by O'Malley scored one in the third. A single, two bases on balls, two stolen bases, and an error gave Chicago two in the fourth. Two walks, a single, a triple, a passed ball, and an error gave Chicago three in the seventh. Score:

Union Association "Blows."

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 5.—The Union Association of Baseball Clubs, after an existence of three and two-thirds years, died today as a league. Tuesday Butte players refused to play at Butte in series with Helena until $2,100 back salaries were paid. The promoters of the club failed to pay and today the club disbanded. The league followed suit.

AIRSHIP AND AUTO TO RACE.

Lincoln Beachey and Barney Oldfield, air wizard and veteran motor pilot, are scheduled to appear at the Hawthorne race track on Aug. 14 and 15 to settle the argument regarding the relative merits of the aeroplane and automobile.

Beachey will use his famous "loop the loop" machine, with which he startled Chicago by his exhibitions on the lake front a few months ago. Oldfield and Beachey will have their machines at Hawthorne early next week.

CUBS STOP SLIDE; BEAT GIANTS, 4-3 BY TWO IN NINTH

Double by Derrick Drives in Pair of Runs With Mathewson on Mound.

SAIER CLOUTS HOME RUN.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Chicago's Cubs checked their downward career today by beating Christy Mathewson and eight other determined Giants, 4 to 3, in the third battle of this crucial campaign. The O'Days had to win the game twice, besides repulsing a fierce attack in the last half of the ninth. There were three Giants on bases when Bert Humphries finally was returned victor as Tommy Leach camped under a tall fly for the twenty-seventh demise.

There were seven innings in which it looked as if the Cubs were hopelessly, helplessly hypnotized by the old master, who pitched a grand old masterly game against them for that period. Matty merely toyed with the visitors up to the eighth. In that time they made only one single off him and nothing else that listened like one.

Saier Slams Home Run.

Vic Saier broke the string with a home run swat into the right field stand in the eighth. This swell knock tied up the one run which a wild peg by Archer gave the Giants in the opening inning. Before the Cubs' eighth was over Humphries himself drove home what ought to have been the winning run with a clean single, but the Giants managed to knot the score again in their half.

Luck came Chicago's way in the ninth and enabled them to grab two more runs, and it was a two bagger by Claude Derrick that won the game after Dame Fortune had robbed Sweeney of the privilege of swelling up over the triumphant swat because a Giant speared it in midair. It was fortunate the Cubs made two instead of one in their last attack for a muff by Saier put the Giants in the way of winning out in their half and the margin at the finish was too close to shout about. This achievement enabled the Cubs to keep pace with the coming Cardinals and frolicsome Braves.

Giants Score in Opener.

New York had a run in the first inning before Humphries or the Cubs got set. Bescher opened with a lob fly into left good for a single. Doyle rainbowed to Good, then Bescher stole second and made third on Archer's low throw. Burns and Robertson walked, filling the corners, then Fletcher's fly to Knisely scored Bescher. Archer wrecked a double steal, ending that assault.

Humphries tightened after the first and set the Giants down steadily for the next six innings without another run, but the one given them looked plenty big enough. The Cubs simply could not do a thing with Matty. The first eleven to face him went out on easy chances. Knisely got the first safety off "Big Six" with two gone in the fourth. But that was the only break the one, two, three order in which the Cubs were retired up to the eighth round.

Saier disturbed New York's happy dream by putting the first ball pitched in the eighth on a line into the right field seats for a run, which tied the score. Sweeney followed with a single and was sacrificed ahead by Derrick. Archer pulled a safety between short and third, but Fletcher got it in time to hold Sweeney on third. It was futile endeavor, for Humphries chalked his bat and singled to center, scoring Sweeney.

McGraws Tie the Count.

That slender margin did not prove enough for, with two gone in the home half, Robertson singled, stole second, and scored on Fletcher's single to center.

Mathewson issued his only base on balls to Knisely to start the ninth and it proved his undoing. Zimmerman could only force Pete at second, but Saier came across with a single in which Heine sneaked to third with the aid of a muff by Stock, which ruined Robertson's swell throw. Sweeney soaked a hot one toward left, but Stock jumped and pinched it. Derrick followed with one like it, but out of Stock's reach, and two runs scored on it.

They were both needed, for a muff by Saier gave Merkle a life in the last half and the Giant reserves were rushed out to good purpose. McLean singled, then gave way to a pinch runner. Donlin flew out for Stuck, but Murray took Matty's place and singled, scoring Merkle. The other runners moved up on Bescher's out, so Doyle was passed intentionally and Burns flied to Leach.

CUB SYDELIGHTS.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—One more game here tomorrow.

The Cubs will exhibit at White Plains on Sunday.

The Cubs still have a chance for an even break this time with the Giants, but that won't get them any pennants.

Burns slipped and nearly fell as he got under Good's fly in the fourth inning, but recovered in time to jump sideways and catch the thing.

Knisely at last broke his string by stinging a single into the right field in the fourth inning. It was his first in twenty-seven attempts since joining the Cubs.

Rogge and Ellis Johnson, formerly of the Sox, watched the game. They were in this vicinity with the Montreal team, to which they were farmed, and had a day off.

The Giants ran bases with some abandon in the early innings, but Archer stopped them by catching Burns off third with the familiar bluff throw when a double steal was inaugurated by Robertson.

Mathewson wasted no strength in the first seven innings. He stuck the first one over constantly and most of the Cubs took a cut at it, with the result that they went out in order in six out of seven innings.

Saier's error in the ninth was due to trying to pick a throw out from in front of Merkle, who was racing to first on a little hit to Humphries. Saier caught the ball all right, but Merkle brushed it out of his mitt as he passed. Saier made up for that slip right away by saving Derrick a wild throw on Bescher's bounder. It required a one handed catch to get the ball.

SCHULTE WILL NOT JUMP; O'DAY LIFTS SUSPENSION.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Frank Schulte will not join the Federal league forces right away. He was reinstated this morning by Manager O'Day after the mediation of wiser heads had brought them together and Schulte had apologized for what he said in public last night to his manager.

The good offices of President Thomas, who is reported to be on the way to act as peacemaker, will not be needed, as the entente cordiale has been restored to all appearances. Manager Stovall of the Kansas City Feds was much disappointed, for he had counted on landing Schulte today. The chances of the Federals were minimized, however, by the attempt of the New York American league club to land the Cub outfielder.

President Farrell of the Yankees motored in from his summer residence this forenoon to confer with O'Day about a possible deal for Schulte and communications were opened with Manager Chance, who needs another outfielder. Everything is off for the present and the camp is serene again, as Knisely finally made a hit.

LAST MONDAY.

(The Sox Sixth.)

Gleason—Well, boys, let's get 'em right this innin'.

Berger—Get on there, Russ! You can do it.

Cal—Look where McInnis is playing. John ought to crack one at him.

Gleason—John, O John! He's right on top o' you.

Cal—Use your own judgment.

(J. Collins tries to hit one past McInnis, but fouls it off.)

Gleason—That's the way, John. He's drove back. You got him guessin', John. Look out, Sally McInnis. He'll knock your front out through your back.

(J. Collins tries to bunt, but fouls it off.)

Gleason—Never mind that, John. You had Sally all crossed up. Get a hold o' one now, John. You can do it.

(The count goes to two and three on J. Collins.)

Gleason—Look out there, Bake! He'll knock your shins off'n you.

Berger—Get back in left field, Baker. He'll kill you.

Cal—Get a hold of one, John.

Gleason—LOOK OUT, RUSS! Get back there.

Gleason—LOOK OUT, RUSS!

* *

Cal—That's all right, Russell. He can't hold you up. He never could hold anybody up at second base.

Gleason—Look out for Monkey-Face, Russ.

Walsh—Get a hold o' one, John.

Sullivan—John can do it.

(J. Collins hits a long line drive to left center.)

Cal—There it is. They won't get that one.

Walsh—Watch that baby run! He's just flyin'!

(Blackburne scores and J. Collins pulls up at third base.)

Walsh—I guess that baby didn't hit it! And I guess he went round there like a freight!

Berger—That's the hittin', John!

Cal—We've got him now. He's uneasy out there.

Benz—He's gone. If Jack hits one now it's all off.

Berger—Jack'll hit one.

(Fournier is hit in the arm.)

Gleason—He's GONE! He's gone, I tell you! We got him now.

(Schalk flies to J. Walsh and J. Collins scores.)

* *

Cal—Nice hitting, John.

Collins—McInnis was right on top o' me on that first one. I was tryin' to crack one past him. I didn't get a hold of it right. The second one was the biggest curve I ever looked at. It pretty near hit me in the lunch. At that, I almost made a good bunt of it.

Blackburne—I'm glad you didn't.

Collins—So am I, now.

Cicotte—You missed that one.

Berger—Yes; you fouled it, I guess.

Cicotte—If it hadn't been for the fence the ball'd of went over on Archer avenue and broke a window light.

(Demmitt singles to right, sending Fournier to third. The squeeze play is worked by Bodie and Fournier.)

Gleason—Yatta boy, 'Ping. You fin'lly done somethin'.

Walsh—Where'd the ball hit you, Jack? I thought your arm was broke.

Blackburne—Get a hold o' one, Tommy. Another run won't hurt.

(Daly fouls to Lapp.)

* *

Gleason—Never mind. We don't need another one. Work hard, Scotty.

Cal—Shoot 'em through there, Scotty. You've got 'em.

(The Athletic Seventh.)

Sully—Is that ball in the game, Eddie?

Cicotte—No, that's ours. It's been in a lot o' games, but it looks new, don't it? That's because it always happened to get used when we was at bat. We don't never hurt a ball. If it wasn't for the other clubs, we could play with one ball here all summer. The only way we ever lose one is to foul it up in the stand and have somebody put it in their pocket. When some clubs punishes a ball, it feels pretty sick, but when we have a battin' rally, the ball don't even know it's been hit. A White Sox battin' rally—Two bases on balls and a sacrifice fly. Look at the score board! They haven't got our three up there. The boy prob'ly had his arms full o' ciphers, all ready for us. Or maybe he's fell dead.

Cal—What's that? Three and one. Tell Russell to keep working.

Cicotte—He's workin', Cal. He's all ready.

[Strunk walks.]

Gleason—Never mind that, Scotty. Make 'em hit. No matter where he likes 'em, get 'em over that plate.

[Barry grounds out.]

Cal—That's the way, Jim. No danger.

Gleason—Bust 'em through there, Jim. You got 'em.

[Lapp walks and Schang is put on to run for him.]

Cal—Is Russell ready? Tell him to be ready.

Gleason—Steady up, Jim. Get 'em over that plate. Who is this battin' for Plank?

Cicotte—That's Davies.

Cal—Get Scott out of there and call Russell.

Gleason—Wait a minute. [Davies is hit by a pitched ball.] Too late now. Well, Cal, do you want Russell? Better get Russell.

* *

Cal—Well, let's see. Yes; call Russell. Stop the game. Call Russell. Wait a minute. If I stick him in there, they'll take Murphy out and—let's see; they'll send Oldring up there. Well, it doesn't make any difference. Call Russell. Get Scott out o' there.

Umps Connolly—Who's your pitcher, Jim?

Gleason—Russell's goin' to pitch.

Umps Connolly—I'm askin' Jim.

Gleason—It's Russell.

Umps Connolly—Is it Russell, Jim?

Cal—Wait a minute. Is Schang in the game? Let's see. Well, if I give 'em a right-hander, Murphy'll hit and if I give 'em Russell, it'll be Oldring. It doesn't make any difference. Go ahead.

Umps Connolly—Is it Russell?

Cal—Yes, go ahead. It's Russell.

Umps Connolly—All right.

* *

Gleason—Get in there, Reb. Bust 'em through. No matter where he hits 'em, get 'em over the plate.

Cicotte—You're out o' luck, Scotty.

[Russell gets two strikes on Oldring.]

Gleason—Yat ta boy, Reb! One out! No danger! Bust 'em through there.

Cal—Give 'em all you got.

[Oldring walks, forcing Strunk home.]

Gleason—Well, I'm a—[cut out.]

Cal—[Cut out.]

Gleason—[Cut out. Cut out. Cut out.]

Cal—Get him out o' there. Is Faber ready?

Benz—Yes. He's all ready.

Cal—Run down there Joe, and send Faber up, and tell Wolfgang to get ready, and throw some yourself. Hurry up. Go slow. Wait a minute. Stop the game. Get Russell out o' there. Wait a minute, Tommy. Stop the game. Call Faber, Bill. Stop the game! Russell's through. Get him out o' there. All right. Here's Faber. Go ahead. All right.

Gleason—Bust 'em through there, Red. No matter where he hits 'em, get 'em over that plate.

[J. Walsh pops out.]

Gleason—THAT'S THE WAY! That's workin', Red. Two down. You've got 'em.

Cal—Two down, Red. No danger.

[E. Collins walks, forcing Schang in with the tying run.]

Gleason—They got us tied. The [Cut out.]

Cal—!!!!!!

[Baker walks, forcing Davies home.]

* *

Cal—Stop the game! Get him out o' there. Is Wolfgang ready? Holler for Wolfgang. Get Faber out o' there. Wait a minute! Faber's out o' there. It's Wolfgang, Tommy. Stop the game! I'm a ——.

Gleason—Bust 'em through there, Mel! All you got to do is get 'em over there. You can do it.

[McInnis greets Wolfgang with a single to left, scoring Oldring and E. Collins.]

Gleason—Never mind that, Red! That's better. Keep gettin' 'em over there.

[Strunk flies out.]

Cal—WELL!!!! How many did they get? Three?

Gleason—THREE! They got FIVE!

Cal—Well, I'm a ——.

Gleason—I've saw a lot o' baseball, but that's the worst I ever seen.

Wolfgang—I got that one inside to McInnis.

TERRAPINS LEAD; BEAT TINX, 5 TO 2

Baltimore Pounds McGuire and Ousts Chicago from First Place.

THREE HOMERS IN FRAY

BY KEENE GARDINER.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Baltimore took the final struggle of the series from the Chicago Feds this afternoon in a loosely played game by a score of 5 to 2. Manager Tinker's team played great ball for five innings and then went to pieces when Catcher Clemons threw the ball away, allowing two runs to count and breaking a tie at 2-all.

By losing two of three games played with the Terrapins in winding up their long eastern trip the Tinx return home removed from the honored position at the top of the heap, although only four points separate the two teams which battled this afternoon.

Home Run Greets McGuire.

Thomas McGuire proved a poor choice as twirler for the most important game of the series. The Terrapins had displayed a weakness against spitters, and so Mac was picked, principally because he had trimmed the Baltimoreans twice before. That he was to be rapped hard was evident when the first man up drove a home run over the left field fence. This run grew larger and larger until the fourth inning, when Austin Walsh drove a hard liner to right field which bounded into the bleachers for a home run, tying the count.

The Terrapins came right back and untied the count when Duncan doubled, was sacrificed to third, and scored on an infield out which Farrell snatched out of the grass but could not recover in time to get the runner at the plate.

Pitcher McGuire again knotted the count in the sixth. He slammed the ball against the center field fence and it bounded around the field with Duncan in wild chase after it, but before he recovered it McGuire crossed the pan for a home run.

Terrapins Clinch Victory.

The wild round came in the home team's half of the same session. Simmons doubled as the leadoff man and Swacina followed with a single which Zwilling recovered quickly and held Simmons at third. Swacina attempted to reach second on the throw and Clemons threw the ball to center field. Simmons scored and when Zwilling allowed the ball to roll to the fence Swacina also counted. McGuire allowed two more to get on before he was yanked and Fisk replaced him. Suggs singled, counting another, and that ended the run getting.

George Suggs was master of the Tinx at all times thereafter. He held the visitors to six hits and fanned eight. With men on bases he was at his best.

Chicago had a chance to tie the count in the ninth inning, but base runners went to sleep. Wickland led off with a single, but was forced by Zwilling. Roberts batted for Clemons and was passed. Walsh followed with a long drive to left and the runners, not heeding the cries of the coachers, kept on going, evidently believing there were two out. Simmons caught the ball near the left field fence and Zwilling and Roberts kept on running toward the home coop. Simmons threw the ball to Doolan, who relayed it to Knabe at second; doubling Zwilling.

Exhibition Angers Tinker.

Manager Tinker, who had been replaced by Stanley, threw his glove in the air and was noticeably disgusted with his athletes. Both teams rushed for a 7 o'clock train as soon as the game was over.

The Break of the Game

CUBS.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—With the score tied in the Cub ninth and Zimmerman on first with one down Saier pulled a single into right. Zimmerman had to stop to avoid being hit by the ball, but dashed for third on it just the same. Robertson's throw beat Heine to third and Umpire Klem called him out, then reversed because Stock dropped the ball. But for that slip the Cubs could not have scored in that session.

TINX.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Chicago fought desperately and two home runs had tied the count when Catcher Clemons, with an easy out at second, threw the ball to center field. Zwilling, perturbed by the error, allowed the ball to bound beyond him and two runs crossed the plate. This lead was never overcome.

SOX POUND BALL; BEAT WAUKEGAN

Collins Poles Five Hits, While Walsh and Faber Check Semi-Pros.

CHAPPELL BACK AGAIN.

BY SAM WELLER.

Waukegan, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Comiskey's White Sox regulars had a little outing here this afternoon at the expense of the Waukegan city team, winning, 13 to 1, in a game that seemed to amuse about 4,500 fans intensely.

It was a great relief for the major leaguers, under the command of Kid Gleason, to win a ball game after their treatment at the hands of the world's champions. The Sox found a club they could lick good and plenty, but it must be said for them that they had a stronger team in the field than which opposed Connie Mack's world beaters at Comiskey park. Larry Chappell came back into the game after an absence of more than four months. The famous Milwaukee "beauty" limped a little, but played well in the field and was credited with three hits.

Collins Swats Five Hits.

Shano Collins was the batting star, getting five base hits in six times at bat. One was a triple, two were doubles, and two were singles. Russell Blackburne made a record for errors, but had a lot of fun in doing it. He said he made all his mistakes in exhibition games nowadays.

Ed Walsh pitched five innings. The big moose was cheered when he went to the slab and at every appearance at bat. The attempts of the local players to connect with the delivery of Walsh and with that of Faber, who succeeded him, were ludicrous.

Breton Back in Game.

Tom Daly played first base again and showed well, both in fielding and batting. Another comeback was Jimmy Breton, the White Sox regular third baseman, who had been ill with the chicken pox. Jimmy played a great game at his old station. He will be able to take his place in the batting order against the Washington club tomorrow. "Kid" Gleason said the Waukegan players seemed to be puzzled by Walsh's new spit ball as well as by Faber's curves. Billy Sullivan, who caught for the White Sox, has umpired several games here and the fans gave him a big sendoff.

All the White Sox players made the trip to Waukegan by automobile, and four of them acted in the role of chauffeurs. Score:

AUTO ROBBERS KILL 2 IN RAIDS

Shoot Station Agent and Policeman in West Side Battles.

CAPTURE TWO GUNMEN.

there—Roger Kirkland. They snatched up $4.70 and fled.

Cashier Resists; Shot Dead.

By this time the alarm had been spread and the men directed their machine north to the Oak Park elevated.

They drew up in front of the Robey street station and all three entered. Stevens, who was a veteran of the Civil war, refused to hold up his hands at the command. They shot him through the heart and he fell in a limp heap in the cashier's cage. Before leaving the station, one of the men grabbed up about $30.

Policeman Nels Larson of the Lake street station was standing outside near the station. When he heard the shot he started running toward it. As the three men dashed out he drew his revolver. The chauffeur, becoming alarmed, started the machine and drove away without his passengers. In their dilemma, the men turned and ran south in Robey street, exchanging shots with Larson.

Shoot a Bystander.

W. E. Graff was standing in his front yard a few doors from the station as they passed. Seeing the drawn revolvers and thinking he was to be made the victim of a holdup, he threw up both hands. One of the robbers thought he was about to stop them and fired at him. The bullet passed through the palm of Graff's right hand.

Larson pursued them south in Robey street to Warren avenue, where the men turned east. At Lincoln street they turned north with Larson still about a half a block behind. As they neared West Madison street they darted down an alley toward Wood street.

Policeman Rowe was standing at the entrance to the alley in Wood street. Without a warning of any kind one of the fugitives fired a bullet into the policeman's abdomen and he crumpled up in a heap.

Shoots Fleeing Robber.

Larson gained on the fleeing men as they turned out of the alley, and he fired three shots, all of which struck Geary. The wounded highwayman fell to the pavement and McNally sprawled over his prostrate form. Before he could get up, Larson had collared him.

Larson hurried his prisoner to Wood and West Madison streets and summoned the patrol. Geary was still conscious and he was rushed to the bridewell hospital.

Geary gave his occupation as a teamster. McNally was taken before Capt. Costello and questioned, but refused to talk. Policeman William Davern said he recognized McNally as the same man who was sent to prison for holding up the Center avenue station of the west side elevated five years ago.

Finds Dying Policeman.

Detective Sergt. Thomas Comerford of the detective bureau was riding in the vicinity in his automobile when he heard the policeman and the robbers exchanging shots. He saw one man run from the alley and he pursued him for a short distance, but the robber escaped.

Detective Comerford then returned to the scene of the shooting and found Policeman Rowe lying unconscious in the entrance of the alley. He put him in his automobile and took him to the county hospital, but he died before that institution was reached. Policeman Rowe had been on the force for thirty years.

BANK PRAISE FOR 'TRIBUNE'

Hector's Advice to Depositors Great Aid in Crisis.

HELPED SAVE THE DAY.

Institutions Reprint Article and Send It to Patrons.

Next to their own precautions the bankers of Chicago are unanimous in the belief that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the papers that have followed its lead have done most to tide over the financial crisis precipitated by the war of the powers.

At a number of the banks yesterday reprints of the article of Aug. 4, in which Eugene Hector, financial editor of THE TRIBUNE, showed why the savings bank cannot well pay off the entire amount of deposits on demand, were distributed to patrons.

F. P. Schreiber, cashier of the Union Trust company, J. I. Cooper, cashier of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank; Frank O. Wetmore, first vice president of the First National bank; Thomas D. Allin of the National Bank of the Republic, and many others praised the stand which has been taken constantly by THE TRIBUNE.

Bars Down Soon.

Mr. Schreiber said he believed that within a week the bars will be lowered, and savings banks will be paying all demands of their depositors without requiring either legal notice or an explanation satisfying them of the urgency of the need of the money.

Bank officials and employés feel that the "white water" is behind and that everything from now on will be plain sailing. As a result of this feeling, many bank officials, whose vacations were curtailed or postponed on account of conditions, are once more taking an active interest in time tables, fishing tackle, and golf clubs.

The willingness of businesss men to abide by whatever rules are laid down by the banks and to follow suggestions of bankers is being more strikingly demonstrated each day. For a time some of the savings banks permitted withdrawals without notice in cases where depositors had to meet mortgages.

Withdrawals Unnecessary.

These withdrawals have been proved unnecessary.

"Show your bank book to the mortgagor," the bankers now advise. "Tell him you have plenty of money, but prefer not to complicate the situation by drawing it now. Ask him to let the mortgage run on for a month or two, bearing the regular interest."

In not a single case where this advice has been given has the mortgagor refused his assent.

A few days ago one depositor, who seemed a little worried, drew $2,000 from the Corn Exchange National bank. He said he wanted to send it to a friend stranded in Europe. The money was paid without question when he showed an urgent cable from the friend.

As he walked from the bank with his pockets sagging under their weight of gold coin—the depositor had been paid, as he requested, in "the real thing"—the man breathed a sigh of relief.

Returns with Gold.

The bank did not see him again until yesterday. Then he approached J. Edward Maass, the cashier. Again his pockets were sagging.

"I wish you'd take this gold back," he said. "I've found I can't ship it away to Europe and I haven't had an unworried minute since you let me have it. I want to sleep tonight."

A large part of Chicago's $70,000,000 of Aldrich-Vreeland currency reached the city in the forenoon and was put in the subtreasury vaults. Irving Shuman, United States subtreasurer, expects to receive orders to distribute some of the money to the banks today.

Fined for 'Shaking Down' Peddlers

John Quirk of 7724 Lagoon avenue, South Chicago, was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Judge Uhlir on the charge that he had used a watchman's star to frighten peddlers into giving him money for "protection."

He said that Goldman had told him that he intended to commit perjury before the grand jury. Rothenberg said Goldman had declared he would testify that Morris Abrahams had told him the ballots in a certain precinct would not be counted, but that a number of votes would be assigned each candidate.

OWENS HAS PLAN TO REMEDY EVILS OF LONG BALLOT

Suggests Convention to Prepare Revision for the Next Legislature.

ELECTION WORK BEHIND

The Chicago election commission already is swamped with work. It is a grave question as to the ability of the officials to prepare the necessary paraphernalia, including specimen and official ballots, election booths, and polling places for the Sept. 9 primaries. Redistricting of the city precincts, because of the added woman's vote, is dangerously far behind. Election judges and clerks face a seventy-two hour task in counting the votes to be cast at the primaries. And there is an intermediate registration provided by the mauled-over direct primary law set by statute for Aug. 19.

Chicago will foot a bill for all of this approaching the half million dollar mark.

Must Be Election Law Revision.

These conditions were disclosed yesterday by County Judge Owens. He has a plan to change this situation materially. He said he believes that there must be an immediate revision and codification of the election laws, general and primary, based upon the short ballot, which must come through a constitutional amendment and preferably through a constitutional convention.

It is his idea that an "elections convention," modeled somewhat after the plan of organization of the Chicago charter convention, should be summoned. He would have this body of perhaps 100 or more prepare a practical revision for submission to the next legislature.

Chief Clerk William H. Stuart of the election commission had a proof of the Democratic primary ballot yesterday. The "governing" column contains 180 names of candidates for county commissioners. This means that the Democratic ballot will be forty-eight inches long—a yard and a third.

Will Certify Ward Committeemen.

County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer announced yesterday that he will certify the names of candidates for ward committeemen, as filed with him, to the primary ballots, in spite of the ruling of Attorney General Lucey, that ward committeemen should not be elected in September. Mr. Sweitzer said that the legality can be determined by court action after the primary, if anybody cares to raise the question. This decision throws open the control of the party organization to men and women voters, under the suffrage act. This means a Democratic and Republican fight in nearly every ward. There will be Sullivan and H-H candidates on the Democratic side, and Deneen and anti-Deneen tickets over the city in the Republican primaries.

"Regular" Candidates Announced.

The "regulars" who will be supported by the present, or Sullivan Democratic organization, were announced yesterday as follows:

Ward.
1—Michael Kenna.
2—W. J. Graham.
4—James M. Dailey.
5—Henry McEnerney.
7—E. F. Brennan.
8—Michael P. Burns.
9—John J. Leonard.
10—Edward Tencil.
11—Leo Roeder.
13—M. J. O'Brien.
14—Michael F. Maher.
15—Thomas P. Keane.
16—William Mazurek.
17—J. Rushkewicz.
18—George P. Look and B. J. Grogan.
19—John Powers.

Ward.
20—Henry L. Fick.
21—John F. O'Malley.
22—John Ciskowski.
23—Joseph I. Gill.
24—Frank F. Roeder.
25—W. F. Quinlan.
26—Bernard F. Weber.
27—Neil Murley.
28—F. D. Connery.
29—John Downey.
30—D. D. McCarthy.
31—M. K. Sheridan.
32—J. P. Reevers.
33—Timothy J. Crow.
34—Edward J. Welky.
35—W. P. Feeney.

No Fight in Three Wards.

There are no regular organization candidates in the Third ward, where County Treasurer William L. O'Connell is being fought by one of his own men, George W. Hainan; in the Sixth, where State Grain Inspector John P. Gibbons is opposed by State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne, and the Twelfth, where Anton J. Carmak has trouble from four opponents.

Democratic regulars expressed considerable satisfaction yesterday that the Third ward organization, Wednesday night, had failed to indorse United States Marshal John J. Bradley, of that ward, for county treasurer. The trouble is said to be that County Treasurer O'Connell, although strongly for Bradley, did not want to go into a fight with Alderman Jacob Lindheimer, H-H leader and openly for Henry Stuckart for treasurer, over a question which would involve the indorsement of the entire H.-H. slate, including Bradley for treasurer.

Judge Petitions Monday.

City Clerk Francis D. Connery announced yesterday that mail petitions for judges of the municipal courts will be received in his office Monday morning, the first day for filing. This is the rule adopted by Secretary of State Woods and County Clerk Sweitzer, Mr. Connery said, and is the same as was made by him last year. The prospects are for the filing of petitions of at least 400 Municipal court candidates.

Republican County Chairman John F. Devine issued a statement yesterday asserting that the Progressive party in Cook county is "boss ruled."

County Clerk Sweitzer served warning that today is the last day for senatorial committees to certify the number of house candidates to be nominated in September.

NIECE TRIES TO BREAK WILL

Court Asked to Set Aside Testament of James Pierce.

OLD PAPER IS LOCATED.

Woman Loses First Legal Battle at Aurora and Appeals.

The Circuit court of Cook county has been appealed to by Mrs. Catherine Schifferle of Peoria, Ill., in her legal battle to break the will of her uncle, the late James Pierce of Chicago. Mr. Pierce was well known in Aurora, where he went for many years on the first of every month to visit the grave of his wife, sometimes wading through deep snow drifts to place a few flowers on the mound. He left an estate of $50,000.

Four Wills Made by Pierce.

Mr. Pierce made four wills during his lifetime, but his lawyers advised him to destroy them after he had executed a trust agreement with the First National bank of Aurora disposing of his property. He destroyed three, but was unable to find the fourth, which was made twenty years ago. It was not found until a few weeks after his death several months ago.

By its terms, Mr. Pierce bequeathed $5,000 to his housekeeper, Mrs. Annie Dorothy Johnson of 6500 Stewart avenue. The residue of the estate is bequeathed in smaller amounts to distant relatives and Mrs. Schifferle is disinherited.

Conservator Is Refused.

Three years ago Mrs. Schifferle attempted to have a conservator appointed for her uncle, but her petition was denied by Judge Cutting before the hearing was completed. She attempted to have letters of administration issued to her after his death, but failed. She then attempted to have the old will set aside, but Judge Gregg yesterday upheld the old document. An appeal was then taken.

A little boy strayed away from his parents at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Lincoln park. He is Walter Weisgerder, 6 years old, of 658 West Thirty-first street. After a thorough search for the youngster the Lincoln park police called up THE TRIBUNE and asked that a description of the boy be printed in the hope that the person who has found the boy will read of it and notify his parents. If you have seen a boy wearing a white waist, blue trousers, brown sandals, white straw hat with a blue band, and white stockings please call Yards 5733.

WAR MAY CUT FOOD PRICES

Certain American Products Expected to Be Cheaper.

OTHERS ARE DUE TO RISE.

Oscar B. McAlasson Discusses Effects of Conflict.

European war may have the unusual effect of decreasing the prices of certain foodstuffs that are produced in America, according to Oscar B. McGlasson, president of the National Wholesale Grocers' association and secretary of McNeil-Higgins company. On the other hand, if merchant marine service can be obtained to Europe it will serve to stimulate business and tend to boost prices, in the opinion of Mr. McGlasson.

"There is a large supply of canned goods, such as vegetables, fruits, salmon, and milk, and if the European market is entirely cut off prices probably will go down," he said. "Immediate increases may be looked for in such articles as spices and citron, but they constitute a small part of the cost of living."

No Occasion for Fear.

"On the whole if the war is closed in two or three months it won't have any decided effect. But if it continues six months or a year and transportation to Europe is made possible this country will get some satisfactory business. I suppose prices of foodstuffs will increase.

"The wholesalers have been impressing on the retailers the fact there is no occasion to be alarmed. We feel that it would be foolish of the retailers to lay in supplies for fear of a shortage. We are devising means of getting foodstuffs whatever may happen and on as close a margin as possible."

Others Grocers Reluctant.

Other wholesale grocers were reluctant about discussing the situation.

"I can form no conception as to what will happen," said J. J. Dau, president of Reid, Murdoch & Co. "It is too early even to make a guess."

WAR BREAKS UP A HOME.

Gustave Bour Leaves German Wife to Fight for His Native France.

Gustave Bour is a Frenchman. Mrs. Emma Bour, his wife, is a Berliner. For three months they were happy at their newlywed quarters at 3017 Parnell avenue. Then war was declared in Europe and that ancient matter of Alsace-Lorraine became an issue out in Parnell avenue. Yesterday Mrs. Bour appeared in the Court of Domestic Relations to complain that her husband had packed his clothes and abandoned her, announcing that he was going to fight for fair France.

BUTTE IN GRIP OF LABOR UNION, U. S. BODY FINDS

Miners' Rule of City Complete Despite Bitter Internal Feud.

VIOLENT CLASH FEARED

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Butte, Mont., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The United States industrial relations commission's study of relations between capital and labor in Buttte presented a wide contrast with those found at Lead, S. D., at the opening session here today. In Lead the entire community is dominated by the Homestake Mining company, a corporation in which Mrs. Phœbe A. Hearst is the controlling factor, and which has exterminated organized labor in the Black Hills mining industry.

In Butte, the commission found, organized labor, though split into warring factions, controls everything from the 15,000 employés of the Anaconda Mining company to the newsboys and the bootblacks.

In spite of the warning given by Prof. John R. Commons, acting chairman, that the commission would not enter into a discussion of the recent riots here, much of this unavoidably crept into the testimony.

Find I. W. W. Feud.

From the outset it became apparent to the commissioners that a feud virtually exists between the "old line" conservative trade union leaders and the I. W. W. agitators. The testimony showed, likewise, that the Socialist leaders, whose party controls the city administration, are comparatively conservative in their views as against the views of the ultra radical I. W. W. leaders.

Many of the Socialists, it was shown, impatient at the "inactivity" of the conservative officials of the old union regarding higher wages, have allied themselves with the I. W. W. faction and are openly espousing "direct action," syndicalism, and sabotage.

The cleavage on the issue has reached a stage, according to the testimony, where the I. W. W. leaders have organized an opposition union with a membership of close to 5,000 seceders. That it eventually will bring on a clash ofserious magnitude there is no doubt.

Make Graft Charge.

It was charged the miners' fight against the old union leaders and officials had its inception in accusations of graft. The I. W. W. street speakers alleged the old union officials with misapplication of strike benefit funds raised to aid strikers in the Michigan copper country. The old union officials were pilloried as "company men," that is, under the complete influence and control of the officials of the Anaconda Mining company.

The commission today contined the testimony to that from witnesses for the Anaconda company, the socialist city administration and an alleged "company" miner of the old union. Only four commissioners, Prof. Commons, representing the public, James O'Connell and John B. Lennon of the American Federation of Labor, and A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, were present.

Delano Sends Resignation.

Prof. Commons received a telegram during the day from Frederick A. Delano of Chicago, president of the Monon Railroad, announcing his resignation from the commission on account of his appointment to the federal reserve board.

Dennis Murphy, the miner who testified, described the basis of the split in the union as the propoganda of the radical element, which generally condemned the policies of the Western Federation of Miners as weak.

"Are you a company man?" Prof. Commons asked.

"That's it, exactly," Murphy said, and admitted the old union had done little toward higher wages.

"Was the charge made against the old union officials that the elections were conducted unfairly?" Commissioner Garretson asked.

"Not in my hearing," the witness replied, amid laughter from the big audience.

Acting Mayor on Stand.

Clarence A. Smith, acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Duncan, who is in Salt Lake City recovering from injuries received in the recent riots when he was stabbed, explained the growth of the Socialist party in Butte, by stating that the 'rank and file of the city believe the people, rather than the Anaconda company, should dominate public affairs."

He asserted the effect of the Socialist administration has been to improve health conditions of the city, reduce the death rate from communicable diseases, improve moral conditions, restrict vice and effect economies of administration. The effect on the company, he said, had been to establish the right of free speech for Socialists and to prevent the company from discriminating against their employment.

Describes Wage Scale.

C. F. Kelly, vice president and managing director of the Anaconda Mining company, described working conditions. He said the company practically operates a "closed shop," outlined the wage scale and asserted the policy of the company was to maintain amicable relations with the union.

"I believe that in prosperous years the wage earners should participate in the increased earnings of the company," said he. "In lean years there should be a ratio between wages and dividends."

The wages of the company's employés go up or down with $3.50 a day for all underground men as the basic minimum, in accordance with the advance or decline of the price of copper

YOUTH HANGS SELF IN JAIL

Joe Shapiro, Who Shot Sweetheart, Twists Noose from Blankets, and Dies.

TRIED DEATH BEFORE.

Sophia Kasamowitz and Joe Shapiro, her 18 year old suitor, did not get along. The course of true love was even more than conventionally disturbed. About two weeks ago they had a quarrel which the girl told him was the end.

She refused to marry the youth and ordered him never to appear again at her home at 1311 West Fourteenth place.

Then he shot her.

First Attempt Fails.

The girl, desperately wounded, was taken to the county hospital, and Shapiro was arrested.

In the Maxwell street station Shapiro tried to kill himself by hanging. He was revived and placed under special guard awaiting his removal to the county jail.

Cell Guard Finds Body.

O. N. O'Keefe, the cell house guard, was making his rounds at the jail yesterday afternoon when he saw Shapiro swinging from the top of his cell, dead.

The prisoner had twisted a rope from torn strands of his blanket, mounted a stool, tied the rope about his neck, and the cells bars, then jumped off.

Numerous attempts at suicide by hanging have been made at the county jail. Three prisoners have succeeded in the last two years.

SHOOTING STAR VISIBLE, BUT IT'S NOT A WAR SIGN.

Delavan's Comet Presents Itself to View with a Fiery Tail at About 2 A. M.

If you saw a "shooting star" early this morning, don't be frightened, for it is not a symbol of the war. The brilliant you may have seen in the northeastern sky was Delavan's comet, discovered last December, and which is now trailing through space, visible to the naked eye and easily viewed with a pair of opera glasses.

Frederick C. Leonard, who has an observatory at 1338 Madison Park, gives the following directions for observing the comet tomorrow morning:

"Rise at 2 a. m.; gaze into the northeastern sky at a point seven degrees east by a little south of the second magnitude star Beta Auregae."

In another month, Mr. Leonard says, the comet will increase in brilliance.

"What did you break in here for?"

"Just to press these pants."

He was booked on a charge of burglary.

Body Believed to Be That of Paul Osterman of Rockford, Ill., Taken from Lake.

The body of a man believed to have been Paul Osterman, about 45 years old, was taken from the lake off Van Buren street yesterday afternoon.

He is believed to have been sleeping on the pier and to have rolled into the water. Letters bearing the name of "Paul Osterman, Rockford, Ill.," were found in his clothing.

The body was taken to undertaking rooms at 612 South Wabash avenue.

Mrs. Teniga was seriously injured. The automobile became unmanageable and backed down a hill. It somersaulted over a six foot embankment. Gets in Front of Spot Light and—

MISS EVAN BURROWS FONTAINE

NO COP AROUND; SHE MAKES PINCH

Mrs. Sophie Reinemann and Companion "Arrest" Mrs. Verna Dickson.

THEN CALL POLICEMAN.

Mrs. Sophie Reinemann of 4142 Berkeley avenue was walking with a woman friend at East Forty-third street and Lake Park avenue yesterday when she spied Mrs. Verna Dickson, a dressmaker of 4303 Oakenwald avenue, walking on the opposite side of the street. She darted across and grabbed Mrs. Dickson by the arm.

"Help!" shouted Mrs. Dickson, as she tried to pull herself free.

"Help!" echoed Mrs. Reinemann, and her friend came to her assistance. Together they dragged their prisoner across the street as a crowd collected.

Hides Behind Desk.

"It's a kidnaping," some one shouted.

"Naw; she's a lady cop," commented a small boy.

"Let me go," persisted Mrs. Dickson, struggling.

"Where'll we take her?" asked Mrs. Reinemann.

"In here," replied her friend, whose name was not learned, leading the way into a coal office. A clerk sought shelter behind a desk. The self-appointed policewomen forced thier prisoner into a chair and Mrs. Reinemann left her friend on guard while she hurried after a policeman.

Women Guard Her.

Every time Mrs. Dickson attempted to rise the woman guard shoved her back into the chair. Finally Mrs. Reinemann returned with Policeman Anthony Danielson.

"There she is," said Mrs. Reinemann. "Lock her up."

The three women rode to the Hyde Park station in the patrol.

"What's the row?" asked the desk sergeant.

Couldn't Find Mrs. Dickson.

"I gave this woman $75 for some furniture on July 24," panted Mrs. Reinemann. "When I went to get it there was another woman there and she said she owned the furniture, and not Mrs. Dickson. She wouldn't let me have it and I couldn't find Mrs. Dickson to get my money back."

"It isn't true," wept Mrs. Dickson. "I didn't defraud her. She and this woman grabbed me on the street and handled me roughly. It's an outrage."

Despite her pleas, Mrs. Dickson was locked up and will be arraigned before Municipal Judge Uhlir today.

PROUTYS OF DIVORCE FAME ADOPT FOUR YEAR OLD BOY.

Winnetka Man Who Defied Year Remarriage Law and Was Sentenced to Jail Files Petition.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Prouty of Winnetka yesterday filed a petition in the Circuit court for the adoption of John Theodore Faitz, 4 years old, the son of Emil E. Faitz of 3122 South Karlov avenue. The boy's mother died when he was but a year old, and the father, wishing to provide a permanent home for the child, consents to the adoption.

Mr. and Mrs. Prouty attracted public attention when they were married in Laporte, Ind., Oct. 2, 1912, four days after Prouty had been divorced from his former wife here.

May 23, 1913, Mr. Prouty was sentenced to three months in jail and to pay a fine of $500 for contempt by his remarriage prior to the expiration of one year provided by the Illinois law. He took an appeal, proposing to fight through to the United States Supreme court, if necessary. A year and a day after the first marriage he remarried the second Mrs. Prouty. She was formerly a secretary to Mr. Prouty in his real estate and banking business in Winnetka.

NAUGHTY SPOT LIGHT SHOCKS

Dazzling Rays Play on Dancers and Bismarck Garden Audience Gasps.

APPEAR TO BE DISROBED

Feminine eyebrows were elevated and not a few soprano gasps were uttered during two terpsichorean exhibitions given last night at the third annual outing dinner of the Illinois Athletic club at Bismarck garden. About 450 members, their wives and sweethearts attended. They occupied the terrace and the palais de danse exclusively.

The first thrill came with a program of several dances given by Miss Evans-Burrows Fontaine, a classic dancer. Matronly women seemed to be shocked at Miss Fontaine's wiggly interpretation of Carmen, but excused her by commenting that "she is only 18 years old."

Spotlight Gets Busy.

Miss Fontaine's costume was a gracefully draped creation of filmy nothingness. Her gown immediately brought forth a rumble of gossipy comment from the women present. But just as divided opinions were being exchanged as to the artistic effect, a spotlight flared up and devoured the gown. Miss Fontaine danced between the spotlight and the audience.

To all intents and purposes the danseuse was clad in black tights with an ephemeral film of tissue waving about where the gown had been but a moment before. The terrace was deserted at once and every one flocked to the palais de danse.

"Isn't that terrible?" gasped one woman.

Gets Idea from Paris.

"It was my idea entirely," said Maurice L. Caton, chairman of the entertainment committee, who arranged the program. "I designed the gown and everything. I got the idea of the spotlight being shown behind the dancer from a cable story of a party given in Paris recently. Wasn't it magnificent?"

During the dinner Charles Wallinger, a photographer who gave a bachelor dinner at the club ten days ago and disappeared, appeared with a bride. The couple were showered with rice and confetti and serpentine ribbon streamers of the club colors.

The dinner was a celebration of recent victories of the club athletes on track and in tank. It was announced that it was a gathering of "knife and fork" athletes. Among those who were hosts to parties were Commodore W. Y. Perry, president of the club, and Albert MacRae, secretary.

MODEST LAWYERS PUT LID ON "BOOSTS" IN THE PAPERS.

Chicago Bar Association Members Also Prohibited from Advertising with Press.

Members of the Chicago Bar association have been prohibited from inserting business cards in newspapers and from furnishing the press with information which will inspire laudatory comment.

As a result of action taken by the board of managers at a meeting on July 30, Richard S. Folsom, secretary of the association, yesterday sent the following notice to all members:

"It is the sense of the board of managers that insertion of a business card and furnishing or inspiring laudatory comment in newspaper publications is contrary to the spirit of section 27 of the code of professional ethics."

POLICE WARN SALOON MEN.

Three and One-half Foot Booth Ordinance Is Effective on August 16.

Chief of Police Gleason instructed commanding officers throughout the city yesterday to notify all saloon keepers in their districts that the ordinance regulating the height of booths in the rear rooms of their saloons goes into effect on Aug. 16.

MAN KILLED BY FIRE ENGINE IN DASH TO BLAZE

Explosions Threaten Flame Fighters in West Side Conflagration.

ONE FIREMAN INJURED

Fire and explosions in a warehouse and factory building at 216-218 South Canal street last night cost the life of one man, serious injury to a fireman, and a property loss estimated at $50,000.

The cause of the fire was not determined, and a special investigation has been ordered by Fire Chief Thomas O'Connor.

The fire, fed by stored oils and varnishes, flared like a giant torch, menacing the surrounding factory and railroad properties. A crowd of thousands gathered.

Firemen Are Confused.

The fire was discovered by a citizen, who turned in a still alarm from Clinton street. A confusion of directions sent the first detail of fire apparatus searching for the fire in Clinton street. In the meantime the fire was rediscovered by policemen. The still alarm was followed by a 4-11 and then a special alarm for five extra engines.

All the available fire apparatus downtown sped into the district and two fireboats steamed up the river and took up their position close to the burning building.

Fire Engine Kills Man.

An unidentified man stepped into West Van Buren street at Fifth avenue and was struck by Engine No. 21. He was taken to Iroquois Memorial hospital, in Market street, where he died in a few minutes.

The flames had gained strong headway upward through the building from the first floor before the firemen arrived.

Thirteen engine companies and the two fire boats played streams on the burning building and the scorching walls of adjacent structures.

Explosions Peril Firemen.

The first floor of the building was occupied by the Pennsylvania Railroad company as an oil warehouse. Other railroad supplies filled the second floor. The Cleveland Varnish company was quartered on the third floor, and the Monarch Leather Goods Manufacturing company, the fourth floor.

The imflammables vaporized in the fire generated explosive mixtures, that shattered walls and blew out windows in all directions.

Frank Wayman, a pipeman of No. 40, was caught by a sheet of glass hurled from a window above. It cut through his back to the spine like a knife blade. He was taken to Iroquois Memorial hospital in a serious condition.

Guests at the Oxford and other hotels of the district were driven out by the clouds of heavy smoke that poured out over the surrounding blocks.

Other Buildings Damaged.

Windows were broken out and the walls damaged in the eight story building at 220-222 South Canal street, occupied by the Western Salvage company, and the buildings at 212-214 South Canal, occupied by miscellaneous concerns.

The man who died at the Iroquois Memorial hospital was about 30 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, smoothly shaven, fairly well dressed, dark hair and weighed about 145 pounds. He had $1.62 in his pocket. There were no papers to indicate his identity.

SANITARY DISTRICT BOARD REFUSES UNION DEMAND.

Electrical Workers Ask That All Their Men on Strike Be Reinstated and New Employes Ousted.

A meeting of representatives of the union and the labor committee of the board of sanitary district trustees will be held today in an effort to reach a solution of the strike of electricians which has hampered the operations of the district's lighting systems.

At a meeting of the board, sitting as a committee of the whole, yesterday, Trustee Paul Hazard introduced a resolution to reinstate all the union electricians now on strike at the union scale of wages and under union working rules. No vote was taken on the resolution, but it was referred to the labor committee.

The board then took a recess of half an hour to permit the union officials to draw up a resolution. John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, Vincent Fish, business agent of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, local No. 9, and Ben A. Tetslaff, business agent of local No. 213 of the same union, formulated a resolution demanding that all union men on strike be reinstated, and that all non-union men who have been employed by the district during the strike be discharged.

President Thomas A. Smyth termed the action demanded by the resolution illegal and said that for this reason the board could not agree to its demand.

TEAMSTER KILLED IN FALL.

Matthew Ryan Sustains Fractured Skull When Thrown from Wagon.

Matthew Ryan of 1109 West Harrison street, a teamster, was driving his wagon in Illinois street yesterday afternoon when it struck an obstruction at Rush street, throwing him to the pavement. His skull was fractured. Before the police arrived he was dead.

HAPPIER LIFE, SUICIDE HOPE

Wife Slayer Who Hanged Himself Leaves Note Stating He Is Tired of Facing World.

Thorwald Nielson left a letter explaining that he killed his wife and hanged himself because he was tired of facing the world and anticipated more happiness in a future life. The letter was read before the jury at an inquest yesterday. Nielson was superintendent of the Danish Old Peoples' Home in Norwood Park. Hans Hanson, a brother of Mrs. Nielson, testified that he had seen his sister with Dr. W. K. York, of whom Nielson is thought to have been jealous. The inquest was continued that Dr. York might be called.

HOLDS 3 IN "DOPE" DEATH.

Coroner's Jury Binds Negroes to Court at Inquest Over Body of Frank Bunnell.

Eugene Houston of 2801 South La Salle street, Harry Watson, and William Williams, all negroes, were held to the grand jury yesterday by a coroner's jury at an inquest over the body of Frank Bunnell of Fort Wayne, Ind., a former sailor. Bunnell was found dead in an alley at the rear of Houston's home. He was addicted to the use of drugs and he died as a result of obtaining these in Houston's home, it is charged. Watson and Williams are alleged to have carried Bunnell's body from Houston's home to the alley.

POLICE SIFT DEATH ENIGMA.

A. J. Roberts of Pen Argyl, Pa., Found on Hammond Road with Skull Crushed.

The South Chicago police are investigating the death of A. J. Roberts of Pen Argyl, Pa., who was found unconscious on the Hammond road with his skull and nose fractured and two ribs broken, yesterday. He was picked up by L. Jamieson of 789 East Thirty-eighth street, and taken in an automobile to the South Chicago hospital where he died. The police think that Roberts may have been struck by a motor car. The body was identified by Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts of 11 South Oakley avenue, divorced wife of the dead man.

POLICE ERR IN RAID REPORT.

Give Address of Disorderly House as Premises Where Respectable Families Reside.

Through an error of the Twenty-second street police, a raid made on the alleged disorderly house of Grace Woods, at 1619 Indiana avenue, was credited to the premises at 1618, directly across the street. The Woods woman occupied the entire house at 1619, but saved herself from being fined by promising to move. Ruth Smith, June Germer and Ike Mendelson, inmates, were fined $3 and costs each. The building at 1618 Indiana avenue is occupied by respectable families.

KID'S PENNIES AID FUND

Little Fellow Sends "Tribune" Fifty-five Cents.

RESORTERS HELP CAUSE.

Sylvan Beach (Mich.) Colony Will Contribute Each Week.

Hundreds of families in the congested districts of Chicago, continue to seek relief from the onslaughts of summer heat by applying to THE TRIBUNE ice fund for relief. Heretofore the summer's toll of lives has been appalling, and for the immediate relief of this condition which exists in communities where money and jobs are scarce the ice fund of THE TRIBUNE has been organized.

Letter from a Child.

Among the contributions received yesterday was a letter from Walter W. Anderson, 7 years old.

Written in a small, cramped hand, it reads:

Enclosed find fifty-five cents, the total proceeds of a Chautauqua held on my lawn; price of tickets 1 cent. I wish the money to go to the ice fund for the babies."

The mysterious donation of the day was a dollar bill inclosed in a plain scrap of paper, upon which was scrawled in an almost unreadable hieroglyphic, "Bill." The envelope address was the only clew that led the postman to leave the letter for the ice fund.

Resorters to Contribute.

From now on a regular source of income for the fund will be the union services at Sylvan Beach, Mich. This gathering of summer resorters has voted to aid the fund with weekly collections.

Fortunately for the babies, Chicago weather has been temperate during the last few days, and hence the suffering from lack of ice has not been so great. But experience has taught that it is but a temporary relief, and that the mercury must climb sooner or later. To be prepared for this emergency, THE TRIBUNE has arranged for quick delivery, and at the first sign of heat assistance will be forthcoming to those who need ice.

EXTRA CYPHER STARTS SUIT.

Roy O. West's Mistake Makes Mrs. Julius Rosenwald's Assessment $441,320.

A mistake made last year by Roy O. West, chairman of the board of review, in adding a cipher to a row of five figures is said to be responsible for the legal battle between Cook county and Mrs. Augusta A. Rosenwald, wife of Julius Rosenwald, over her personal property valuation.

At the hearing yesterday before Chief Justice Harry A. Olson, Mr. West admitted that he had made the figures of Mrs. Rosenwald's assessment read $441,320, instead of $44,132, as it should have been.

The state's attorney maintains that the property, which consists of common stock in Sears, Roebuck & Co., should be taxed at its full value, whereas the board of review decided on a one-tenth value taxation. After listening to arguments of both sides Justice Olson took the case under advisement.

Recover Boy's Body from River.

The body of Edward Sodzeweiz, 12 years old, of 2351 Altgeld avenue, who was drowned in the river at the foot of Oakley avenue late on Wednesday with his brother Joseph, 8 years old, was recovered yesterday. The brothers were playing "pirates" on a raft when it overturned.

PROF. HARPER DIES IN LONDON

Brother Gets Cable While Waiting Educator's Return at Depot.

NOTED ARCHÆOLOGIST.

Prof. Robert Francis Harper, brother of the late President William R. Harper of the University of Chicago and a prominent member of the Midway school faculty, died in London yesterday from apoplexy. Word of the death in London was received by a brother, James E. Harper, registrar of Rush Medical college, when he was waiting in the La Salle street railway station expecting Prof. Harper's arrival from New York. James Harper arrived recently from England, where he left his brother in good health.

Robert Francis Harper was 49 years old and unmarried. He spent six months of every year in Chicago, where he lived at the Quadrangle club, and six months in London, where he was engaged in research work in the Assyrian and Babylonian exhibits of the British museum.

Authority on Ancient Culture.

Prof. Harper held the chair in the Assyriology department at the University of Chicago and was professor of Semitic languages and literatures. He was an authority on Assyrian and Babylonian culture and writings.

He had made the translation of the tablets in the British museum his life work and recently had issued the thirteenth volume of a series on "Assyrian and Babylonian Letters Belonging to the Kouyunjik Collections of the Britihs Museum." The fourteenth volume was ready for the press. Prof. Harper had been working on the books for twenty years.

Graduated Here in 1883.

After graduating in the old University of Chicago in 1883 Prof. Harper received his doctor's degree from the University of Leipzig in 1886. He taught Semitic languages in the Yale Divinity school from 1887 to 1888, and again from 1889 to 1891, in the meantime serving as Assyriologist for the expedition of the Babylonian exploring fund sent out by the University of Pennsylvania in 1888.

He returned to Chicago at the time of the founding of the new university, and was associate professor of Semitics from 1892 to 1900, when he was given charge of the department. He was director of the oriental exploration fund for Babylonia for several years, and was a director of the American school at Jerusalem from 1908-'09.

Edited Memorial Volumes.

Following the death of his brother, the late president of the university, Prof. Harper edited two volumes of Old Testament and Semitic Studies, in memory of President Harper.

Prof. Harper belonged to the Quadrangle and University clubs, and was a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity. He is survived by one brother, James, and a sister, Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas.

The burial will be at Monroe, Wis., where Mrs. Stewart was married and lived until her removal to Chicago in 1871.

PROVISIONS FOR MORE CURRENCY

New Bank Notes May Be Issued to the Amount of $1,450,000,000.

GOVERNED BY CAPITAL.

On Aug. 1, 1914, there was in circulation in the United States $750,671,899 national bank notes. This is a part of the kind of currency which will soon be isued under the Aldrich-Vreeland act, except that the new notes will be secured by bonds other than United States issues and by commercial paper. The notes, however, will all be identical in appearance.

The amendment to the Aldrich-Vreeland act early this week permits a total in national bank circulation of approximately $2,200,000,000, being 125 per cent of the capital and surplus of the national banks, which is about $1,760,000,000. Deducting the outstanding circulation, there remains a possible increase of $1,450,000,000.

But, under the law, state banks which have entered the federal reserve system may take out notes the same as national banks. Just what this increase will be for the entire country is not known here, but in Chicago the Central Trust Company of Illinois will be enabled to take out $7,800,000 circulation, the Central Trust being the only state bank in Chicago that has entered the federal reserve system.

Bank Notes in Circulation.

The report of the controller of the currency as of Aug. 1 makes the following exhibit of bank notes in circulation:

	Aug. 1, 1913.
National bank notes outstanding secured by U. S. bonds	$759,502,408
National bank notes outstanding secured by lawful money	20,790,783
Total national bank notes outstanding	$759,293,091
	July 1, 1914.
National bank notes outstanding secured by U. S. bonds	$735,528,960
National bank notes outstanding secured by lawful money	15,142,939

	Aug. 1, 1914.
National bank notes outstanding secured by U. S. bonds	$735,222,801
National bank notes outstanding secured by lawful money	15,684,220
Total national bank notes outstanding	$750,907,021

Of the $750,000,000 bank notes in circulation, the greater part, or $332,051,410 is in $10 bills; $20 bills rank next, amounting to $231,329,220; $50 bills total $20,606,250 and $100 bills, $31,272,500; $5 bank notes are rather plentiful, being $136,547,015; $1,000 bank notes are scarce, the total being but $22,000; $1 bills issued by the banks amounted on August 1, to but $342,759.

To secure the present outstanding bank note circulation, the United States consols of 1930, bearing 2 per cent, are the most popular. The following table shows the issues of United States bonds used for circulation purposes and also to secure deposits of government funds at the banks:

Kinds of bonds on deposit.	Pct.	On deposit to secure national bank notes.	On deposit to secure public deposits.

May Open London Exchange.

Announcement came from New York that the London stock exchange was expected to reopen today for cash transactions only. It was thought the exchange would permit the closing of long and short accounts by mutual consent, but that under present conditions there would be no attempt to force settlements.

One reason given for the expected opening of the exchange was the assistance that might be afforded in marketing the $500,000,000 war credit.

Commercial Paper Market.

Noble Crandall of George H. Burr & Co. said yesterday concerning the commercial paper market:

"We are selling some paper in the middle west outside Chicago at rates ranging from 6 to 7 per cent. Sixty day paper we have placed at 6 per cent, while five and six months' paper we have sold at 7 per cent. The business is not large, but the cheering thing is that the banks are willing to begin buying. Within ten days I think the market will be easier."

Emergency Currency Issued.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Hamlin announced that the total applications to the treasury department for emergency currency had been approved to the exetent of $50,824,950. Against this there has been actually issued to the banks $37,010,000.

Position of Foreign Trade.

Figures of imports and exports of the United States for the month of June and the twelve months ended June 30 show increases in foodstuffs, that item being the most conspicuous. In June the increase amounted to $15,811,000. For twelve months foodstuffs increased $69,110,000 out of a total increase in imports of $80,917,000. Exports for the twelve months decreased $98,822,000. Following are the figures for June and for twelve months:

Foreign Credits Had Piled Up.

The primary reason for the New York banks going on clearing house certificate basis was due to an estimate that about $85,000,000 foreign credits had been built up in New York City within the two weeks prior to Aug. 3. It was thought these foreign credits would be used as the basis for the immediate export of a like amount of gold.

It was thought the only means of averting such a huge export of gold lay in the suspension of specie payments, except under the supervision of the New York clearing house. The situation was such that action in order to be effective had to be taken before the opening of the banks last Monday morning. This was accordingly done.

The foreign credits as estimated were:

Certificates of American securities in transit from Europe with bills of lading attached	$20,000,000
Credit balance of Canadian banks	40,000,000
Credits of international houses accumulated as a basis for gold shipments	25,000,000
Total	$85,000,000

Poor Express Earnings.

The United States Express company, which has gone out of business, makes the appended report for April and the ten months ended April 30, 1914. The American Express company, which has since taken over a part of the business of the United States company, makes a poor exhibit. Their statements follow:

Crude Oil News.

The Texas company has notified producers that beginning yesterday pipe line runs would be cut 50 per cent, due to the closing of the export market by Europe. The following was wired from Franklin, Pa.:

"Gradually the market for Pennsylvania crude oil is being closed to the producers. Most of them have sold their limit of 100 brls and unless the South Penn Oil company, through the Seep Purchasing agency, modifies its order, all operations in western Pennsylvania, western Virginia, and southeastern Ohio will cease.

"Producers in this section have facilities for storing their oil. Most of the wells in Venango and adjoining counties have shut down. There is some talk of the Seep agency issuing pipe line certificates. But it is said by officials that no plan has been decided on in this direction."

Dividends Declared.

The Homestake Mining company declared the customary monthly dividend of 65 cents, payable Aug. 25 to stock of record Aug. 20.

The Niles-Bement-Pond company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on its preferred stock, payable Aug. 15. Books close Aug. 6 and reopen Aug. 17.

Money and Exchange.

Money in Chicago firm at 7 per cent on commercial paper, 7 per cent on collateral, and 7 per cent over the counter.

Clearings at Chicago, $43,164,594. New York exchange sold at 10c discount.

Railroad Earnings.

It is estimated that the Southern Railway company for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1914, earned approximately 1.17 per cent on $120,000,000 common stock. The figures occasioned some disappointment.

For the year gross earnings amounted to $69,533,697, being an increase of 1.4 per cent over the 1913 fiscal year. Against this gross gain was a loss in net of $1,544,757, or 8.6 per cent. Of this loss in net $416,070 was recorded in June, and nearly half the year's loss fell in the third quarter.

The Michigan Central for its fiscal year ended June 30 shows operating income of $5,880,425, against $9,123,561 the previous year. The income of the last year was the smallest since 1911, when the figures were $5,857,918.

The Atlantic Coast Line for the last fiscal year shows operating income of $9,050,010, against $10,036,062 the previous year. Relatively the showing is not so bad.

The Big Four makes an unusually poor exhibit for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1914. The operating income was but $2,673,442, against $6,539,092 the previous year.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—While no change was reported in the situation with reference to renewed importations of coffee from Brazil, there was a less active demand in the spot market here today, and prices in some instances were a shade lower. Rio 7s quoted at 9¾c and Santos 4s at 14c. The curb market was easier, with September deliveries quoted at 8.25c and December at 8.20c, or about 40 points under yesterday's figures. PRICE CHANGES RAPID IN WHEAT

May Gains Sharply on Near Months; Export Situation Is Still Muddled.

CASH CORN MART SOARS

The market yesterday was excited and strong and weak by turns. There was a fair volume of business, with a moderate increase in the outside trade as the result of hopes entertained the export situation would clear up sufficiently to permit of the shipment of our wheat. Near the close there was a sharp setback, and last prices for the day were ¼@1¾c higher. The big feature of the trade was the big gain in May compared to the other months, and the widening also of the spread between September and December.

At one time December was 6c over the September and at the close May was 8½c over the December and 13⅞c over the September. Liverpool contracts were settled at advances of 4½@4¾d over previous quotations, but there was no regular trading in futures at the Liverpool market. Spot wheat there was quoted, 6@14c higher than last Saturday. Flour was 4 shillings higher.

Exporters Resell Wheat.

Exporters said there was little hope of immediate improvement in the export situation, although Liverpool cables said the British government would issue insurance on cargoes of British steamers. It was regarded as significant that nearly all the big cash houses were sellers of wheat, including Shaffer-Stream, Armour, J. Rosenbaum, Norris, and Bartlett-Frazier. Commission houses were fair buyers, and local traders bought. On the bulge there was increased selling pressure.

There was considerable buying on the advances northwest, Minneapolis, Duluth, and Winnipeg being decidedly strong. The winter wheat markets were comparatively easy early, and first prices here were a little lower. One cash house reported buying back 500,000 bu wheat sold to seaboard exporters and the east was offering to resell cash wheat at big losses. Kansas City wired that it was possible the railroads would put in an emergency rate to bring wheat back to Kansas from the south.

Cash Trade Still Slow.

No attempt was made to much if any business here. In the northwest there was a good demand for cash wheat, reflecting the better flour trade. Nearly all reports on the domestic flour trade were bullish, saying there was a big demand, dealers and jobbers being disposed to stock up freely. Local sales were 15,000 bu. Weather conditions northwest continued fair and warm as a rule. Harvesting has started in parts of Canada and the general outlook for the Canadian crop is reported poor.

Receipts here were 591 cars, with 490 cars inspected in yesterday. Primary points had 1,831,000 bu, against 1,561,000 bu a year ago. Northwest cars were 157, against 91 cars a year ago, and Winnipeg had 65 cars, against 70 cars a year ago. St. Louis reported a 5c advance in No. 2 red winter wheat. Kansas City No. 2 hard sold at 6c discount under the September. Argentine shipments were estimated at 240,000 bu. Clearances for the day were 279,000 bu.

Big Bulge in September Corn.

Much higher prices on cash corn with a bullish report on Illinois corn and a big shipping demand, stimulated active buying of corn. Final prices were 1⅛@1⅞c up, the September being especially strong. Cash prices were 1@2c higher, and No. 3 yellow corn sold at 81c. No. 2 yellow sold to go to Boston at 91½c laid down there. This is the highest price paid in New England in many years. No. 2 corn was quoted 3¼c over September in store. Shipping sales were only 120,000 bu, not much corn being offered.

On the advance Shearson-Hammill, Van Ness, and Bailey were sellers. Lamson and Hately led the buying early. J. Rosenbaum also bought September. Receipts here were 89 cars, with only 53 cars inspected yesterday. Primary arrivals were 351,000 bu, against 372,000 bu a year ago. The report of the Illinois State Grain Dealers' association estimates a shrinkage of 82,000,000 bu in Illinois prospects the past month. Argentine shipments were estimated at 3,400,000 bu, against 7,727,000 bu a year ago.

Oats Are in Good Demand.

Oats were in good demand throughout the session and prices closed ⅛@¾c up, there having been a considerable reaction from the top price. Cash houses were reported buying early. Commission houses sold on the bulge and local bulls were the leading buyers. The cash demand continues good and sample prices were about 1c up, with sales reported of 360,000 bu. Receipts here were 440 cars, with 440 inspected on Thursday. Receipts in the west were 1,521,000 bu, against 977,000 bu a year ago. Offerings from the country were fair.

Hog Products on Rampage.

A big trade was on in provisions, the feature being a scarcity of offerings. Hogs recovered 25@30c more of the big decline of a few days ago and shorts were good buyers of the products futures. Steever, Hately, and Knight-McDougal were credited with selling. Roberts and Wood were buyers and packers were credited with buying. September pork advanced $1.70 and there were gains of 27@30c in lard and 47@72½c in pork. Hog receipts here were 6,000, with 7,000 only estimated today. Western receipts were 23,500, against 69,300 a year ago. Cash prices, especially for meats, were boosted sharply, with offerings light.

Rye Active and Higher.

Rye prices advanced sharply in sympathy with wheat, No. 2 selling at 70@71c; No. 3, 65@67c; No. 4, 65c, and sample grade, 62c. Receipts, 9 cars.

Barley was steady to 1c higher, with sales of malting at 54@55c; feed, 51½@52c; and screenings, 40@48c. Receipts, 10 cars.

Timothy seed was lower and September closed at $6.00 bid and $6.15 sellers after selling early at $6.25. Cash lots were $4.50@5.75. Clover seed was firm at $11.00@16.00 for cash.

Minneapolis flax closed 9½c higher, with cash on track $1.63¼@1.65¼. Receipts, 6 cars. Winnipeg was 9⅛@12½c higher, with October $1.45⅛, November $1.47, and December $1.44¼. Receipts, 8 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Provision men generally were much surprised at the action of the committee appointed to fix the true commercial value of July pork on the closing day of July. There were defaults on about 10,000 brls, and a committee was appointed to fix the price, according to board of trade rules. The settling price was fixed at $20.07, with a penalty added of 5 per cent, bringing the price up to about $21.07, or $2.42 under the closing price of July pork. Many provision men are at a loss to account for the decision. Cash sales were made of pork a few days ago at $1.50 over the settling price fixed, and $20.07 was the last quotation on September pork on July 31 after the price had been pounded down from $20.75, the closing price of the previous day. It was shown that some of the meat that was made into pork could have been made into other cuts and would have brought much more money. Members of the board who have served on other committees claim this should have been taken into consideration. Yesterday the price of September pork was boosted $1.70, and it was understood that no pork could be bought at anywhere near the price at which the commercial value was fixed.

Late Liverpool advices said that the British government would insure grain shipped in English vessels. Liverpool also cabled that financial conditions were improving materially. Local exporters, however, were not at all sanguine of any immediate improvement. As a matter of fact considerable wheat was resold by seaboard exporters and cash houses sold a lot of wheat in the pit supposed to be against purchases of wheat sold to the seaboard. One house here bought back 500,000 bu wheat sold to eastern exporters, and other houses reported buying a lot of wheat previously sold. There was some talk of shipping back wheat from the east to Chicago, but it is not believed much will come back. Shipments from Chicago continue quite liberal. Southwest reports were to the effect that the markets were being glutted with wheat. Cash houses sold a lot of wheat against country purchases. Sample prices at both Kansas City and St. Louis were higher, however, and at Minneapolis there was a big demand for wheat at higher prices.

⸻

Cash corn is selling at extremely high prices. No. 3 yellow corn here sold yesterday at 81c and No. 2 yellow was sold to go to Boston at 91½c, all August shipment. Bids were received of 3¼c over September in store for No. 2 corn. Cash prices here generally were 1@2c, and not much corn was offered. Sales were small at 120,000 bu, but the small business was due mainly to lack of offerings. Omaha cash corn was 1@3c up. Kansas City cash corn also was 1@3c higher, and Peoria was 1½c up. St. Louis closed ½@2c up for corn. St. Louis reported the demand excellent for all grains. Cash oats here were about 1c up and sales were 360,000 bu. The demand for oats here and at other markets continues good.

⸻

A cable from the Liverpool Corn association to the board of trade said: "Kindly inform your members this association proposes suspending all fresh business in our future markets until more normal conditions prevail or existing contracts are closed. Association appeals to all those who have opened trades to liquidate as soon as possible in the vital interests of all concerned."

⸻

"Cash meat prices have all been marked up and while they are in a strong position we continue to feel that conditions warrant the feeling that lard will become an economic necessity," said W. L. Gregson. "It is just as well not to get too enthusiastic on these big advances in meat, as experience has many times proven high prices do not usually broaden consumption."

⸻

The condition of Illinois corn is placed at 74:12 by the Illinois Grain Dealers' association. This indicates a loss in condition of 21 points during July and a shrinkage in the crop promise of 82,500,000 bu. Average oat yield is placed at 31.30, indicating a crop of 127,600,000 bu. Many reports received by the association say if rains do not come soon corn damage will be greatly increased.

⸻

Some of the strength in wheat early was reported due to the heavy buying of flour by domestic dealers, who, it is asserted, are inclined to load up heavily, anticipating higher prices later on. Minneapolis has been sending reports of good flour business for some time past and local mills report a fair trade.

⸻

Liverpool cables said the grain exchange would be closed until normal conditions prevailed. Settlements on wheat future contracts were made there yesterday at advances of 4½@4¾c over the last public quotations.

⸻

The members of the committee appointed to investigate plans for a new clearing house system are Joseph Simons, W. H. Kidston, S. P. Arnot, R. G. Chandler, and J. P. Malloy.

⸻

Argentine shipments for the week were estimated at 240,000 bu wheat and 3,400,000 bu corn. A year ago shipments were 664,000 bu wheat and 7,727,000 bu corn.

⸻

Spot wheat quotations on wheat at Liverpool were 6@14c higher, Australian cargoes leading the advance. Flour prices were reported up 4 shillings.

⸻

A Kansas City message said the railroads might put in an emergency rate in order to bring back wheat from the south to Kansas City.

⸻

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 490 cars; corn, 53 cars; oats, 440 cars; rye, 9 cars; barley, 10 cars; hogs, 7,000 head.

⸻

Duluth wheat stocks decreased 58,000 bu for four days. Minneapolis stocks decreased 700,000 bu for five days.

⸻

St. Louis wired No. 2 red just sold at 90c. The average price yesterday was 85c.

⸻

Reports by cable from Odessa said that Russia had prohibited exports of grain.

FINANCE TUGS AT ITS LEASH

Higher Prices in Steel Trade One Evidence of Reviving Activity.

BANKERS GUARD BONDS

New York, Aug. 6.—There were a few indications today of reviving activity in finance and industry, but in most directions a condition of suspended animation prevailed. Bankers, stock brokers and leaders of the business world were unable to proceed with the usual routine, owing to the continued suspension of the world's securities markets and the disturbance or stoppage of many lines of trade by war.

From the steel trade came reports of higher prices and a more active inquiry. The war created a wall more effective than any tariff in keeping out foreign steel, not only from this country, but from virtually the whole western hemisphere.

As a result the steel market here is in the hands of American sellers. Prices on the Pacific Coast were reported to have advanced $3 a ton, with increases of $1 in other domestic markets. Mill operations in some cases were being increased.

Money Goes Out Slowly.

Distribution of emergency currency to the New York banks continued, but the banks made no urgent demands and the money went out slowly. Charles S. Hamlin, assistant United States treasurer, who was sent here from Washington to represent his department at the "subtreasury," expected to return soon, owing to the improved outlook.

Efforts were made today at a meeting of bankers and bond dealers to stop outside dealings in bonds during the period of the stock exchange suspension. It was decided to curtail such transactions as far as possible, leaving to the discretion of each house its course of action. Some of the bond houses still have salesmen in the field, but it is understood that in some cases at least they would be recalled.

New York bankers received many inquiries from interior banks regarding the value of stock exchange securities as collateral for loans. These banks were advised to hold loans secured by stock exchange collaterals until the exchange reopens or the perplexities attending last Thursday's deliveries are removed.

The stock exchange has removed certain restrictions regarding private trading, to the extent of permitting members to close up such transactions as were carried over from last Thursday, where this was mutually advantageous or could be done without the aid of fresh certification or new loans from banks.

Exchange Guards Conditions.

In a word, the exchange is encouraging the settlement or adjustment of all outstanding transactions, especially where they involve impaired margins, which customers for one reason or another may find themselves unable or unwilling to strengthen.

It is absolutely opposed to any dealings of a speculative character, including the purchase of stocks on margin, however adequate, and prohibits the public quoting of stocks by its members, some of whom, it is known, have submitted tentative prices on inquiry.

Gold was being accepted at the subtreasury today from friends and relatives of Americans stranded in Europe, on orders from Washington.

"We are taking whatever is offered," Mr. Hamlin explained, "but are telling depositors that we will pay out to friends abroad only the amount needed."

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Burlaps rose rapidly today and some grades of heavy cotton goods were bought to replace them. Laces and embroideries were advanced sharply. Some lines of foreign dress goods were advanced 10 per cent today. Linens were scarce for future delivery. Cotton convertibles were easy; colored lines were firm.

RAIL WAGE ARBITRATION HEARINGS TO BEGIN OCT. 1.

Employes' Head Says Washington Agreement Is Victory for His Organization.

Arbitration of the wage controversy between engineers and firemen on ninety-eight western roads and the railroad managers will commence about Oct. 1, according to W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Mr. Carter has just returned from Washington, where representatives of the employers and employés were called by President Wilson in his successful effort to frustrate the strike which had been called by the enginemen for today.

"The railroad employés feel that they have won a just victory so far," said Mr. Carter, "and we are glad that the managers finally consented to the plan of arbitration proposed by the federal board and adopted by our brotherhoods."

Under the Newlands act the arbitration board will be made up of six men, two chosen by each side independently and two chosen jointly. Both the railroads and the employés are selecting their arbitrators. The sesions will be held in Chicago.

Selecting a Bond.

C. P., Princeton, Ill.—The Brooklyn Rapid Transit gold 5 per cent bonds have been quoted at 103¾ to 104 recently, and during 1913 ranged from 99 to 103½. Commonwealth Edison 5 per cent bonds have ranged from 101 to 102½ since Jan. 1 last, Interborough Rapid Transit first and refunding 5 per cent bonds from 98⅞ to 99 and Chicago Railways first mortgage 5 per cent bonds during the first six months of this year ranged between 96½ and 99½. It is impossible to say which is most advisable to buy. All have maintained a steady market value. It might prove more satisfactory to purchase bonds of companies operating near home.

It is a difficult matter to find two or three stocks that are tax exempt and absolutely safe and pay 6 per cent on the investment. There are a good many investment stocks that will yield in the neighborhood of 6 per cent, but to obtain the maximum of safety one should buy bonds rather than stocks.

Bankers Life.

B. J. S., Yorkville, Ill.—The Bankers Life Insurance company of Lincoln, Neb., has been in business twenty-seven years. It has $100,000 paid up capital and is controlled by the stockholders, who have received a total of $154,700 in dividends. The company shows a net reserve of $4,868,696, a surplus of $1,804,488, and admitted assets of $6,866,869. Management expenses are said to be moderate, the mortality rate low, and the cost of new business not excessive. Total insurance in force at the end of 1913 was $42,939,430.

Old Colony Life.

R. H.: The Old Colony Life Insurance company is controlled by stockholders, to whom all profits belong, but up to its last annual report no dividends had been paid. An insurance authority reports of the company: "Its lapse rate was heavy in the last three years. It has a fair surplus over paid in capital and all other liabilities. Investments consist mainly of mortgage loans, which yield a fair return. Management expenses are rather high. The cost of new business was moderate prior to 1913, but in that year was high. Death claims are promptly paid." The company reports $116,302 paid in capital and $39,741 surplus. Gross assets are $736,827. A purchase of shares would be a participation in a business venture.

Co-operative Cigar Company.

W. H., Litchfield, Ill.—The cigar company about which you ask is working on coöperative lines by selling stock to owners of stores who will then sell its cigars. Its latest annual report—the third—shows indications of a sound condition and conservative methods. However, this is a business venture and not a savings investment.

Brief Answers to Correspondents.

H. S. M., Mt. Carmel, Ill.—This department has no information about the farm mortgage dealers you mention. In buying a farm mortgage, however, you ought to make some independent investigation of the farm. A buyer does not usually trust a seller implicitly even though he knows the latter to be honest.

W. W. F., Lanark, Ill.—If you want safety first buy bonds rather than stocks. Swift & Co. stock and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul preferred pay 7 per cent. Swift & Co. bonds pay 5 per cent. Bonds of the railway pay various rates.

J. W. S.—A man with a few hundred dollars should avoid oil and mining speculations and invest his money where a return will be more certain.

POTATOES DULL AND LOWER

Meager Supply Is Excessive; Values Off 5c a Bushel.

BUTTER MARKET IS WEAK.

Eggs Firm at Recent Upturn; Poultry Quiet and Steady.

Potato prices at Chicago yesterday declined 10@15c per barrel and 5c a bushel. Receipts were reported at only 20 cars, but there was little demand and the meager supply exceeded requirements. Sales were made at $2.15@2.35 per barrel and 85c a bushel for cobblers and 80c a bushel for Ohios.

Weakness pervaded the market for butter, but values were not changed. Receipts were 8,783 tubs, which brought the total for the week to 500 tubs in excess of arrivals last week. Eggs held firmly at recent upturns and receipts of 9,338 cases were well taken.

Trading in fruits and vegetables was lighter than on any previous day in many weeks, due to the retailers' picnic, which kept many buyers away. Receipts were small and values held without material change.

Poultry trade was quiet, but offerings were not large and prices held on a steady basis. Receipts were 7 cars and 1,185 coops.

LEASES UNION HOTEL PROPERTY

Ben Roth Will Remodel the Building for Stores and Offices.

TERM RENT $405,000.

A big lease has been closed in the down town district involving the Union hotel and restaurant property at 66-72 West Randolph street, which has been leased by Kenneth D. Alexander and Lucy A. Simms of Spring Station, Ky., to Ben Roth, the jeweler, for a term of fifteen years from Aug. 1 at a net term rent of $405,000, the lessee paying taxes and insurance.

The property, which is on the north side of the street in the block between Dearborn and Clark streets, adjoins the Ashland block on the east and the Schiller building on the west.

It fronts 80 feet with a depth of 80 feet running back to a wide court. The building is a five-story and basement structure, and for many years was occupied by the Union hotel and restaurant. Mr. Roth has been a successful operator in the down town district, having recently cleaned up a handsome profit from the building at the northeast corner of Clark and Madison streets, where the Dale & Sempill drug store was located for many years.

Will Divide Into Shops.

He plans to divide the Union hotel building into stores and offices, and will also remodel the basement after plans prepared by Architect Howard Putnam Sturges. The brokers in the deal were Willoughby & Co., who represented the lessors, and E. F. Keebler & Co., who represented Mr. Roth, and who will have the exclusive renting of the building.

A complicated deal has just been closed by the Logan Square office of Regelin, Jenson & Co. involving several parcels of property and parties. James B. Heaney, a director of the Logan Square Trust and Savings bank purchased from Julius Levin the store and flat property at 2589 Milwaukee avenue. The building is opposite the $200,000 Logan Square theater recently completed by John R. Thompson, and was acquired in part exchange for the old Heaney homestead at 2845 Edgewood avenue, lot 62x140 feet, with a residence and barn on the same, and the vacant property at the southeast corner of George street and Albany avenue, 26x113 feet. This went to George E. Jacobsen and subsequently was conveyed to S. S. David of the David Fireproof Storage Warehouse property of 2616-18 Milwaukee, who will use the same for stables and storage purposes.

Flat Building Transferred.

The three story stone front flat building at 4443 Calumet avenue also was transferred in this connection by William Jenson to H. Kaplan, also the business property at the southwest corner of Kedzie avenue and Emmett street comprising two stores and two flats. The deal involved the sale and resale of five properties at a total consideration of about $74,000.

Regelin, Jenson & Co. also sold for Frederick H. Friestedt to P. P. Reisenhus the two story and basement residence at 941 Castlewood terrace for a reported consideration of $16,000, subject to an incumbrance of $8,000. Interest attaches to the transaction for the reason the house formerly was at the corner of Sheridan road and Leland avenue, and was moved several months ago down Sheridan road to an attractive lot surrounded by fine residences.

George B. Farrar has sold to Eva Davis the nine apartment building at the southeast corner of Thirty-seventh street and Elmwood avenue, the consideration being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $16,750. The actual price, however, is said to have been about $23,000. The purchaser gave in part payment the business property on Adams street, Gary, Ind. K. R. Beak of E. B. Woolf & Co. in connection with C. J. Krause negotiated the transaction.

West Side Sale.

The property on West Division street 178.36 feet west of Rockwell street, 50x122 feet, south front, improved with a three story brick building, containing a large double store and eight flats, has been sold by Leo Marion to Charles Bleier, the consideration being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $13,000 at 5½ per cent. This property was acquired about ten days ago by the present grantor at a reported consideration of $30,000.

There is considerable activity in this section and the Northwest Side Commercial association is now circulating a petition to have Division street opened up through Humboldt park so that the car line may be extended without interruption from Forty-eighth avenue to State street. Isadore Ferguson & Co. were the brokers in both transactions.

Samuel W. Winefield of S. W. Winefield & Co. has sold to Morris Cohen the property at the southwest corner of Fullerton avenue and Robey street, 24½x125 feet, with store and flat improvements, the consideration being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $20,000.

Madison Street Deal.

The property in West Madison street, 120 feet west of Francisco avenue, 72 feet, north front, to an alley, with store and flat improvements, has been sold by Samuel E. Silverman to Samuel Rubin, the considerating being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $17,500.

Grace R. Goldsmith has sold to Otto Felting and Patrick T. Redmond the property in Belmont avenue, 107.8 feet west of North Washtenaw avenue, lot 86.7x125 feet, with store and flat improvements, the consideration in the deed being $100, subject to an incumbrance of $13,150.

POTATO FIRM OFFICIAL SUES ROAD FOR ARREST.

Harry W. Joynes Asks $25,000 of C. & E. I. When Court Dismisses Charge Against Him.

Harry W. Joynes, secretary and treasurer of the North American Potato company, yesterday filed suit for $25,000 damages against William J. Jackson and Edward W. Winter, receivers for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad; Jonathan Reeves, treasurer of the road; William Anderson, freight agent, and Charles Cary, attorney. Mr. Joynes alleges false arrest.

According to Maximillian St. George, counsel for Joynes, the latter bought thirty carloads of watermelons which were shipped from Florida. Fifteen carloads were all right, but there was a loss of $2,800 on the other fifteen owing to delayed transportation. Joynes signed checks on the State Bank of Chicago for the freight bills and then was advised to stop payment and put in a claim. He drew his money out of the bank the next day, but was informed by his attorney that that was not the proper way to stop payment, and the money was redeposited the same day.

Officials of the road then had Joynes arrested on a charge of operating a confidence game, but he was acquitted yesterday by Municipal Judge Gemmill, who stated that he was "a thousand miles from having committed a crime."

The line of inquiry was not divulged by either of the assistant state's attorneys.

A famine supply of hogs, 6,000 head, reached Chicago yesterday, and little difficulty was experienced in disposing of them at an advance of 20@40c over Wednesday's prices, in spite of the fact that several of the big packing houses were out of the trade. A top of $9.15 was made, and the average price for the day was advanced 25c. Many sales were made at a net gain of 50c a hundred pounds over low prices in effect at the opening of this week.

Sheep receipts of 8,000 head found an outlet at a further gain of 15@25c. City butchers paid up to $8.50 for native lambs, while packers filled their orders at $8.25 and lower. Western wethers sold at $5.80 for Montanas, while odd lots of native yearlings sold up to $6.75.
